PEACE.

Yesterday's surrender of Germany insures international peace. While there may be revolutions in some of the central nations, such demonstrations will have no effect upon the world at large and there will be a long interval before another world war will darken the pages of history.

It is too soon to do or say anything concerning the plans for peace. There is no time now for anything but congratulations over the great victory. Nearly every nation hails with joy the ending of the war and it is more than probable that peace is a welcome visitor to them all—even though some of them are vanquished and humbled. It is a peace victory for all.

Some regrets are heard that it has become impossible to punish Germany as she deserves to be punished. We all feel that her punishment will be less physical now, but it is better to stop the war at this time than to sacrifice the life of another American or allied soldier. "Victory has its triumphs, no less renowned than war."

VICTORY AND THANKSGIVING

Today, when we stand on the stronghold of a new era in history, let us not fail to remember that with victory should come the thankful spirit and offering of our heartfelt emotions in glad peans of thanksgiving.

It is due to every patriotic American who has fought in the ranks; to every military and civil leader and to the mothers of our soldiers that there shall be a spontaneous outpouring of every good thought and good wish for those who have combated the peril and brought the world safely through the fires of destruction into that haven called peace.

This month, within a few weeks, will come the day set apart each year as a thank offering occasion for the blessings we have enjoyed. It will be a double thanksgiving this year, but no human heart in civilization can refrain from its expression today, and we will not undertake to control the surging emotions that possess us while waiting for that time to arrive.

We feel it now, the ecstasy is ours, and we shall be the better and nobler for it if we give full vent to the feelings that come over us in anticipation of Thanksgiving day with victory assured.

A NATIONAL HOLIDAY.

The United States has no national holiday, not even the Fourth of July being one officially. The great opportunity is now before the nation to provide one—November 11. It might even be an international event, as there is no doubt but that all the allied nations would enter into the spirit. Germany could be included, as it is the day of her delivery from autocracy and militarism. But leaving the other nations out of the reckoning, the United States can act only for itself but its example will be taken as a precedent by other nations.

FIRST RAY OF SUNSHINE.

Germany's new chancellor, Friedrich Ebert, has begun his work of restoring German unity by a wholesome piece of advice, coupled with a demand upon the people for united support in bringing order out of chaos at home. His address to the people is the first ray of sunshine that has fallen upon Germany since the war began and indicates that his new government will recognize the all-important idea that peace and liberty are to be consolidated when the task of liquidating the affairs of the nation has been effected. In his first public address he says:

"Citizens: The ex-Chancellor, Prince Maximilian of Baden, in agreement with all the secretaries of state, has handed over to me the task of liquidating his affairs as Chancellor. I am on the point of forming a new government in accord with the various parties, and will keep public opinion freely informed of the course of events."

"The new government will be a government of the people. It must make every effort to secure in the quickest possible time peace for the German people and consolidate the liberty which they have won."

"The new government has taken charge of the administration to preserve the German people from civil war and famine and to accomplish their legitimate claim to autonomy. The government can solve this problem only if all the officials in town and country will help."

"I know it will be difficult for some to work with the new men who have taken charge of the empire, but I appeal to their love of the people. Lack of organization would in this heavy time mean anarchy in Germany and the surrender of the country to tremendous misery. Therefore, help your native committee with fearless, indefatigable work for the future."

"Everyone at his post."

"I demand everyone's support in the hard task awaiting us."

"You know how seriously the war has menaced the provisioning of the people, which is the first condition of the people's existence. The political transformation should not trouble the people, the food supply is the first duty of all, whether in town or country, and they should not embarrass but rather aid the production of food supplies and their transport to the towns."

"Food shortage signifies pillage and robbery with great misery. The poorest will suffer the most and the industrial worker will be affected hardest. All who illicitly lay hands on food supplies or other supplies of prime necessity for their distribution will be guilty to the highest degree towards the community."

The recent order, prohibiting the serving of more than one kind of meat at a hotel or restaurant discriminated against hash. But perhaps the mystery that surrounds hash was too deep for the food administration to solve.

Henry Ford is about due for his second great disappointment. He is suing the Chicago Tribune for $1,000,000 for libel. When he obtains and collects the judgment we hope to be on hand and get in the picture.

Credit for the front page story, "General Ferdinand Foch, the Gray Man of Christ" in last Friday's Outlook, is due the Los Angeles Times. It was unintentionally overlooked.

About the finest team work on earth is that of Foch, Haig and Pershing. But where did Foch and Haig learn how? They never played baseball.

Cooties are the scourges of the trenches, but can anyone demonstrate how a soldier can always come to the scratch without them?

Most all of the slackers are glad that the war is over, but they will not have the same cause for rejoicing that the patriot has.

The eleventh of November will be an international holiday, but somehow it won't sound as melodious as the Fourth of July.

The Kaiser couldn't see the hand writing on the wall, and perhaps he didn't get to see the American newspaper headlines.

Next Sunday a lot of people are going to have to decide again between going to church and the automobile.

"When Johnny comes marching home again. Hurrah! Hurrah!"

The allies have added the feathers to the tar in Prussian militarism.

MORALE, THEY CALL IT, AND IT IS WINNING THE WAR.

By BRUCE BARTON.

Back from the line they came, their minds full of pictures that refused to fade.

They did not smile; they did not joke; they did not speak. Like men grown old in a single night they dropped heavily upon the ground, their eyes staring cold before them.

In a moment the hut door opened and a Secretary came out. His eye took in the situation at a glance. It was no time for talk; he turned back into his hut again.

And suddenly a baseball rolled out and bounded on the ground; then came a bat; and gloves; and a catcher's mask.

A man who sat beside the hut picked up the ball and turned it idly in his hand as if it had been some foreign thing. Another man picked up the bat; a third played absently with a glove.

Then, like flame out of smouldering embers, a baseball game was born full fledged behind that little hut. The air was filled with laughter, and the loud shouts of men whose minds are cleansed of every worry, and whose hearts are free.

So peace came to those men who had been so burdened with their memories. And in the morning they were fresh, as men who had never fought.

They call it morale—the miracle that restores men's spirits and sends them back every morning fresh and confident.

You have today your chance to contribute to morale. It is a chance you must not miss.

For morale is winning the war.

The inquisitive subscriber writes us to say that if the attractive young women will donate kisses as bonuses in the war work campaign he will gladly undertake to deliver them. He is very generous, but in these days of the "flu" it is not likely that any man we know of would care to avail himself of the L. S.'s offer. They would prefer deferred payments first hand after the campaign is over.

California will remain awhile longer as a life-saving station for goose-damp Oregonians. It is reported that the line of guards at the state border will all be surveyors with a full equipment of instruments and field notes to locate the state line.

Now that a republican congress is assured it may be well to state that the democrats will continue to cling to the postoffice until another landslide sweeps the props from under democracy—an event that will be a national event two years hence.

When the Kaiser said his "were to be the freest people in the world" he was a true prophet—or else he had in mind his abdication, which was more likely.

If our "wimmen folks" wear dresses made as narrow at the bottom as the fashion pictures in the ads, appear they will have to be put on rollers.

About all Germany got out of the war was herself, and she isn't going to get out whole.

Tailoring

For men and women—cleaning, pressing and repairing done well. Peter Lenard, Powell street.

Greatly Benefited by Chamberlain's Tablets.

"I am thankful for the good I have received by using Chamberlain's Tablets. About two years ago when I began taking them I was suffering a great deal from distress after eating, and from headache and a tired, languid feeling due to indigestion and a torpid liver. Chamberlain's Tablets corrected these disorders in a short time, and since taking two bottles of them my health has been good," writes Mrs. M. P. Harwood, Auburn, New York.—Adv.

TROUTDALE

Mrs. Lou Harlow and her assistants are at work this week canvassing the district in the interests of the United War Work drive. Her fellow workers are Mrs. Frances Fox, Mrs. A. D. Kendall, the teachers, Mr. Bradley and Mrs. Janet Grant, Mrs. Singleton, superintendent of Multnomah Farm, and Mrs. Rogers, superintendent of the Detention Home.

Ogden Wright, in the service at Bremerton, is at home on a furlough. Mrs. Wright (Dulcie Parker) is spending the week in Portland with him.

Mrs. Ed. DuPuis returned last week from an extended visit in Pendleton. After being in quarantine with scarlet fever, she herself had the influenza, but is now well and home again.

Troutdale got quite excited over the peace news Monday morning. Jim Knarr went down and rang the church bell till his arm was tired, then the Billeter boys took a turn. The curfew bell turned over early in the chorus, and it was a contest for over an hour as to which could hold out longest. Multnomah Farm whistle blew, and all the guns in the vicinity seemed to be in action to celebrate the long hoped for peace.

In the evening a spontaneous celebration broke out and the crowd went to the Masonic hall where speeches were made by Mayor-elect John Hudson and Principal Bradley. Mrs. Lou Harlow and Mrs. Saline Fox sang patriotic songs and the general jollification was concluded with dancing.

CORBETT

Lamartine A. Leland passed away Sunday evening, November 3d, at the home of his niece, Mrs. Lewis Reed. Mr. Leland was born in Colon, Michigan, March 19, 1848. In early life he united with the Baptist church. He came west in 1903 and has spent the last twelve years in this vicinity.

POWELL VALLEY

Word has been received that Private Wandael Danielson, Co. C. 361st Infantry of 91st division, has been wounded in action by a shrapnel shell but is on the road to recovery. He is the first one to be injured of the 29 boys represented on the Powell Valley service flag. Private Danielson has also a young brother serving in the army. Their father and three sisters reside in Powell Valley.

Do not imagine that because other cough medicines failed to give you relief that it will be the same with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Bear in mind that from a small beginning this remedy has gained a world wide reputation and immense sale. A medicine must have exceptional merit to win esteem wherever it becomes known.—Adv.

DON'T FEAR SKIM MILK. SAYS DAIRY SPECIALIST

Skim milk contains not only the right proteins but everything else including mineral matters needed for the growth of the young.

"Don't be afraid of skim milk just because it has a low commercial value," says D. V. Chappell, assistant professor of dairying at the Oregon Agricultural College. "Everyone knows that whole milk is an indispensable food for the young. It is comparatively economical in the diet of the adult. The only nutrient taken from it in skimming is the butterfat."

"All of the sugar, which is approximately five per cent, all of the mineral matter, and all of the protein remain after skimming. As a tissue builder skim milk is the equivalent of whole milk, but not as an energy and heat producer. The tissue building materials are usually contained in the more expensive foods, such as eggs and meat, while the heat yielding materials are largely found in the cheaper foods, such as bread and potatoes."

"Recent experiment show that skim milk contains an unknown substance (vitamines) absolutely essential to the normal growth and development of the young. This substance is found in but few other foods. A really successful substitute for milk or skim milk has not yet been found."

All importations of coffee into this country are now under the direction of the United States sugar equalization board.
