At a meeting of the Gresham Volunteer Fire Department, held last night for the election of officers, it was decided to keep the present protem officers in place until next June. This was the first time he had seen the home folks since he went away on June 24.

MORAN ROWLAND MATTY

"Baseball more popular than ever in 1919" is the clarion cry of club owners and players as the great war ends. Still, with it all, it would seem some factions in baseball had failed to profit by the war interruption, in that they are starting in at the same point they left off, and which was slowly sinking the popular pastime. That was failure to give the "individual player or manager" a square deal always. Three diamond heroes of former world series affairs are already slated for the discard, according to reports. Mathewson is to be let out at Cincinnati, as is Rowland of the Chicago White Sox, says dope, while Pat Moran has already been released as manager of the Philadelphia Nationals.
