GRESHAM LOCALS

Just a word of reminder and invitation to the reception to be held in the Methodist church on Friday evening. This reception, planned by the Ladies' Aid society in honor of the teachers in the grade and high schools, new pupils, and all newcomers in the vicinity, is open to every one and the public is herewith extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Miss Helen Bliss spent Wednesday night as a guest of Miss Grace Fieldhouse, remaining in town for the Epworth league social.

Thos. Ginder recently spent about a week in Newberg visiting a sister. Mrs. Cecil Metzger, who has been suffering greatly with neuralgia, is reported as feeling much better.

Mrs. Ellis Davidson surprised the operators in the telephone office with two large and copious pies on Wednesday, in appreciation of good telephone service.

Those three musketeers, Walter and Floyd Metzger and their soldier guest W. H. Michael, motored out the Columbia Highway last Wednesday afternoon. Arrived at the end of the pavement at Cascade Locks, they alighted and for a little exercise and excitement chased jack rabbits into the river.

Those orange peels and paper napkins along the sidewalks on Main Street would guide one along a steep-chase in the wake of the high school lunchers.

Mrs. H. Z. Webster, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Marion Johnson, left Gresham on Wednesday for a visit with her daughter, Miss C. Webster, in Seattle. Miss Webster is in charge of the Children's Orthopedic Hospital there; and Mrs. Webster's visits are always eagerly anticipated by the sixty crippled little charges of the institution.

Frank C. Jones has built a garage on Mayor Kenney's property on Burr Avenue, where the Gorsage family will make their home.

H. H. Eling is up the State on business connected with the Overland automobile agency in Portland, where he is manager.

Dr. Alfred Thompson was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Metzger on Wednesday evening.

John, Jr., small son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gantenbein, dislocated his hip while at play recently. A physician was called to reset the joint and the little man is well on the road to recovery.

B. W. Thomas returned from California Saturday night, after an absence of several months of touring and pleasuring.

Guerdon Humason, 135th Aero Squadron, Lone Field, Dallas, Texas, will celebrate his twenty-third birthday on the twenty-second. An imposing birthday cake baked by his mother, Mrs. Christine Humason, is now on the way to him, and will, of course, be the principal feature of this auspicious occasion.

Dr. Inglis reports the influenza wave well over. In his opinion health conditions in the vicinity are better now than at any time in the past half year.

Several members of the Honey families here went to Portland Wednesday evening to meet Sgt. Edward Quigley, nephew of George and W. F. Honey, who arrived with the contingent of troops bound for Camp Lewis. Sergeant Quigley was an artist in the camouflage department, in which he was an instructor.

Lloyd Axtell, wife and baby, of Portland spent last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Axtell at their home on Wal'ula Heights.

Funeral services for C. L. McDonald of Lewiston, Idaho, brother-in-law of Judge George W. Stapleton, will be held at the Catholic Cathedral in Vancouver, Washington at nine o'clock tomorrow morning. Mr. McDonald passed away at St. Vincent's hospital, on Sunday, following a series of operations. He is survived by his widow, the judge's sister.

Invitations have been issued by Principal and Mrs. Elmer F. Goodwin for a reception to the senior class at their home at the corner of Miller and B. streets on Saturday evening, February 22d.

E. J. Heselitte, former proprietor of the Twelve Mile store has joined the selling forces of the Walrad Mercantile company.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Truitt entertained for dinner on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hutchinson and family of Portland. Mr. Hutchinson is Mrs. Truitt's brother.

There will be a teachers' meeting of all the county grade and high school teachers at the courthouse on Saturday, February 22d, at 10:30.

Mrs. Robert Lansdowne, of Oregon City, one of the teachers in the school there, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. E. Rusher, on Saturday and Sunday.

H. E. Davis is conducting a demonstration of the Cleveland tractor at Scappoose this week.

Judge George W. Stapleton gave the commencement address at the Washington high school on Friday night. Miss Mabel Wood of the Victory neighborhood was one of the four honor graduates out of a class of 69.

G. A. R. AND R. C. HOLD ANNUAL INSTALLATION

A joint installation of the M. A. Ross Post, G. A. R., and Women's Relief Corps was held in Grange hall on Saturday afternoon. This was the first meeting of the bodies in several months, and a number of visitors from Portland and other places were present for the ceremonies.

A brief business session was held by the veterans in the morning, with A. C. Williams of Portland, assistant adjutant of the state encampment, presiding. Following Mr. Williams' address, E. A. Hunt and H. G. Harman were appointed delegates to the state encampment, with Tom Ginder and J. H. Wood, alternates.

At noon the old soldiers and ladies of the Relief Corps enjoyed a bountiful and delicious luncheon Comrade William Butler and Mrs. Louisa Woonacott sharing the honors of a splendid birthday cake, baked by Mrs. Christine Humason, the efficient and much loved president of the corps. Guests on this happy occasion were, Mrs. Mary Chamberlain, past department president of the state, from the Maggie Wright Post, W. R. C.; Mrs. Maggie Waldrip, past president of Ben Butler corps; Mrs. Laura Slaughterback, of Ben Butler Corps; Mrs. George Harding of Oregon City; A. G. Williams and F. M. Varner of Portland.

Rev. I. B. Self of Fairview, installing officer of the day, assisted by F. M. Varner of Portland, as acting officer of the day seated the following veterans in the commands of the Post: Commander G. W. Woonacott; George Kleriem, senior vice commander; L. O. Larson, junior vice commander; E. A. Kent, chaplain; E. E. Chipman, quartermaster; H. G. Harmon, officer of the day; Tom Ginder, officer of the guard; E. E. Chipman, adjutant.

For the installation of the officers of the Woman's Relief Corps, Mrs. George Harding of the Oregon City Post, assisted by Maggie Waldrip of Portland, as conductor placed the following officers: Mrs. Christine G. Humason, president; Lillian Chipman, senior vice president; Jessie Johnson, junior vice president; Emma Manning, secretary; Emma Gilmore, treasurer; Mrs. C. O. Branson, chaplain; Emma McBain, conductor; Hannah Bond, guard; Maggie Ryan, patriotic instructor; Emma Gilmore press correspondent; Mrs. C. O. Branson, musician; Sarah Leland, assistant conductor; Emily Kleriem, assistant guard; Lizzie Jack, Anna Morgan, Ara Lusted and Louisa Woonacott, color bearers.

A social hour followed the installation ceremonies, A. G. Williams, Post Commander Woonacott, Rev. I. B. Self, Mrs. George Harding, and others, responding to calls for greetings.

IMPORTANT POULTRY MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT

A poultry meeting will be held at Gresham library Friday evening, at 8 p. m., February 21.

U. L. Upson, Federal Poultry Specialist who has been working with poultrymen over the state and is in close touch with the market situation will address the meeting and should be able to give some valuable information. All persons interested in poultry are urged to attend.

The county agent will take up the possibilities of the poultrymen co-operating for poultry improvement and marketing.

ROBERT'S ANNIVERSARY A HAPPY OCCASION

Sunday, being the thirty-second wedding anniversary of Postmaster and Mrs. D. M. Roberts, as well as Mr. Robert's fifty-seventh birthday, the occasion was fittingly celebrated with a family dinner at their home. Besides their daughter, Alice, there were present their oldest son, E. D. Roberts and his wife and infant son Emery Gilman, of Portland.

The Outlook joins with their many friends in the community in extending felicitations and good wishes for many more birthdays and wedding anniversaries.

VALENTINE AFTERNOON AT HOME OF MRS METZGER

Mrs. J. E. Metzger is always a delightful hostess; she seems to have the know-how when it comes to planning for the pleasure of others. And her afternoon on Saturday, when she invited some old friends in to renew their friendship for Miss Lula Parmely, of Portland, was no exception to the rule. Miss Parmely will be affectionately remembered as the primary teacher in the grade school here for many years. She is now teaching in the Portland schools.

Red carnations and red hearts, appropriate to the valentine season, were used prettily about the rooms. On the luncheon table were valentine place cards and favors. Those enjoying Mrs. Metzger's hospitality were, beside the guest from Portland, the Mesdames Harry Ott, L. L. Kidder, Will Ott, John Cannon, Karl Miller and James H. Sterling. A pleasant chat, with embroidery, knitting and stitching from the guest's sewing bags filled a pleasurable afternoon.

High School News.

Last Tuesday the balloting for officers of the Munhino, the school annual, published by the graduating class, resulted in the election of the following staff: Hokan Truedson, editor-in-chief; William Butler, business manager; Bernita Bennison, assistant business manager; Bonnie Horton, associate editor; David Peterson, athletic editor; Mary Christenson, staff stenographer; Grace Fieldhouse, joke editor; Nora Teevin, society editor; and Ruth Johnson, staff artist. This senior annual is a most creditable and attractive volume—a credit to the class and to the school.

Friday evening the belated sophomore-junior reception, postponed from the original date, October 18th, was held in the school gymnasium. There is an unusually large sophomore enrollment of 67 pupils this semester. The class advisors from the faculty, the Misses Bereniece L. Calway, Grace Hartley, Nellie Crocker, and Olive M. Weare assisted the student officers of the two classes in directing the reception and in receiving.

Saturday evening the junior class party was held in the gym, with Miss Mary E. Good, class advisor, in charge. The officers of the junior class are Howard Jones, president; Converse Burlingame, vice president; Mabel Metzger, treasurer, and Letitia Pulfer, secretary.

Gymnasium work for the girls under the direction of Miss Grace Hartley started Wednesday. Aside from the regular gym work, which is required of all students, the basketball enthusiasts are arranging the schedule of games to decide the school championship. The class captains are Bernice Jones, senior team; Mabel Metzger of the juniors; Ida Lauber, sophomore and Hazel Fowler, freshman.

The newly elected staff of the Argus, the school paper are: Hannah Lane, editor-in-chief; Eva Tacheron, business manager; Rachel Peterson, alumni editor; Marie Tacheron, society editor; Gertrude Dowsett, exchange editor, and Clara Nasshahn, staff artist.

The boys' basketball inter-class championship games will be played in the near future, under the supervision and coaching of C. Edwin Platts, physical culture and manual training teacher.
