FAIRVIEW PROUD OF RETURNING HEROES

Fairview is immensely proud of her three sturdy artillerymen who returned on Monday from overseas service. Of course, many of the folks went to Portland to be present when the train came in. Those who couldn't go weren't going to be cheated out of taking a part in the welcome, so they went in a body to the station—all the school children and the teachers, headed by John Jonas, chairman of the school board, to see the train go through. Somebody waved the big school flag and each pupil carried a small one and all did the best they could to show their pride in the three soldiers, who saw the group and waved a glad reply as long as they were in sight. Mr. Jones immediately filled up his car with members of his family and others, and sped to Portland.

When the soldiers finally get their discharges and return from Camp Lewis, a real home jollification will be held at the city hall in their honor. Plans are already under way and no effort will be spared to make the event a memorable one. The returning boys, or "men", as their colonel insists they should be called, are Caryl Heslin, Leslie T. St. Clair and Raymond Dunbar.

"The Test of the Progress of Mankind," Quoted an English contemporary, "Will be in the appreciation of the character of Washington."

By this true test, mankind is ever marching forward. Everywhere, the peoples of the world today honor the memory of Washington.

Everywhere, those who have freedom and those who seek it, are insisting upon his ideal of "the practice of a virtuous policy" that the end and purpose of all Governments may be "the aggregate happiness of society."

His influence lives on through the years. His words and his deeds are ever an inspiration to forward-looking peoples.
