"The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins."

Official paper of the Town of Gresham
Official paper of the Town of Fairview.

Entered as second-class matter March 2, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Governor Olcott is a New Englander by birth and has had training in banking business and is instinctively on the side of good business administration. He stands for efficiency in service more than building up political machines, believing that the way to popularize the party is to serve the people. Besides being a nimrod and nature lover and fond of all kinds of animals, including dogs, he has roughed it a great part of the time he has lived in the west, joining in the Alaska gold rush, climbing Mt. Shasta and other peaks. His political battles have all been against efforts in different departments of lowering standards of service. While not a fad reformer he has a keen sense of weak places in the public service and will not be slow or indifferent about strengthening them.

This is the challenge the Peninsula National Bank issues to its patrons in urging them on to their best effort:

While it is probable that conditions will be unsettled for some time and as far as we can see prosperity will strike the country only in spots, there is no reason, except her own failure to open the door to Opportunity, why Oregon should not be one of the spots. Our industrial organization, as yet, is far from complex. Such manufacturing as we do is in staples—we are not making luxuries that the world can do without, but we are producers of fundamental necessities—the things that are needed to feed and clothe and shelter a world that is in dire need. The present situation is a test of our capacity to organize and co-operate rather than a question of our ability to deliver the goods.

A French officer, a bank official in France, addressing the Chamber of Commerce in Portland yesterday stated that it would take three years to pump out the coal mines flooded by the Germans in Alsace Lorraine, and six years to replace the scrapped mine machinery. France must console herself with victory. Her economic condition is more critical than Germany's.

When grabbing Alsace and Lorraine Bismarck said to the protesting Frenchmen who pleaded that he was leaving them nothing, "You have your eyes to cry with!" A fair answer to the German squealers now.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels is on the briny now. We may expect him home by May 1st. Secretary of War Baker will follow in short order. Away goes another precedent. Mr. Baker says there is plenty of room for him and Senator Chamberlain on the same boat. If the senator wants to go along. A little thing like the lack of an invitation should not daunt our doughty senator.

We should worry about German frightfulness, as long as they take it out on each other.

Start Right.

The labor situation in the country is serious from the standpoint of declining efficiency.

War conditions have proved beyond the question of a doubt that abnormally high wages and short hours, as granted under stress of circumstances, to quiet labor troubles and secure help, have lowered efficiency and production rather than increasing them.

Inexperienced help in all lines of industry has demanded and received wages entirely out of proportion to their training or ability to produce. Incentive to do good work in order to receive better pay has been lost sight of as the employer had to take anything he could get.

Thus men and women and boys and girls who have been drawing wages which their ability and experience did not warrant have been led to form an entirely overestimated opinion as to the value of their services. During the weeding out process which is now taking place, as American industry is adjusting itself to meet world competition, thousands of these inexperienced employes will find themselves dropped and they will have to begin at the bottom of the ladder to learn the trade at which they have been drawing expert's pay.

It's a bitter pill, but the sooner the situation is realized and a start made on the right basis with the knowledge that only intelligence and experience can in the long run bring steady and remunerative employment, the sooner will each person solve the difficulty for himself.

Strikes won't help the situation now.

The commission on responsibilities at the peace conference has discovered no law by which the ex-Kaiser can be held liable and punished for precipitating the world war. They maintain that for acts committed in his capacity as a sovereign, he cannot be made penally responsible.

If he is to be tried at all, maintain the British and American authorities on criminal law, it will have to be for the specific act; for instance if he decorated the captain who sank the Lusitania, that would make him in British law an accessory.

With the bereaved French people, thinking of their 1,400,000 dead, we are inclined to say "Hang the niceties!"

Today we publish the first installment of a mighty interesting letter from Frank ("Doc") Rogers. Remember he was decorated for gallantry in action lately. No, he is not tooting his own horn. Far be it from Doc! This letter is simply in the nature of a synopsis of his experiences as a marine. We believe you will enjoy it as thoroughly as we did. Too bad to have to tease you with the installments; but we have not room for the whole letter in today's paper; and besides the suspense will keep you up on your toes for the next issue of the Outlook.

We await with interest Champ Clark's statement of his stand on the league of nations. Champ has been somewhat out of sympathy with the administration on several important matters during the war period. He neither voted for the war resolution nor espoused the selective draft, as did the majority of his democratic colleagues.

That it pays to keep pure bred cattle has again been demonstrated. Tests conducted by Cecil Moffitt show that a pure bred cow will net its owner $8 more per month on the sale of butter fat than a grade animal. The grade will often give a larger flow of milk; but the thoroughbred produces the cream.

For a Bad Cold.
Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It has stood the test of time and can be depended upon.—Adv.

JURY FINDS FULLERTON LIBELED THE UNIVERSITY

That it is a crime under the laws of Oregon to defame the character of an institution of learning and its students was demonstrated in the circuit court at Eugene last week when Jas. Fullerton was convicted for publishing a pamphlet called the "Hornet" which asserted that "Immorality was rife" at the University of Oregon.

Mr. Fullerton was sentenced Saturday, at 10 o'clock, to one year in jail, at least thirty days of which must be served.

About fifty witnesses were placed on the stand, and the state undertook to prove not only that the charges were untrue and lacked any possible foundation, but that the University was in a position to know at all times the circumstances surrounding all its students, and that an exceptionally clean and wholesome atmosphere existed.

The defendant was allowed, without objection from the state, to recite to the jury everything he had ever heard or suspected about the University, its president or its students. Not only did he fail to adduce evidence that immorality existed, but the University took the stand and laid before the jury its entire disciplinary history since 1872, including cases that Fullerton had never heard of. In all that time not a single University woman had ever gone to the bad, according to the evidence, and cases of discipline among the men students had been astonishingly few.

In the recent army examinations, which every male student had to undergo, the army authorities reported that there was, on the microscopic test, not a single case of venereal disease, and through the whole term of the war not a single request for prophylactic treatment.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

There is quite a punch in one name in this town—the name of a business house—the Sanitary Meat Market. We have not been poking around in George Dietl's sausage grinder or refrigerator. In fact we did not consider it necessary. What impressed us was the spotless condition of the curb and gutter in front of Mr. Dietl's shop. We stopped and admired the marks of vigorous broom whisks on the street. Not only was the Dietl's stretch of sidewalk, curb and gutter clean and sanitary, a good stretch north and south of the place was in like condition. So we just entered and asked Mr. Dietl who kept the neighborhood so spick and span. He's the responsible party; and he takes small credit for it. We might have known as much, having watched him taking out his geraniums for sun and water on several previous occasions.

AMERICA'S DEBT SMALLER THAN OTHER POWERS'

In the light of the following official figures, America's ability to easily absorb the Victory Liberty Loan cannot be questioned:
The entire indebtedness of the United States today is less than 7 per cent of the national wealth, or about $170 per capita.
Some of the national debts of other great powers as compared to national wealth are:
Great Britain.....44.3 per cent
France.....41.25 per cent
Austria.....84.66 per cent
Germany.....38.7 per cent
Germany's debt is really greater as the above figure is exclusive of the ninth German war loan and any indemnities she may have to pay. Japan is the only big nation with a lower per capita debt in relation to its wealth than the United States.

SOLDIERS' RECEPTION UP TO NEW COMMITTEE

In connection with the plans for the reception to the home coming soldiers, to be held in Gresham in the near future, George F. Honey, temporary chairman of the first committee that undertook plans for the reception, at the suggestion of Carl J. Hollingsworth of the Y. M. C. A. reconstruction service, submits this statement:

At the committee meeting last Friday evening, it was decided: that inasmuch as there has been some criticism and opposition to the personnel of the Social Center association "welcome home committee"; and also for not first calling a public meeting, that, in the interest of harmony, we for the present cancel our partly arranged program, and support the mayor of the city in his call for a public meeting.

The association at this time desires to thank the Masonic lodge, the Gresham grange, and Mrs. John Metzger, for their interest and generous offer of the free use of their respective halls, for the home coming reception.

GEORGE F. HONEY, Chairman.

The forty seven war brides, wives of enlisted men and officers of the army and navy, who have just been welcomed into America, are as winsome a lot of high hearted young women as one could wish for help-meets for our sons and brothers.

Forgot What He Needed.

From the Republican, Mt. Gillad, Ohio: The editor had an interesting experience some time ago, when a young gentleman came to this office and asked for a copy of the Morrow County Republican. He scrutinized it carefully when a copy was handed him, and then said: "Now I know!" "What is it you are looking for," we inquired. "My wife sent me after a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I forgot the name. I went to several stores and the clerks named over everything in the line on the shelf except 'Chamberlain's.' I'll try again, and I'll never go home without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." The Republican would suggest to the proprietors of stores, that they post their clerks, and never let them substitute. Customers lose faith in stores where substituting is permitted, to say nothing of the injustice to makers of good goods and the disappointment of customers.—Adv.
