

Cream Puffs for Soldiers.

Mesdames Fred Honey, Maxwell Schneider, W. R. Kern, J. N. Clananhan, and H. L. Wostell motored to Vancouver on Tuesday, taking with them six dozen cream puffs for the convalescent soldier boys to the post hospital at the barracks. They took pink camellias, too, like the ones our returned men wore last Friday night. Mrs. Honey has been making these weekly trips for a year now. The boys all know her and grin a most enthusiastic welcome. The sickiest boy there belongs on Gresham's honor roll. He is Jesse Radford. He has been in bed there seventeen months. Was on his feet just one month. Some of the boys are recovering from mumps. Needless to say, they found those cream puffs easy to take.
