A BUSINESSLIKE CONGRESS.

The coming special session of congress, which meets on May 19, will be watched more carefully than usual for several reasons. The republicans will be in the majority, there are large appropriation bills left over by the last session to be passed upon and reconstruction legislation is waiting for wise (or otherwise) consideration. Also the attitude of the President towards the senate raises many interesting and perhaps delicate situations.

"The first work will be that of preparing and passing the seven appropriation bills which failed in the last congress," said Representative Frank W. Mondell, of Wyoming, floor leader of the republican party, recently. "Congress will be compelled to establish an entirely new record for the dispatch of business, if it passes all the appropriation bills before July 1."

The republican leader said: "I anticipate a busy, businesslike session from the beginning and the adoption of a forward-looking constructive program. The problems before us are numerous and important. I anticipate an earnest spirit of harmonious co-operation in connection with the consideration of all of these problems."

PUBLICITY MATTER.

Dear Editor:—Realizing that the cooperation of the press is essential to the success of any campaign in which it is necessary to reach the public, we bespeak your interest in our project, the ultimate purpose of which represents—

We will greatly appreciate your making use of the appended matter in your next issue. The editor's desk is loaded every week with publicity matter, sent out by societies of every kind, with appeals similar to the above. The accumulation of this kind of matter each week, typewritten and printed, would fill a good-sized wastebasket.

But it doesn't all go into the waste basket. Most of it is worthy of consideration and much of it gets from a careful and sympathetic editor the publicity desired.

Our object in referring to this is to suggest the important position of the needed publicity. The success of the liberty loan and war service drives has proven that the people read the newspapers, especially in the country localities, and are impressed and guided in their attitude and decisions by what they read.

Incidentally this publicity matter is a great help to the editor. Most of this kind of matter contains the statement, "Not duplicated in your territory." That's real nice. Just think of having a "scoop" on this or that in "our territory." And of course the public thinks the editor is very "wise." Certainly it does call for a level head and careful discrimination.

A stockings, bare-legged fad has been launched in Paris. Rather tame news, the skirts are so long this year.

It is rumored our Japanese friends are going to put forward a candidate for queen for the victory celebration. Why not? It is their victory as well as ours and they should celebrate on our glorious Fourth.

POST FLAYS BURLESON.

Charles Johnson Post, director of the Publisher's Advisory Board, has exposed what he terms the hypocrisy of Postmaster General Burleson's defense of his employment of convict labor on his farm in Texas. "I have challenged you," Post says, "to produce to the public the record of the moneys and profits received by you in connection with the abominable convict-labor system with its floggings to extract more work. In reply you admit that you have received moneys in connection with that convict-labor system, and in your own defense you merely plead that you personally were not directly in contact with the operation yourself, but your plantation was leased and cultivated by the State of Texas." The public will thoroughly appreciate the unique qualities of such defense. It is as though a landlord were caught owning a house used for immoral purposes and immediately pleaded his own probity on the ground that he merely leased the premises, receiving the profits therefrom, but took no part in the orgies. Your defense—which is, I believe, what lawyers call a "plea of confession and avoidance"—may well be left to the scrutiny of the American public.

A Victory for Criticism.

Quite aside from all questions of principle and policy, the revised covenant of the League of Nations published yesterday shows how much good can come out of free discussion and honest criticism, for it is admitted that the new product is a great improvement over the old. Much impatience has been shown by the un-questioning, middle-of-the-road, through-to-the-end followers of the administration when any one has assumed to question the infallibility of any of its methods and purposes. But criticism in this case was not suppressed, the critics continued their good offices, and the result so far apparent has justified them. All parties, even the dyed-in-the-wool adherents of the Wilson administration, are agreed that a marked change for the better has been worked out because of the propulsion of honest criticism.—New York Herald.

Good Propaganda.

One of the first acts of the new Congress should be the printing of a twenty-million edition of a little pamphlet containing the Declaration of Independence, the U. S. Constitution, Washington's Farewell Address, and Lincoln's Gettysburg speech. Such an edition would provide a copy for each family in the United States. Then, if the administration hasn't any conscientious objections, the pamphlet should be frankable, so that this compendium of information concerning government of the people, for the people, could be readily distributed.—Oregon City Enterprise.

Advice for Government Clerks.

The government's determination to settle returning soldiers on farms should be extended to take in a lot of its useless employes in Washington. There is no record showing that any civilian in government employ has given up his job to go on a farm.—Topeka State Journal.

The Outlook office is nearly swamped with publicity matter, including a page of plate, on the Methodist centenary hundred million dollar drive, the time for which is set for May 18 to 25. All good, but—so far as this locality is concerned we are over the top already. Just another case where Oregon is ahead. However, if any persons were missed a few weeks ago it's not too late to get your name on the roll of honor.

Wasn't that "Build Now" issue a humdinger? As often happens when our people are appealed to for items and advertising the returns go far beyond our calculations for time and space and the added work requires additional time.

The Salvation Army lassies are going to pass around the tambourines. Get your nickles and dimes ready. The money is for real constructive social work.

Gresham will need a bright new, large flag for the Fourth. Where is the generous patriotic citizen who will help the Victory celebration in that way?

My! Just think of Astoria as the jumping off place for a line of airplanes to Hawaii, the Philippines, Japan and China.

All eyes are fixed on the attempted air flight across the Atlantic. What a transcendent historical event it will be when first accomplished.

By the way, it's only seven short weeks till the Fourth. Time to get up some good banners, isn't it?

PICNIC IN THE PARLOR WHEN RAIN THREATENS

"The rain won't spoil our picnic," exclaimed Ed. Strong, "I worked too hard to get this machine, and I'm going to use it if it snows!" So he proceeds to go around and "honk" the boy and girl picnickers out of their homes at an early hour last Sunday morning, and I dare say that some of them were rather sleepy, but that made no difference to Strong, as he wasn't going to be bluffed by the rain.

So they all went over to Edith Hiatt's home and proceeded to have their picnic in the parlor, and such a picnic it was! They played and sang until dinner was all ready, then the hungry folks made a wreck of the wonderful display of goodies. New dishes were introduced such as bananas stuffed with olives, for which Miss Hiatt has a peculiar liking.

They stayed till a late hour in the evening, and surely the proposed trip to Bull Run, could not have been more merry. The party consisted of Edith Hiatt, Hannah Lane, Mable Michel, Ruth Hartley, Nora Teevin, Joe Comstock, Ed. Strong, George and Dick Lane and Haden Hiatt. The party was chaperoned by—but we promised not to tell. Some one might say "her."

Cause of Headache. By knowing the cause, a disease may often be avoided. This is particularly true of headache. The most common cause of headache is a disordered stomach or constipation, which may be corrected by taking a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets. Try it. Many others have obtained permanent relief by taking these Tablets. They are easy to take and mild and gentle in effect.—Adv.
