"The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins."

Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

WILSON'S HORSE SENSE.

The efforts of the United States government to overcome the high cost of living through a country-wide appeal to the people of America to save have been epitomized by President Wilson in his message to the people in connection with the railway shopmen's demands for an increase in wages.

"Only by keeping the cost of production on its present level, by increasing production and by rigid economy and saving on the part of the people can we hope for large decreases in the burdensome cost of living which now weighs us down," said President Wilson.

Concerted action by all of the people in saving goods can be accomplished in only one practical way—that is by saving money, which represents power to purchase goods. The treasury department offers to the people war savings stamps and treasury savings certificates as an inducement to saving. By denying themselves unnecessary luxuries and pleasures and by putting the money that might have been spent for these things into government securities, each individual fortifies his own position in life and at the same time does himself and his neighbors throughout the country a great service.

Money saved, both by means of savings accounts in banks, and in government securities, is at once made available for the means of greater production. Deposits in the banks form the capital which is loaned to business and industrial enterprises that they may build and extend factories, which are the sources of production. Money placed in government securities makes it unnecessary for the government to call upon the banks to lend funds for the running of the great governmental machinery.

A few months of rigid economy and self-denial will give the world a chance to recover its economic balance. And in the course of time, production will be increased, over demand, to an extent where American food and manufactures can be shipped abroad and spared for the peoples of other countries. In the present state of conditions, the people of other countries are competing with us in the buying of commodities that we need at home.

It is plain that there is ony one method of getting our feet on the ground and that is by the method suggested, by practicing economy, increasing production and by saving money, the workers of America can force down the cost of living and bring back the world to a normal basis of economic conditions.

GHOSTS

"I've been hearin' tell of this new femine influence, that's going to turn things all around for us men folks, but 'til last week I didn't catch up with any of it." Thus spoke Squire Bigglesby.

"But by golly I've met the feminine touch in farming and I'm agin it.

"Last week one evening I looked over at Widow Smith's corn patch on the hill, there was a ghost a walkin'. Another ghost was paradin' right ahead of the big one.

"Next morning I peeked out and there was the two ghosts still a wavin' and a dancin'. Bye and bye I sneaked up and discovered that the widow had put an old nightie of hers on a post, and one of the boy's on another, and tied 'em down at the waist line.

"Evidently the widow was going to scare off the crows.

"Well, that afternoon Dad Billings was plowing his orchard with old Molly, and Molly turned a row of trees and saw the ghosts, and lit out, plow and all, and never stopped until she wound up in the hot bed.

"That evening Hanson's hired man came down the wood lane with his hard cider jug, and he caught a good glimpse through the trees of those two ghosts a dancing. His jug broke when he dropped it but he was too far away to hear.

"And the next victim of this new woman's farming touch was Deacon Gill, who was up trying to collect some back rent from one of his hill tenants. He didn't discover, in the excitement, that he'd swallered his cud until that night at prayer meetin'.

"If that's the feminine touch in agriculture I don't want none."

"Did it seem to keep the crows away?" we asked.

"Crows! Say there wasn't even a jay bird lit on that patch in ten days."

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This is not only one of the best and most efficient medicines for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, but is also pleasant to take, which is important when a medicine must be given to young children. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been in use for many years and has met with much favor wherever its good qualities have become known. Many mothers have given it their unqualified endorsement. Wm. Scruby, Chillicothe, Mo., writes, "I have raised three children, have always used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and found it to be the best for coughs, colds and croup. It is pleasant to take. Both adults and children like it. My wife and I have always felt safe from croup with it in the house." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy contains no opium or other narcotic.—Adv.

Free! Savings Bank

Do you want a real Hand Grenade, the kind that our boys used to clean out German trenches and machine nests with?

We have bought from the Government a supply of these Grenades, from which the deadly TNT has been removed, and they have been made into Savings Banks.

We will be very glad to make you a present of one of these banks if you will comply with the conditions imposed by the Government governing their distribution.

The Government requires that persons receiving these banks make purchases as follows:

Persons 12 years or under, One War Savings Stamp.
Persons 13 to 18 years, Two War Savings Stamps.
Persons 18 years or over, One $100 Treasury Certificate.

We have been assured that these banks will reach us in October, but as the supply is limited we suggest that you telephone us your reservation of one of these banks. After they arrive you can make the purchase of War Saving Stamps and Certificates as required.

Telephone or write today, we will reserve one for you.

WHY THE ELECTRIC CLEANER?

There is really no comparison between the ease and thoroughness with which an Electric Cleaner removed dirt and the difficulty of sweeping.

True, one CAN clean rugs and carpets without an electric cleaner. A broom or carpet sweeper will brush up SOME of the dirt; and if you like the exercise and have plenty of time and strength a broom and a carpet beater will do the work after a fashion.

In the same way one can wash without soap. Water alone will remove some dirt if applied with enough "elbow grease."

But people use soap because it cleans more easily and better than water alone.

For the same reason people use Electric Cleaners because they clean more easily and far better than other methods.
