The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins.

Official paper of the Town of Gresham. Official paper of the Town of Fairview.

Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

AIR TRESPASS.

The automobile necessitated the manufacture of a lot of new laws; it produced the traffic policeman and the motorcycle cop; it gave us, together with innumerable advantages, the penalties attached to joy-riding and motor banditry.

It would be less altogether funny a few years back to suggest the need of laws regulating traffic in the air and yet such laws are on the way.

A determined farmer found a flying major and a damaged machine in his corn field recently. The airplane, in landing, had knocked down much corn and the farmer demanded payment, which the major couldn't give him, so he impounded the machine, placed it in a canvas enclosure and charged 25 cents a look. He took in $50 and was satisfied.

An aviator in Missouri was fined $25 for flying within 10 feet of a farm house.

Flying deputy sheriffs have been sworn in by Lorain county, Ohio, to regulate aviation.

Common law holds that a land owner's rights extend to the center of the earth, straight down, and as far upward as he cares to carry improvements without jeopardizing his neighbors.

Thus far crime has not sullied the records of aviation save in movie films. A few young women have been abducted by flying villains, but all have been rescued.

But as flying becomes more common outlaws will certainly find a new medium. Smuggling already has been attempted by European aviators. A mass of damage suits have arisen as the result of a dirigible falling into the heart of Chicago's loop.

At present farmers seem most inclined to restrict the activities of air men. They feel, no doubt, as they did when the first automobiles came roaring past, scattering chickens and leaving sheep biting clouds of dust as he galloped in pursuit of the monster. Prejudice will abate when the meadow is fenced off for a landing field and there is a hangar alongside the silo.

THE HORSE SURVIVES.

The automobile would finish the horse—everybody said so. True, horses are no longer common on city streets, but the raising of horses goes right on and the prices paid for good stock are higher than ever. Same way with mules.

Now tractor manufacturers predict that Dobbin surely will be out of a job when every farmer does his field work and hauling by engine power.

As a matter of fact, the horse, as the chief servant of man, is in no danger of being displaced. Gasoline played a mighty role in the war, yet the demand for horses and mules for the army was always greater than the supply.

The internal combustion motor has achieved much in many fields, but its accomplishments seem to increase rather than decrease the need of horses.

The motor car has eliminated the rich picture of smart equipages drawn by splendid animals, which had an air that the most expensive car cannot reproduce.

But those who admire horseflesh and who even enjoy the sight of a good draft team at work in city streets, need not fear that steel and cast iron will drive Percherons, Belgians, Clydesdale out of existence.

Mrs. Strongmind: "Our society has appointed me chairman of a committee whose object is to try and bring about a reduction in rents."

Strongmind: "I'm glad to hear it, my dear; you can begin at once on my trousers."—Oregon Veteran.

POMONA MEETING.

Garden Home, on the west side, was also suggested and the matter will be taken up with the county deputy at an early date.

The December meeting of Pomona grange will be held with Evening Star at 78th and Division streets. The December meetings are always important and the attendance will be large.

Pleasant Valley grange gave its visitors a remarkably fine dinner and supper. The women members of that grange seemed to be in good spirits after having won first premium for their grange display at the fair and showed their good feeling by furnishing the very best grange dinner of the year.

A small class of candidates was invested with the fifth degree which was followed by a good program in the evening when numerous outside visitors were admitted.

Resolutions of condolence were offered to the memories of E. S. Jenne and Mrs. Jennie Kronenberg. Both were members of Pleasant Valley grange. Both passed away during the past three months and are sadly missed by their former brothers and sisters in grange work.

Kidder, members of the board, and clerk, C. J. Lundquist are all in favor of erecting a playshed. In November, when the budget will be voted upon, the question of a special tax for the putting up of this building will be placed before the voters. In the meantime, detailed investigation will be made as to the expense and other necessary data.

To relieve the congestion in the basement, it was suggested that the two smaller grades be sent upstairs to the assembly room during recess. The basement will be ventilated and sprinkled and kept as sanitary as possible for the older children.

Beginning Monday, the grade pupils will be dismissed at 3:30 by the unanimous sanction of the board.

One of the committee to wait on the board said this morning, "I think the district owes the school directors a vote of thanks. A director's job is a thankless one. The most they get is criticism, but sometimes they are treated with perfect indifference. At the last annual meeting five people were present and one of those was called in to make it legal."

Fortunately, Gresham has a school board not easily discouraged.

Car shortage continues to interfere seriously with lumber shipments in the northwest.

Bronchial Trouble. Mrs. A. E. Sidenberder, Rockfield, Ind., states: "For an attack of bronchial trouble which usually assails me in the spring I find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the only thing that gives me relief. After using it for a few days all signs of bronchial trouble disappears."—Adv

W. T. West and son, 1 1/2 miles east of Newberg, planted blackcap raspberries in 11 acres young prune trees. They sold $4500 worth from this berry patch, a mere byproduct of a young prune orchard.

This crop of small fruit grown as fillers in an orchard shows possibilities of this industry. There is such a demand for young plants they can probably sell several thousand dollars worth of young canes that will now come up.

WHY THE ELECTRIC CLEANER? There is really no comparison between the ease and thoroughness with which an Electric Cleaner removed dirt and the difficulty of sweeping.

True, one CAN clean rugs and carpets without an electric cleaner. A broom or carpet sweeper will brush up SOME of the dirt; and if you like the exercise and have plenty of time and strength a broom and a carpet beater will do the work after a fashion.

In the same way one can wash without soap. Water alone will remove some dirt if applied with enough "elbow grease." But people use soap because it cleans more easily and better than water alone.

For the same reason people use Electric Cleaners because they clean more easily and far better than other methods.
