"The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins."

BISHOP HUGHES AND THE TREATY.

The Methodist Episcopal church is one of the strongest, safest, most thoroughly American organizations in this land of freedom.

This characterization is made all the more emphatic by the stand of Bishop Hughes and the ministers of the Oregon conference, the other day at Salem.

In the press report it is stated that a motion to adopt a resolution asking ratification of the treaty without reservations met bitter opposition by Bishop Hughes, who characterized the Shantung clause as "one of the most iniquitous things ever written into a peace contract in the history of the world."

"I would dislike to have it known," continued the bishop, "that I presided at a conference that approved such a shameful thing. Neither would I have it known that I am in favor of a treaty made in secrecy and in favor of an oriental nation."

It was then suggested that discussion of the Shantung clause, as it affected the peace treaty, be taken up later but this was opposed by the bishop who declared:

"The time to settle this is right now, and there is no better place to settle it than in the United States senate where it is now under consideration. And I will wager that the treaty will be ratified, omitting the Shantung provision, and not affecting the sterling qualities of the league of nations."

"The conference is not the place to take up matters political," voiced some one in the church. "This is not a matter of political expediency," retorted the bishop. "This is a matter of moral expediency, affecting the lives and, yes, the souls of people, and this church could not express itself in a greater matter. I am sure this conference will express itself in favor of a league of nations, but we cannot, as ministers of the gospel, ask the United States senate or any other body to ratify any provision that is iniquitous and is so recognized by the people of this land."

A resolution congratulating Hughes, "and the mother of so worthy a man as our resident bishop," was adopted.

The northwestern boxed apple crop is largest on record and of excellent average grade.

Senator McNary has requested the department of justice to draft legislation for acquiring the entire sugar crop of Cuba for this year as the only means of avoiding a sugar shortage this winter.

Reed college requires its students in English to attend the theatre. Possibly high schools could make the same department popular with boys who "just hate the stuff" by giving them credit for attending the movie.

The Portland Journal thinks the race wars, now rife, are the fruit of the sins of slavery. "The sins of past generations are falling upon the present." It is not difficult to draw this conclusion. If it had not been for slavery there would be no race problem in this country, and slavery was a sin. The great lesson is in the fact that present generations must suffer for the sins of the past and future generations for those of the present.

WORK AND HAPPINESS.

Who is there that does not sometimes conclude that work is monotonous? Yet who that has grown used to it could be happy long without it? David Wark Griffith, the world's most famous and untiring motion picture producer, says that work alone will satisfy. "The only real joy there is in life comes from the delightful struggle, from incessant endeavor. To be happy one must have something to strive for. Oh the delights of discontent! The delicious search for success! The only true happiness that a mortal finds comes not from the goal, but from the game. Show me a man that can no longer find anything to strive for, to work for, and I can only pity him in his prison of deadness."

"Discontent is what makes the world go round. Congenial work alone furnishes a bottomless well of happiness."

Griffith almost thinks the world could get along without love, but never without work. Love may come and go but work remains and brings satisfaction.

Perhaps the real truth is that love makes work lighter and work makes love more appreciated and lasting.

Daylight Saving.

At last we seem to be coming back to a reasonable basis in the matter of the daylight saving law, which has just been repealed. There is a movement on foot now for advancing the working hour during the summer months, during the time when it will be of real value to the factories.

There is no need to change the clock to effect this change. This would have seemed the right way to have handled the matter in the first place.

Western Farmer.

But some of the dear public loves to be fooled. Didn't you ever turn the alarm clock 15 or 20 minutes ahead, and fool yourself the next morning to get up by it?

Oregon's Youthful Hero.

During Civil War times it was no uncommon thing for a mere slip of a boy to enlist. These lads, some of them barely in their teens, marched shoulder to shoulder with grown men, carrying their heavy pack with aching shoulders and trembling legs but with a spirit of unflinching courage.

The same irrepressible patriotism is still characteristic of the boys, though the opportunity to display it was not so apparent during the World War. A few Yankee youngsters managed to slip one over the authorities, however.

Ferman McAdoe, whose father has been a newspaper man in Salem and Sherwood and is now in Bend, is returning home from Europe after four years' service. At 14 he enlisted with the Canadian forces. He wears a British distinguished conduct medal and 11 wounds. One of his first heroic acts was at the time of the Halifax explosion when he was detailed on guard duty at which post he remained many hours unrelieved through an oversight, suffering intensely from the cold.

The American Legion auxiliary asks for donations of records for the hospitals to cheer soldiers who are ill or recovering from wounds. The auxiliary has a booth at Liberty Temple.

The Sweetening Industry.

Few persons have any concept of the magnitude of the sugar industry. Take all the sugar used in homes, confectionery shops, ice cream parlors and it is our largest article of diet.

There are about one hundred beet sugar refineries in the territory west of the great lakes.

The 1918-19 sugar crops of the United States and Cuba have a market value of $800,000,000 or more. Adding to this vast total the amount received by the producers of the British West Indies, Santa Domingo and other important sugar-growing sections of the Western Hemisphere, we have a grand total of roughly $1,000,000,000 as the money return from the current sugar crop of the Americas.

Substitution of sugar for alcohol as a result of national prohibition, makes sugar consumption in the form of candies and sweets a national necessity, instead of a luxury.

There are two sides to every question—your side and the wrong side.—Western Farmer.

WHY THE ELECTRIC CLEANER?

There is really no comparison between the ease and thoroughness with which an Electric Cleaner removed dirt and the difficulty of sweeping. True, one CAN clean rugs and carpets without an electric cleaner. A broom or carpet sweeper will brush up SOME of the dirt...
