COTTRELL

A meeting to organize the Fairview Community Sunday school was held in Smith Memorial church Sunday evening when the following officers were elected and teachers appointed: superintendent, Mrs. S. Jackson; assistant superintendent, Mrs. D. W. McKay; secretary, William Butler; treasurer, Clyde Stone; musical director, Mrs. A. L. Stone; pianist, Pauline Zinn. Teachers, Beginners class, Mrs. Grant; primary, Mrs. Green; junior, Mrs. C. Stone; intermediate, Miss Rosalie Luscher. Young people's class—Boys—Mrs. Jackson; girls—Mrs. Pratt. Bible class—Mrs. A. L. Stone. Fifty were present Sunday morning, and the attendance is expected to increase rapidly.

An error was made in the announcement of the Parent-Teacher association meetings. They will be held on the second Friday of each month at the schoolhouse. The hour will be 2:30. All parents and patrons of the district are invited to join in the work.

The social given under the auspices of the Methodist Aid society last Saturday night was greatly enjoyed by those present and was a financial success. An even hundred dollars were cleared as a result of the social. The money will go toward the expense of moving the material from the old church to the new location just across the street from the schoolhouse. It is expected that the work of rebuilding will commence at once.

Donald Grant won a blue ribbon on his Industrial Club pig which he exhibited at the Pacific International Livestock exposition just closed. Donald is an old hand in club work, and has won prizes on his exhibits for the past four years. He is already planning his club work for next year.

POINTING THE WAY TO 1920.

By SCOTT C. BONE. Sweeping republican victories marked the state elections in Massachusetts, Kentucky and Maryland, and the local elections in New York City and state, on Tuesday, Nov. 4.

Coming just one in advance of the national elections of 1920, the results are of promising portent in disclosing a pronounced and unmistakable popular trend against the party in power and a mighty protest against existing conditions.

Most significant of all is the reelection of Governor Calvin Coolidge, of Massachusetts, by an unprecedented majority approximating 125,000. Here the republican candidate became the embodiment of an issue of law and order and pure, unadulterated and unafraid Americanism, in contradistinction to a stand for radicalism on the part of his opponent, and the people of the state showed their aggressive loyalty by rallying to the standard raised by Governor Coolidge overwhelmingly.

Massachusetts, in thus going on record so decisively, strikes a blow at the soviet and Bolshevism and kindred evils that will clarify the atmosphere in all quarters.

Kentucky, for the third time in her history, broke away from her Solid South moorings and put a good administration above tradition by electing a republican governor. Here state issues were made paramount, but with America First the party slogan.

New Jersey, the president's state, for the first and only time since he was given highest national honors, chose a democratic governor on a "wet" issue in keeping with the president's last veto of a prohibition enforcement measure. Edwards, the successful candidate, proclaimed from the platform and stump that he would endeavor to make New Jersey "as wet as the Atlantic ocean." This appeal won him the support of cities and gave him the election. But, at the same time, the state re-elected a republican legislature. Small comfort, indeed, can come to the White House out of such victory.

Maryland, on the face of the returns, is all but, if not actually, a republican state. The governorship hangs in the balance by a narrow margin, whereas from time immemorial, with rare exceptions, Maryland has ranked as a democratic stronghold.

Tammany's route in New York City is by no means secondary in significance. Standing for good government and offering clean, capable candidates, and, above all, opposing a machine-made judiciary, the republicans achieved a notable triumph. The huge democratic majority given to Governor Smith a year ago melted away into mere nothingness and only Boss Murphy's son-in-law and a few minor candidates were saved from the wreckage.

The newly-enfranchised women voters is to be ascribed a large degree of the credit for the overthrow of Tammany Hall. Taking their duty of citizenship seriously, they rallied to the polls early and in large numbers and, displaying a knowledge of men and issues, cast their ballots for good government as typified by the republican candidates.

A robust Americanism, in evidence everywhere, shows that American problems are uppermost and predominant, and that in state and local appraisement the democratic party, with its inefficiency, its incapacity and its extravagance, and, moreover, with its temporizing with radicalism and its bent toward Socialism, has tried and found wanting—utterly wanting in State or National usefulness.

With Three-Point Cantilever Springs New Overland 4 Seems to "Sail Over The Roads"

THE new Three-Point Cantilever Springs of Overland 4, by their special construction and design, protect car and passengers from ordinary road jolts. Bumping, twisting, swaying and vibrating are wonderfully lessened. The blows of the road seldom reach you. There is less tendency to bodily fatigue after long rides.

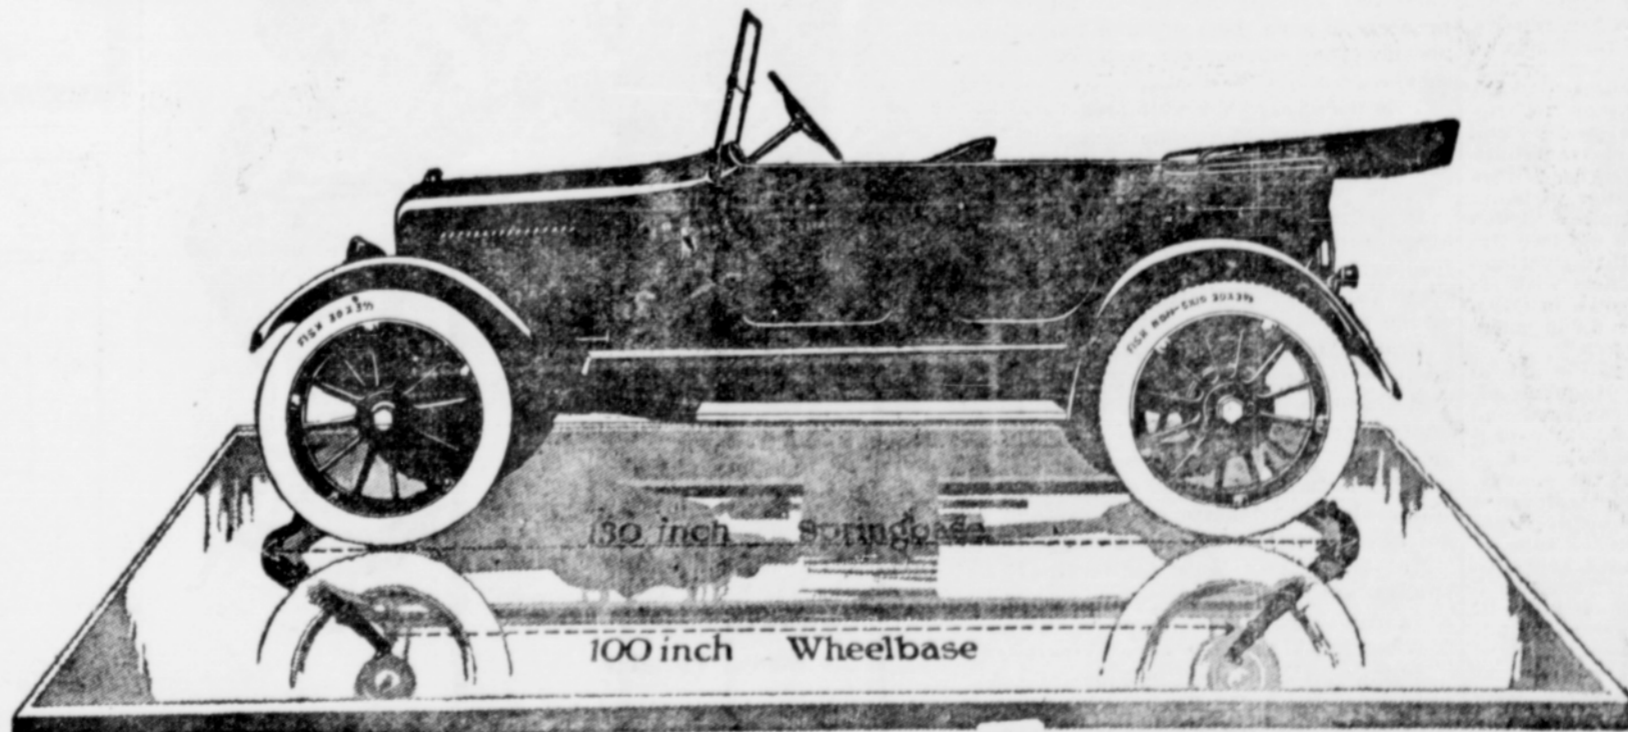

The springs of Overland 4 attached at the ends of a 130-inch Springbase give the riding comfort and road steadiness heretofore possible only with cars of long wheelbase and great weight, yet Overland 4 retains the light weight and economy advantages of 100-inch wheelbase.

Three-Point Cantilever Springs protect the car from the hammering and wear of road blows. They lengthen its life and reduce upkeep costs.

Equipment of Overland 4 is dependable and complete from Auto-Lite Starting and Lighting to Tillotson Carburetor.

250,000 miles of test have made the strength and endurance of this car a matter of record.

See Overland 4 at the first opportunity. Ask for booklet. Overland 4 Touring, $845; Roadster, $845; Coupe, $1325; Sedan, $1375. Prices f. o. b. Toledo.
