Thinks People Sobering Up.

From January 1, 1919 to December 1, 1919, the United States government sold more than $124,000,000 of thrift and war savings stamps and treasury savings certificates, according to a report made by the Treasury Department to the War Loan organization of the Twelfth Federal Reserve district, Oregon, one of the states of the Twelfth district, not only led in the district, but was fifth among all states and territories of the union in the amount of securities purchased per capita. Sales for November throughout the country amounted to more than $8,000,000.

Because of the fact that sales of thrift stamps, war savings stamps and treasury savings certificates have increased each month for the last five months, War Loan officials are confident that the 1920 output of these securities will be far in excess of the 1919 sales.

"Slowly, but surely," said Farnsworth, "the people are sobering up from their post-war 'spending spree' and are saving their money. Many people, to be sure, are still spending their savings or investing them in 'wildcat stocks', but as Secretary Glass said in his annual report to congress, the thrift educational campaign the government has conducted throughout the year, and which it will conduct throughout 1920 in connection with the sales of war savings stamps and treasury savings certificates, has brought a still greater number of persons to their senses. Folks are beginning to wake up and ask themselves why the other fellow wants their liberty bonds and is willing to spend thousands of dollars advertising for them, and also why the fellow with oil stock is so anxious to trade his stock for liberty bonds."

Joke Would Be on Oregon.

The intention of the four and five per cent interest limitation measure initiated in Oregon is to supply farmers, home builders and merchants cheaper money.

Of course, it could hardly be expected that outside capital would come to Oregon for investment if it could get higher rates of interest elsewhere—it would be loaned elsewhere.

Home capital could get more investing in outside securities paying higher rates of interest.

Of course, savings banks could pay three and four per cent which they now pay to depositors.

It looks to us like a Russian proposition of Bolshevik origin and should be supplemented with a provision that the state printer be set to work grinding out Russian money.

PROPERTY RAPIDLY CHANGING HANDS

Portland, January 1, 1920.

Editor Outlook:—Everybody is selling property and everybody is buying. That is a good, healthy condition. The buyer has the best of it today for property is jumping up by leaps and bounds. Houses that sold a year ago for $2500 are today selling for $3500. People are selling their own property by merely placing a sign on it.

One young man sold his house at what he thought was a good price. He went out to get something better and found he could not duplicate the one he sold for $500 more. He was sick over his bargain that they sent him to the hospital. Brokers are buying everything they can lay their hands on.

Plans are prepared for 200 houses in Rose City and other additions likewise. Builders are scouring the city for cheap lots but they are on the jump also. People around Gresham will wake up some morning and find they have sold a good piece of acreage and home for half what it is worth. Everybody is looking for country homes. At the high cost of living in the city, men can't make ends meet at present wages and rents, and it takes a fortune to build a house.

SUBSCRIBER.

"Never Say Die!"

A benevolent old lady in one of the streets which still retain the red-brick houses of old-time New York looked out of her parlor window the other day and saw a man walking along the sidewalk, apparently in great dejection. There was something so pathetic and appealing in his manner that she took a dollar bill, put it in an envelope, and wrote on the envelope, "Never Say Die!" She slipped out of the house in the most casual manner and handed the envelope to the man as they passed. Next day the melancholy man called at her house and presented her with $10. "It's funny," he said, "you're the only one that backed that horse called Never Say Die."

The Difference.

The fundamental difference between a grain farm and a dairy farm is that on the former farm the essential soil elements are taken from the land, never to be returned, while on the latter, these elements in a great part are restored in the form of manure. The dairy cow and the kind of farming that goes with it has been the chief means in upbuilding depleted lands and maintaining those that are in a good state of fertility.—Western Farmer.

A good way to make a temporary storm door is not to take off the screen, but buy some heavy paper that is often used on the outside of houses and tack it to the outside of the frame, making a very simple and desirable storm door. In the spring it can be removed and the screen door will be in place for the fly season.—Western Farmer.

The Oregonian's annual New Year number was a splendid one, per full to overflowing with stories of Oregon's industries. Such papers mean much to the progress of the state as they advertise the industries of the locality and draw attention to the wonderful progress that the state is making along all lines.

The Washington County News-Times put out a splendid holiday number this year full of interesting articles and local items. The merchants of Forest Grove realize the importance of advertising as the many display advertisements show.

The 1920 issue of war savings stamps and treasury savings certificates is on sale now at all postoffices and banks, as the thrift stamps.

WHY THE ELECTRIC CLEANER?

There is really no comparison between the ease and thoroughness with which an Electric Cleaner removed dirt and the difficulty of sweeping.

True, one can clean rugs and carpets without an electric cleaner. A broom or carpet sweeper will brush up SOME of the dirt; and if you like the exercise and have plenty of time and strength a broom and a carpet beater will do the work after a fashion.

In the same way one can wash without soap. Water alone will remove some dirt if applied with enough "elbow grease."

But people use soap because it cleans more easily and better than water alone.

For the same reason people use Electric Cleaners because they clean more easily and far better than other methods.

Rose Bushes Should Not Be Pruned Until March.

Florists and rose fanciers of Portland and vicinity are warning rose growers that they should not prune their rose bushes until after the tenth day of March. Many people have been wondering what to do with the frozen shrubs. Limbs which were broken by the weight of the snow should be cut off below the break. Strong new shoots will grow in the spring and no damage will result from the severe pruning which is sometimes necessary after a freeze like that of last month.

A good strong spray in February, on both the bushes and the ground, is an excellent thing. February is the best month to kill fungus pests which do so much to keep the roses from attaining the heights of perfection.

"Life does not ask man what he wants. It demands of him, rather, what he can do and be and give."

To wait for life to bring gifts is usually to wait in vain. The best joys never come that way. They belong to striving and faithfulness, and they are warranted not to fade."

Berries Co-operative Industries.

The growing of berries and small fruits is a community industry that is upon a sound co-operative basis.

The family that owns a small tract of land near a cannery town has a ready income and sure employment.

Besides caring for their own crop they are sure of employment for all their spare time in other berry patches.

The only danger is from raising poor fruit for lack of proper cultivation and proper use of fertilizers.

Crops are increased enormously by high cultivation and for fertilizers—lime and sheep manure are recommended.

Twenty years experience in the Puyallup and Sumner district and in the Willamette valley proves this true.

Poultry and dairy cows can be handled to advantage in connection with small fruit growing as a good combination.

Government savings stamps will make the new year look brighter.
