BRODIE DECLINES TO RUN.

The Outlook records with regret the decision of Editor E. E. Brodie, of the Oregon City Enterprise, to not become a candidate for the republican nomination for secretary of state at the May primary election. He had been proposed by many friends and leading editors of the state.

Mr. Brodie is a man of prominence among the newspaper men of the state and well known and highly respected generally and is well qualified for the secretaryship if he should seek it.

We cannot help admiring his attitude, however, in basing his refusal on his conviction that his calling is in the newspaper field. He says:

"After long reflection, I cannot separate myself from a profession with which I have been connected since boyhood. The publishing of a newspaper, in my opinion, is of greater dignity and service than holding a public office. The true newspaper man may be tempted by visions of easier tasks and shorter hours, but if he is true to the calling of his own choosing, he will stick and resist the temptation to forsake a legitimate business wherein he should be a leader in influencing public opinion within the radius of his newspaper's circulation."

The Enterprise was established 54 years ago, and has been published continuously in Oregon City since 1866. Only two newspapers in Oregon are older.

The Enterprise is said to have the finest newspaper home in the state outside of Portland. Mr. Brodie has been connected with the paper for about 15 years. He says he expects to continue as its publisher and do his part in making Oregon a better state to live in for many years to come.

Work or Starve.

No one has yet invented a system by which we can consume a loaf of bread without having first produced it. If we all decline to produce food, we all starve. Divinely simple, isn't it?

A New Jersey farmer asks why should a producer of food be compelled to work 84 hours a week to feed another who works but 42 at much higher pay.

He suggests that if all farmers will agree to cut their acreage to one-fifth, they'll only have to work six hours and they'll get five times as much for their products.

But if the farmers produced only one-fifth the usual amount of food, there wouldn't be enough to go around.

And if the farmers were paid on a six hour basis with double pay for overtime, and the same thing applied to distributors, all the consumers could do would be to form a union and refuse to eat.

But a man must eat. Wherefore someone must labor as long as necessary to produce the required amount of food.

If one hundred men on an island agree to share and share alike, each man's income is just one one-hundredth of what they all produce. None of them can work less without cutting down his own resources. Of course the time would come, as someone has very aptly pointed out, when those who were fittest of foot and could alone catch the wild goats upon which the hundred lived, would demand more recompense and undoubtedly get it.

The farmer is now in the position of the fleet-footed goat chaser. He must not be irritated into striking for more pay and less work. But he could not be blamed for following example set on every side.

It is all very sad, but the plain truth is that we are approaching a point where our national production may be eclipsed by our national payroll. That would mean bankruptcy. Then it will be, work or starve.

OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL MERITS MUCH PRAISE

Mrs. C. O. Branson of Gresham, who is attending Oregon Normal school at Monmouth, has sent the Outlook the following letter concerning school activities:

Gresham is represented at the Normal school by six students. There are about 300 students in attendance, ten of whom are men. The faculty are the very best instructors. President Ackerman is a much beloved gentleman.

The recent snow storm caused an enforced vacation of two weeks besides the holidays. The snow fell to the depth of 26 inches and the temperature was 22 degrees below zero at one time.

Space forbids describing all the good things going on: the chapel lectures from the faculty, and other educators in the state, the literary societies, debates, glee club, parties and the movies. The Glee club is practicing an operetta, "The Yokohama Maid," to be given January 24, which promises a pleasurable evening.

The Halloween party was a most unique affair. We were piloted at the "sign of the pumpkin," and black cats, bats, witches, fortune tellers and wheels of fortune were very much in evidence. Even the family skeleton was brought out from the closet and stood ready to catch us.

A very high compliment was paid our Normal school recently, when a world-renowned singer said of all the colleges in the U. S. which she had visited, the Oregon Normal school and two other schools were the most notable for their enthusiasm.

The following stanza is from our Normal hymn:
Beloved school, we pray thou e'er may stand,
To guide aright our earnest teacher band.

That Oregon may see her future youth,
Imbued with wisdom and with truth,
Eternal truth.

TRAIL OF OATS LEFT BY MIDNIGHT VISITOR

Sherlock Holmes held that a criminal always leaves a clue behind him no matter how he plans to cover up every trace, but not many thieves leave as plain a trail as the one discovered by Mrs. S. R. Kitzmiller Monday morning leading from her granary.

Mrs. Kitzmiller says that for some time past she has been missing different articles from the granary but until Monday morning had no definite clue as to the robber. Yesterday morning, however, when she went to the granary, there was part of a sack of oats missing and plain as day a trickle of oats across the field and over the fence where it gradually grew larger as if the hole had been enlarged in some manner while the thief was climbing the fence. Mrs. Kitzmiller is said to be on the watch out for any prowlers and the next expedition to her granary is apt to be met with a shot gun and a dog.

A Want Ad costs only a few cents. Dollars in return.

HON. BURTON E. SWEET.

Representative Sweet, Republican, of Iowa, is author of the bill recently enacted by Congress, awarding an additional $80,000,000 per year to disabled soldiers. Under the Sweet bill, which was endorsed by the American Legion, totally disabled service men who formerly received only $30 a month will receive $80, with liberal additional allowances for their wives, children and dependent parents. This is a notable piece of "soldier legislation" and has made the New Year bright in thousands of patriotic homes.

FAIRVIEW

Mrs. Jenkins Moore was called to Portland on Saturday to the bedside of her daughter, Mrs. O. Downing, formerly of this vicinity but now living at Amboy, Washington. Mrs. Downing underwent a serious operation on Saturday evening at a Portland hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Burlingame and daughter Edna spent the weekend with Mr. Burlingame's brothers, Edgar and George, at Kelso, Washington.

Mrs. James Burlingame has been quite sick but is slowly improving.

The Fairview Parent-Teacher association will give an entertainment tomorrow evening at the city hall, when a program and games will be enjoyed.

Services will be held at the Fairview church next Sunday evening, when the Rev. Boudnot Seeley of Portland will preach.

L. H. Stone spent Farmers' Week at O. A. C., studying the latest developments in potatoes. Mr. Stone was one of the few growers in Multnomah county who succeeded in producing seed potatoes last year.

The Women's society of the Fairview church will meet with Mrs. D. W. McKay next Thursday afternoon. Devotional exercises will begin at 2 o'clock and will be followed by the discussion of plans for 1920. A short musical program and social hour will be enjoyed and refreshments will be served, in connection with which a silver offering will be taken for women's work. All women of the community are invited. They are asked to bring their thimbles.

PLEASANT HOME

Mrs. Idelle Wilhon went to Tacoma Saturday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Lane, who is ill with appendicitis.

Wednesday afternoon, January 14, the Methodist Ladies' Aid will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Morrison. As this is the last meeting of the Aid before the departure of Mrs. I. N. L. Shriner for her new home, a large attendance is desired.

The Sunshine club and Mrs. Van Fleet's juniors won the collection and attendance banner respectively last Sunday. The Sunshine club plans to win them both next Sunday.

Miss Nellie Gossett, of Mabery, was pleasantly surprised Saturday evening when 38 friends gathered at her home. The surprise was complete and everyone had a delightful evening after which refreshments were served.

ARMY GOODS ARE SOLD IN GRESHAM CITY HALL

Chalked signs on the sidewalks of the town announce that army goods are on sale at the city hall. D. G. Geddes and Wm. Thom are in charge of the consignment which arrived in Gresham Saturday. Included in the lot are 1100 pounds of bacon, 50 cases of tomatoes, a large number of packages of Safety matches and a quantity of chocolate candy.

In order to give every one a chance no more than two sides of bacon will be sold to a customer at one time. The bacon will be sold in the piece. All these articles will be sold at army regulation prices.
