DEATH OF A. RUPERT.

The announcement last Saturday of the death of A. Rupert, head of the A. Rupert & Co., cannery system, gave a painful shock to the many in this locality who during the past few years had learned to know him in connection with the canning industry here. Even before Mr. Rupert, by lease, gained control of the Gresham cannery, he was regarded as one of the best authorities on the marketing of fruit and his advice was often sought. He had for a number of years been in close touch with this district, knew its possibilities and encouraged its development.

When the war caused almost unlimited demand for canned products, Mr. Rupert saw his opportunity and was prepared to enlarge the plans already started to meet the changing conditions. Mr. Rupert was especially successful in looking after the selling end of the business. He was also fortunate in the selection of his assistants so that his canneries were carefully and successfully managed. All who met Mr. Rupert personally found him an amiable gentleman and estimable friend, one whom it was a pleasure to meet and to know. Mr. Rupert's health condition, it is stated, had been such for some time that he had foreseen the necessity of turning his affairs over to trained associates. There will be, it is said, no material change in the plans and work of the company.

GOVERNMENT SEEDS WILL BE SENT ON REQUEST

Representative McArthur has been notified by the Department of Agriculture that several thousand packages of vegetables and flower seeds are ready for distribution among his constituents in Multnomah county and he announces that these seeds will be sent only upon specific requests from individuals or organizations.

Congressional seed allotments are smaller than usual this year and Mr. McArthur feels that he should not attempt general distribution among the people of his district but should supply only those who request seeds and who will make use of them. He will be glad to supply reasonable quantities of both vegetable and flower seeds to any resident of Multnomah county and will send larger quantities to schools and organizations interested in gardening. He will also be glad to supply lists of Farmers' Bulletins and to forward such publications as may be selected from these lists.

All communications relating to seeds and publications allotted to the Third Oregon Congressional District should be addressed to C. N. McArthur, 486 House Office Building, Washington, D. C. Seed distribution will be made about March 1.

A house is built of brick and stone,
Of sills and posts and piers;
But a home is built of loving deeds
That should stand a thousand years.

PRIZE OFFERED FOR PLATFORM.

Through the Republican National committee, Mr. Truxtun Beale, former United States Minister to Persia and an ardent republican who has the best interests of his party at heart, offers cash prizes aggregating $10,000 for the best platform suggestions by young republicans in the country.

His offer has been formally accepted by Chairman Will H. Hays, of the National committee, and the contest will open at once and close March 31, 1920.

A first prize of $6,000 will be given for the best manuscript received; $3,000 for the second best and $1,000 for the third.

Mr. Beale's original proposal contemplated opening the competition to graduates of colleges but he waived this limitation upon the suggestion of Chairman Hays that more good would result by opening the competition to all young men and women under 25 years of age.

The object of the contest is to get the young voters of the country to thinking about the great issues which confront this country at the present time.

The Republican National committee will have charge of the contest and the following men who were suggested by Mr. Beale will act as judges, Dr. David Jayne Hill, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, and the Hon. Albert J. Beveridge.

The contest will be known as the Walker Blaine Beale contest, in memory of Mr. Beale's son who was killed in the service. The rules are as follows:

1 Submit four typewritten copies of your manuscript. Sign only one. Write on one side of the paper.
2 Manuscripts must not exceed six thousand words.

3 Send all manuscripts to Walker Blaine Beale Contest, Division of Young Voters, Republican National committee, 923 Woodward Bldg., Washington, D. C.

4 All manuscripts must be in judges' hands not later than March 31, 1920.

5 Announcement of prize winners will be made prior to the opening of the Republican National Convention in 1920.

The North American Review, at Mr. Beale's suggestion, has been given the right of first publication of any manuscript passed upon by the judges.

EMPLOYEES BUY GOODS AT COST.

In order that the men and women working in its plants may be aided in reducing the present cost of living, the Ford Motor company has established three stores from which groceries and other necessities are sold at cost. One store is located at the Ford Blast Furnace where 15,000 are employed, one at the Fordson Tractor Plant where approximately 5,000 work and one at the parent plant in which 55,000 are now engaged.

In the main store in the Ford factory, the stock consists of a line of staple groceries, medical supplies, work-men's clothing, and meats. The stores are organized along the cash-and-carry plan and the customers bring their baskets to save the expense of wrapping the articles. Expense is held to a minimum. Customers enter one door, pass along the counter, choose their articles, pay for them and leave through another door. While the saving varies, it averages easily from eight to twenty per cent. The stores were created especially to reduce the present cost of necessities to Ford employees but no customers who are not Ford workers have yet been turned away.

Carload quantities of foodstuffs are often secured at great savings, and then special sales are held. The first pig sale ever held in the Ford factory resulted in a sale of more than 35,000 pounds of pork in one day. Many workers bought halves and quite a few bought whole pigs at a saving of about fifteen per cent of the market price. Special sales of beef, chickens, bacon, ham, apples and other commodities are handled in like manner. Each Thursday during the past ten weeks, carloads of fresh ocean fish have been received from the Atlantic coast by express and sold at ten cents a pound. From forty to eighty thousand pounds are disposed of at each sale.

GEN. LEONARD E. WOOD

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

From time to time people ask, "What has been the administrative and business experience of Leonard Wood? What has been his experience with men outside of the army? What does he know about conditions in the different parts of the United States and in our overseas possessions? Has he any thorough knowledge of foreign affairs and of our foreign relations?"

The administrative qualities of Leonard Wood have been tested and proved. No American living has been tried more thoroughly than he in complex fields of constructive civil work, administrative work of the highest order which carried with it the necessity for the exercise of keen business acumen.

The republic of Cuba, built upon firm democratic foundations, is a monument to the administrative ability of Leonard Wood. In the Philippines is to be found another monument to his statesmanship.

Leonard Wood graduated in medicine from Harvard University in 1884 and served for more than a year in one of the great hospitals, later to take charge of the charity departments in a section of the city of Boston where the poor lived.

Not long after the completion of Wood's work in Boston he became an assistant surgeon in the army, coming into contact with the western plainsman, the miner, the people generally, and giving much of his time to the work of assisting the Indians and to a study of the problems of irrigation and reclamation.

Then for Leonard Wood there came four years in California. He covered the state many times in pursuance of his duties and extended his field as occasion required into the states of the Northwest. Then for two years he was in service in the South, having headquarters in Georgia.

From the South Leonard Wood went to the city of Washington, where his work brought him into daily contact with Grover Cleveland. Then he had the same intimate relations with William McKinley and the men of his time.

Then came the Spanish war and the active campaign in Cuba as the colonel of the regiment of rough riders of which Theodore Roosevelt was the lieutenant colonel.

At the close of the Spanish war Leonard Wood's supreme administrative duties began. He was made the governor of the city of Santiago and a few weeks later of the entire eastern half of Cuba.

Under Wood profiteering was abolished, industry was built up, agriculture rehabilitated, hospitals organized, equipped and maintained, tens of thousands of people clothed and fed—and all this done in a thorough businesslike manner. It was done under tribulations which arose from the fact that the people were impoverished to the point of starvation and had been dying by thousands for the lack of the things which Wood quickly provided.

Then there came the rehabilitation of the municipalities, the establishment of schools, the opening of roads, the organizing of government in the provinces, the readjustment of taxation and of the courts, and the work of providing for the thousands of children made orphans by war or famine.

There was more business and more varieties of it than it has been the lot of many men ever to have placed upon their shoulders.

Not long after this there came the greater opportunities in Havana. It was necessary to re-write the election laws to make them fit the habits of the people. Production had to be stimulated, for agriculture was the main source of the island's wealth. Here again the same measures were followed and as a result there were established law and order, protection of life and property, and liberty within the law.

These were the foundation stones.

Wood knew that the government must be run by the Cubans, and so 90 per cent of the officials engaged in the great work of reconstruction were selected from the people of the island. The Cubans were taught government while the government was being built and thus they were able to run it when the rule of the island was turned over to its inhabitants.

When it became necessary to reorganize the Cuban railroads Wood secured the services of Sir William Van Horne, president of the Canadian Pacific, and of Granville M. Dodge, builder of the Union Pacific.

The same general policy was followed in dealing with the problem of caring for the tens of thousands of orphans that had been left by the war. Homer Folks, commissioner of charities of the state of New York, was called to Cuba by Wood to aid in the establishment of a system for placing and permanently caring for these little desolates. Chief Justice White of the Supreme court of the United States, at that time an associate justice, was consulted as to the method to be pursued in reorganizing the courts.

The administrative career of Leonard Wood is spread upon the records of his country. The work which he has done is lasting. It is a statesman's work.
