An orchardist living at The Dalles recently marketed a single motor-truck load of cherries at the cannery for $900.

RISKS HER BEAUTY IN BLAZING PLANE

Again American inventive brains have stepped forth to eliminate one of the most dangerous factors of flying. Fireproof airplanes and fireproof suits for the aviators is the invention of P. E. Bradley. This shows the famous stage star, Ann Pennington, who risked her beauty in a fire test at Atlantic City, N. J., when with suit in flames and plane ablaze she went into the air and let the fire burn itself out.

The longest orchard in the world is that of the Dufur Land and Orchard company, seven miles from The Dalles. It is nine miles in length, occupies 5000 acres and is mostly apples.

WANTED: A NAME.

By WALTER RAMSER.
From different sources it has been not only suggested but urged upon me to act as reporter, or rather as an excuse of a reporter, of our district for the Outlook. So here we are, ready to cuss and discuss the local and other news, yet my constant endeavor shall be to eliminate all gossip, so far as it be possible. With some aid from friends and neighbors I am sure we can put our neighborhood on the social map of northwest Oregon, equal to Fairview, Powell Valley and others.

But now the question arises: What name shall this district bear? The immediate territory to be covered would comprise the north half of Union school District No. 26, i. e. that portion north of the Boring-Damascus road, and the south part of Hillsview school district, or all of Hillsview district which is located in Clackamas county. But none of the immediately available names are appropriate, Damascus and Boring are not within our limits; naming it Hillsview or Union would for obvious reasons be equally inappropriate, and as I do not feel justified to off-handedly select a name of my own liking without consulting the neighbors, therefore I shall advertise for a name in the following manner: Every member of every family within the above described district, i. e. north half of Union and south half of Hillsview, who is a subscriber to the Outlook, (paid-up, of course) may send or hand me in writing a name thought appropriate, the paper to be signed by the one suggesting the name. One dollar is offered as a prize for the one suggesting the most appropriate name, the writer to be the judge, as he offers the prize. The contest closes ten days after publication of this offer. Any one who hands me a year's subscription before the contest closes may put in his vote, as well as every one in his or her family or home. No prize will be awarded unless ten or more votes are sent in, limiting one vote to one person. If, per chance, no name suggested seems appropriate, then I will take a name of my own choice, but the dollar will be divided between four students of any high school or public school, who have sent in names. A secretary is already engaged to take care of all communications and subscriptions. For further information write to Walter Ramser, Boring, R. 3, Box 157, or call up Damascus 56.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hoffmeister, the newly weds, are back from their honeymoon.

Miss Pauline Heacock intends spending the summer in Gresham with her mother.

Arthur Gran is working in eastern Oregon.

Everybody's doing it, making hay. Ramsers finished putting in their hay last Saturday. Richard and Joe Bell assisted.

Mrs. Weddeler and family came near having a serious accident the other week. They were leisurely costing down Hogan hill in their Maxwell Mrs. Weddeler and Jake DeYoung riding in front, and her two daughters, the Mesdames DeYoung behind. When making the sharp curve near the bottom of the hill, a big powerful car with a Washington state license speeded directly toward them. Mr. DeYoung, who was driving the Maxwell could not turn further to the right without going over the embankment, so all he could do was to set the brakes and await results. The other machine hit the Maxwell with considerable force throwing Mrs. Weddeler into the windshield, and all but throwing one of the DeYoung ladies out over the door. Mrs. Weddeler was badly shaken and somewhat bruised. She was laid up for several days, this accident renewing the effects of a nervous breakdown, caused by a more serious accident a number of years ago. The big car merrily went its way unharmed, but the Maxwell was taken to town, evidently in great distress.

The new owners of the Northagel place are naming their new home Friedheim Farm. (pronounced Freed-hime). Many old sheds and trash have been cleaned away, with more to follow.

Between farming, Ramsers are preparing to build a new house 36x25, bungalow style, with gambrel roof, and full basement. Diversified farming will be followed, with dairying the principle line. In time thoroughbred Brown Swiss stock will be raised exclusively.

Mrs. Arthur Heacock sprained her ankle the other day, but is again able to be about.

Richard and Joe Bell helped put up silage on the White Rose dairy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich were callers at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Henry Hoffmeister.

Most of us are in hopes that the schoolhouse site question is permanently settled. Only a few chronic kickers seem to delight in preventing the rest to get what they want.

After a long patient waiting Mr. Leadbury got his new Ford. He traded his old one in on it.

Electricity to the Rescue.
The "lectric Home" idea is to be nationalized. Today electric appliances can do the hardest part of the work in the home and have largely solved the servant problem by doing away with the necessity of help.

Housework has been made easier and cleaner and drudgery has been eliminated with electricity.

Necessity has always been the mother of invention and in house-keeping electricity has come to the rescue.

An increase of 15 per cent in business booked and a decrease of 5 per cent in shipments is reported by the West Coast Lumbermen's association for the week ending June 26.

DEMOCRATIC CONTROL FOR STATE CHAMBER

Subscribers to Budget Will Have Voice in Matter of Expenditures.

"After I have subscribed to the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, what part will I have in the organization?"

This question is frequently heard in connection with the State Chamber expansion movement now in progress.

The answer is that all subscribers will have a voice in saying how the money will be spent. By this and other methods the fundamental democracy of the organization is assured. Of course the Board of Directors,—to which every member is eligible,—will actually expend the funds of the organization; but they will be guided in their expenditures by the wishes of the subscribers.

To determine what the subscribers want the State Chamber to do, group meetings will be held in every center of population in the state, when all subscribers will be called together and asked to answer, in writing, the following questions:

1. What can the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce do to improve conditions of opportunities in your own line of business or profession?
2. What do you believe the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce should do to advance the interests of your own community?
3. What, in your opinion as a citizen, is the thing of first importance for the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce to do for the good of the state as a whole?

After these group meetings have been held under the direction of the executive committee in charge of the campaign, each district will select one representative to attend a convention with the officers and directors of the State Chamber, and the answers to the questions will be formulated into a program of activities designed to unite the entire state on definite tasks.

The program of work will also control expenditures. When work is started on this program the directors will follow their present practice of submitting questions of wide importance by means of referendum.

The Directors represent every city and county in the state. Representation on the Board is arranged geographically and not based on population. Eastern Oregon is represented by five Directors, Western Oregon by five, Multnomah County by two, and there are three at large; making a total of fifteen, which avoids the possibility of control by any one section.

To sum up: The State Chamber will do what the subscribers themselves say should be done. It will function through a Board of Directors elected by delegates and officers, including an executive secretary elected by the Board. Voting will be done by constituent members. Individual subscribers help make up the program of activities and carry them to completion through committee service.

FAIRVIEW

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Cady entertained with a lawn social for the benefit of the Women's society of the Smith Memorial church Friday evening. Electric lights and Japanese lanterns added to the beauty of the lawn. Music and games made the evening pass very pleasantly. A very large number were present but there was an abundance of ice cream and cake for all.

At Smith Memorial church it is planned during July and August to have the Sunday school and morning worship combined in one service. Singing, study in classes and the pastor's address will comprise the service.

POWELL VALLEY

The Luther League held its regular business meeting Sunday and elected Mrs. Robt. Palmblad, Miss Lilly Nelson, Miss Myrtle Anderson, and John Unis as delegates to the young people's convention which meets in Portland the last of October. A program committee, consisting of Mrs. Mabel Staffenson, Miss Myrtle Anderson and Richard Staffenson was elected to serve for six months.

Misses Myrtle Anderson and Della Zimmerman, of Portland, spent the week-end visiting home folks.

An enjoyable meeting of the Luther Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sward last Thursday. Refreshments were served on the lawn.

The picturesque Indian has been outdone at his own original industry of making blankets. Navajos of the Pendleton vicinity are dressing almost exclusively in blankets manufactured by the Pendleton Woolen Mills. While unsurpassed in its field as a rug, the native Navajo weave is too heavy for a body covering, and is being discarded by the red men in favor of the machine-made article. Pendleton blankets have won a reputation throughout the world. Patterns used in the blankets, modeled after the Indian design, are as distinctive as those of the Orient or ancient Egypt.

Worn out carpets or woolen goods of any kind can now be converted into rugs of any desired weave by the Northwest Rug company of Portland, which has just added to its equipment the latest and most efficient machines in the market. Many of the hotels and theaters of the city have been supplied with rugs by this factory, an order of 300 rugs for Welsler, Idaho, has just been filled, and a large number of mail orders is being received from points as far distant as Hawaii and Alaska.

The new plant of the Oregon Pulp and Paper company, under construction in Salem, is expected to be in operation in about two months. It will be one of the most modern paper manufacturing plants in the country. F. W. Leadbetter is president of the company and Joseph Kaster manager.

The eyes of many eastern visitors, who had thought of Oregon only as an agricultural state, were opened during the convention by the displays of Oregon-made articles in Portland store windows. Particularly fine displays were made of confectionery and woolen goods.

A new industry is assured Klamath Falls in the incorporation there of the Klamath Pipe Manufacturing company. Capital stock is $150,000.

WHY THE ELECTRIC CLEANER?

There is really no comparison between the ease and thoroughness with which an Electric Cleaner removed dirt and the difficulty of sweeping.

True, one CAN clean rugs and carpets without an electric cleaner. A broom or carpet sweeper will brush up SOME of the dirt; and if you like the exercise and have plenty of time and strength a broom and a carpet beater will do the work after a fashion.

In the same way one can wash without soap. Water alone will remove some dirt if applied with enough "elbow grease."

But people use soap because it cleans more easily and better than water alone.

For the same reason people use Electric Cleaners because they clean more easily and far better than other methods.
