OUTLOOK FORCE ENJOYS SCENIC HIGHWAY TRIP

orchards and fields stretch out for miles and miles nearly to the snow line on the south and on the north down to the bluffs and in some places nearly to the river.

Hood River, the town, looks like a small paradise.

We had no time to stop long and there were many other views of the valley from time to time but none so beautiful as from the point near the Grand View summer home.

There were no falls on the Washington side of the river but the streams have cut their way down to nearly the level of the Columbia and have left deep gorges through which they race, white with foam to where they empty into the Columbia.

It would take a book to tell of all the wonderful places and views which are seen from the Evergreen highway and the kodak enthusiasts in our crowd couldn't take a tenth of the scenes they wanted.

From Cooks to Stevenson the road runs along the river grade and is more nearly like the highway on the Oregon side of the river. The scenery is different however and for some reason, unexplained by our party, the river seemed to be wider than from the Oregon side. Perhaps it was the fact that the road was lower and the setting sun was lighting up the river with golden lights.

By the time Stevenson was reached it was growing dark and the Outlook force was fortunate in being in time for the last ferry across from Stevenson to Cascade Locks.

The little ferry that took the two Outlook cars and another machine across the river wasn't just as solid and safe as many of the party would desire but we reached the shore in safety and after a short wait while the evening passenger train and a freight train passed at the siding, we got back on the paved road and headed for home. It was then near 9:30 p. m. and after a short stop in Cascade Locks to give the engines a drink of water and to measure the gasoline, everything being in fine shape, we started for home.

The evening was perfect and all enjoyed the quiet ride in the soft evening air.

A stop was made at Waukeena falls for a late supper and then the party continued the homeward stretch.

We arrived in Gresham about 12 p. m. and the speedometers indicated about 150 miles each.

Those making the trip were: Mr. and Mrs. H. L. St. Clair, and daughter Margaret, Miss Emma Johnson, Miss Rica Anderson, Miss Evelyn Metzger, Mrs. Margaret Cain, Mrs. Alta Gentry, Oliver Stromquist, Al Hill, and Chase St. Clair.

Kino Sakinada was 30 years old and lived at Gresham, Oregon. Her two children had gone to Japan for education in their native philosophy and her husband had died. WHY THE ELECTRIC CLEANER?

There is really no comparison between the ease and thoroughness with which an Electric Cleaner removed dirt and the difficulty of sweeping.

True, one CAN clean rugs and carpets without an electric cleaner. A broom or carpet sweeper will brush up SOME of the dirt; and if you like the exercise and have plenty of time and strength a broom and a carpet beater will do the work after a fashion.

In the same way one can wash without soap. Water alone will remove some dirt if applied with enough "elbow grease."

But people use soap because it cleans more easily and better than water alone.

For the same reason people use Electric Cleaners because they clean more easily and far better than other methods.
