MOTORLUST CASTS A SPELL

The country generally, and especially the Pacific coast, has now reached the height of the touring season and reports from all over the country indicate that the present season eclipses all previous years. Never before have so many cars crowded the open roads or so many gallons of gasoline and oil been burned up or so many tires been worn to a frazzle by so many people in trying to satisfy the spell of the wanderlust.

What does it mean? It means that the American people are eager for knowledge and enjoyment. They want to see and know this wonderful U. S. A. Some day it will be possible to start from anywhere, go a thousand miles and back on a ten-day trip over hardsurfaced roads and enjoy all the comforts of travel and the delights of the finest scenery in the world.

This we believe will have its psychological, its physical and moral effect, resulting in benefit to everyone. It will lead to more contentment and knowledge; it will help to develop healthier bodies, and tend to make people more neighborly, considerate and upright.

EDITORS URGE SAVING.

United States Senator McNary attended the editorial convention at Astoria and addressed the newspaper men on the shortage of news print and told what congress is trying to do to help out the country publishers in the present trying circumstances.

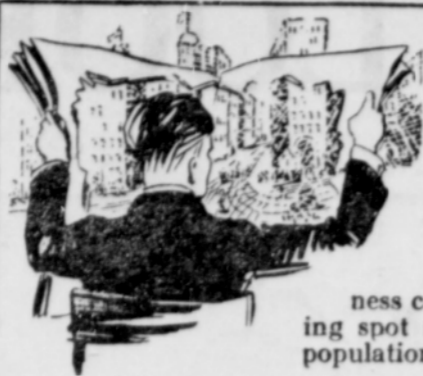

The convention of editors and publishers passed the following resolution: Whereas, the reckless waste of paper on the part of the metropolitan press in printing useless Sunday editions of enormous proportions has been a heavily contributing factor in the prevailing shortage of news print, and

Whereas, even the daily newspapers in the smaller communities have been offenders to a lesser degree, therefore be it Resolved, that the Oregon State Editorial association recommends that all newspapers exercise the utmost conservation in the use of news print, and especially do we recommend the curtailment of the great Sunday and Saturday editions of the city newspapers, and be it further Resolved, that the Congress of the United States should enact a law limiting the pages of Sunday newspapers to 60, and of daily newspapers to 24, and be it further

Resolved, that Congress amend the Lever act to include newsprint paper under its provisions, and be it further Resolved, that Congress should appropriate funds necessary for research, study and experimentation into a different method of making paper, with a view of finding a substitute for wood pulp.

If it wasn't speculation something else, doubtless, would send sugar prices up.

The editor spent a day on Mount Hood, the next day at Astoria and a day at Seaside. He has not yet sufficiently recovered to be able to write up his observations and experiences.

KNOW YOUR TOWN

We're proud of our town and county.

It is a humming business center and a natural trading spot for a very much larger population.

It is the normal nerve center for a wide and rich farming country—and it is fast adding to its importance as an industrial community.

Our stores, shops and business organizations are equipped with all that is necessary to the best service—but telling you about the advantages that are here isn't quite getting it across.

You'll never know how good this community of ours is until you study its growth and development, week after week—fifty-two weeks in the year.

There is only one correct way to do that. It is to read the news, editorial and advertising columns of the town's leading newspapers—THIS NEWSPAPER.

Every week in the year this newspaper places at your door interesting, instructive and profitable information—news both in editorial and advertising columns which can mean DOLLARS AND CENTS to you.

And all for less than 3 cents per week.

It's a HOME PAPER for this town and community of ours.

It is a part of YOU.

If we haven't your name—subscribe today.

GOOD NATURE AND GOOD-FOR-NOTHINGNESS.

The following preachment by our good friend Dr. C. E. Cline was not written for the Outlook but appeared in the Oregonian. It is such a classic that we want all our readers to get the benefit of it (as, of course, but few of them would see it in the Oregonian). It is as follows:

The good-natured man is as divine as the sunshine. Good nature is the lubricant of human affairs. Oiling the machinery of the auto is as indispensable as turning on the gasoline. But the good nature that comes of good-for-nothingness, love of ease or to avoid trouble is a spurious coin. Indolent good nature not only gets nowhere, but is the direct cause of countless bad things.

When a great journalist, whom the reader probably knew, was asked by the writer the secret of success in his profession, he said: "Industry and ugliness."

An old Kentuckian once described a popular preacher: "He's the finest preacher you ever heard; but a boss thief could set under his preachin' and not be uncomfortable."

Inestimable as is good nature, it is a dangerous quality in the average man, and more so in a woman.

EDITOR LAUGHS AT HOODOO.

The story is told on Editor Cleveland of the Stanfield Standard that he arrived in Astoria last Friday night to attend the recent editorial convention, not reserving a room before hand. All the hotels and rooming houses were full. At last a room was found for him over the undertaking parlors. "The 13th annual convention on Friday the 13th and I sleep in the morgue," mused the editor. But he was lively as ever the next day.

Speaking of the five per cent tax limitation measure, the Astoria Budget says that, if passed, it will do irreparable damage to the state and to every industry, business and person in it. Cheap money, it says, is something newspapers would like to have but they do not want to get it at the cost of the wrecking of their own business along with those of many other lines. The promise of the measure is a snare and a delusion. It would ruin the very people it proposes to help.

An un instructed delegate may come to be regarded with attention as one of the wise.

The dark horse is favored by the fact that the early boom encounters the hardest knocks.

CHURCH RECONSTRUCTION.

"The rural church needs reconstruction if it is to meet the competition of the picture show, the motor vehicle and the jitney dance," says an exchange. Very true. There is need of consolidation of resources and effort along certain definite lines to meet larger community needs in these days when all the world is awirl. Conservation, construction and concentration should be applied to christianity in church conduct.

To Our Friends and Patrons.

All parties wanting wood sawed will do well to have it done as soon as possible and avoid the rush later on. We guarantee satisfaction, prompt service, even lengths. Thanking one and all for past favors we are at your service.

OREGON TO THE FRONT

Astoria claims the largest fresh water harbor in the world.

The Columbia river basin is said to possess the greatest power potential of any known river system.

If the Oregon citizen, when he goes to the store to buy anything, would say, "I want an Oregon product if I can get it, if not I want a Pacific coast product," it would help a whole lot to develop home industries.

Hood River will celebrate on Labor day, September 6, the completion of the Columbia river highway in Hood River county, particularly honoring Simon Benson through whose munificence and efforts the county was able to meet the heavy cost of the highway construction. The highway to Hood River is a beautiful and easy drive which everyone should make.

Oregon-made candies have a nation-wide reputation. Hoeder's centennials, manufactured in Astoria, have not only made a fortune for their originator but are accepted everywhere as one of the best confections made. There are a thousand other good things made in Oregon that should be bought by Oregonians.

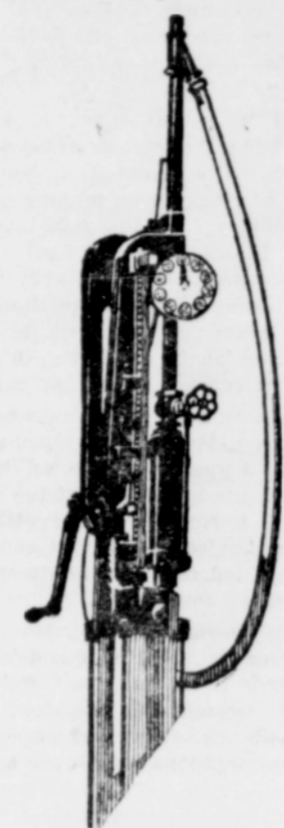

A strike never seems too expensive in spite of high living costs.

Symbols of war have nearly all passed. For example, shoes built on comfortable lasts.

It doesn't take a very big piece of meat in these days of housebreakers to bribe the dog.
