"THE GOSPEL TRUTH."

In the "Oregon to the Front" column the Outlook is running a feature which is somewhat original and is largely the expression of the editor's pent up convictions and emotions relative to disseminating information and arousing enthusiasm regarding the needs, resources and opportunities of Oregon.

"Oregon to the Front" means the home locality to the front. It means the individual citizen to the front. It means putting the premium on what is nearest home and then striving to make it worthy of the top place everywhere and always.

GET THIS.

If you wanted to sell out a place of business and had a prospective buyer you wouldn't start in running it down, would you? Rather, you would boost its good points, wouldn't you? Why not maintain this boosting attitude all the time, for your home town and state as well as your individual business?

It isn't necessary to go farther west to find a new country to grow up in. Everywhere there is call for pioneer work. You can start something new right where you are or help get under an infant industry.

Hail to the women who have apparently won in their long uphill fight for national suffrage. The doubt cast on the result by the contest started in the last state to ratify (Tennessee) is only typical of the opposition they have had to overcome from first to last.

Because the largest livestock exposition building in the world is still not large enough to accommodate its Portland business, preparations are being made to build additions to the Pacific International structure in north Portland and ground is now being filled in for that purpose.

It is going to be harder than ever for the ultimate consumer to get soft coal.

TOWNLEY TALKS FOR CASH; CASH TALKS FOR TOWNLEY

When the Non-Partisan League invades Oregon in force, it will be to get the maximum of cash from Oregon farmers, and that cash will mostly be used in other states where the League is waging final battles for its continuance in power, says the Oregon Voter.

No post-dated checks are wanted from Oregon. Money is what talks with Townley nowready money that he can spend in a hurry.

Following is quoted from a Townley circular of instructions to workers just issued, and reveals his frantic need for cash money in a hurry: "Get a book of checks from your local bank. Use the form checks provided by the League as little as possible."

"Accept cash or cash checks in payment of memberships. Secure all the cash you can, but if it is impossible to secure checks, accept post-dated checks due not later than October 1, 1920."

"Encourage every man to give you a cash check. Your enemies fight with cash, not post-dated checks. Make all checks payable to the captain of your crew."

"On a separate slip of paper, write the names and addresses of all men who refuse to join the League, giving one reason for their refusal. This is very important and should not be neglected."

"After the completion of your work, send all checks, properly indorsed, together with your new report and list of all men who refused to join, to your county manager, who will issue and mail membership receipts to all members."

It will be remembered, says the Voter, that early in League history, post-dated checks were asked of farmers, and quite a talking point was made by the League solicitors of the fact that the cash was not needed. Often the checks were post-dated as far ahead as eight months. Then the League discounted the checks with friendly banks, and used the proceeds. But as League methods were exposed, and frenzied financial methods came to light, it became more and more difficult to get cash on the post-dated checks.

So now Townley wants the cash to play with right away, or at latest before the November election, so as to finance the frenzied campaigns the League is putting on in North Dakota, Minnesota, Montana, Idaho and Washington, where the League has nominees to elect in November if it can.

OREGON TO THE FRONT

While a large proportion of the woolen mills in the east are either shut down at the present time or running slack on account of lack of business, those near Portland are running their normal capacity and some maintaining double shifts, a report shows. Through the establishment of a local market it has been possible to recently develop a large yarn and knitting industry. As an experiment, direct trade with both South America and China has been opened up by an Oregon mill and it has been certain that these fields are practical, offer desirable business and that the mills on the coast hold advantages in reaching them.

Made-in-Tillamook products are to be played up at the county fair to be held in Tillamook in September. The exhibits will include the first Oregon products display shown in the coast town of this section.

From Montana, Utah, Arizona, Nevada and Alaska came buyers last week to stock up from Portland houses. Registration, which was over 1000 on the second day, broke all previous records.

An increase of over $14,000 in business over that of last year was taken in by the Springfield creamery, figures show. Total receipts amounted to $78,000.

Pulpwood will be sold from the Alaskan National Forests with such provisions for future supply as will assure the premanence of the industry.

CHILDREN'S STORY

The Clover and the Bumble Bee. Part III.

"The Mother Bee," said the little Green Man, "Works hard away as ever she can; Finds a hole in the ground to lay her eggs, Then flies to the clover and kindly begs

For a bit of pollen and nectar sweet So that her babies may have to eat. She buries it snug in a waxen nest And the baby bees think it is the best of anything, ever! Then they grow up, And roll in the heart of a clover cup. And so begins life all over again Helped by the sun, the wind, and the rain."

"The Elf Man is a very knowing little fairy," said the Bumble. "I am very much obliged to him. Some time I may be of help to his children and hum a song about them. Who knows?"

The Elf Man drew himself up on his tiny toes. "I am a bachelor elf, madam," he said with dignity. "That is a ma-lady which time can cure. Oh, a pun, a pun! I didn't mean to make it, but it slipped out," and Madam Bumble went off into hums of laughter. As she buzzed thro' the garden she sang this song:

"Bumble, bumble, o'er the lea Salls the merry bumble bee. Never kill a bumble bee— For I make red clover grow, And 'tis clover, as you know, That makes you so swift and strong. Eyes so bright and limbs so long. For the cow likes clover, too, And she gives sweet milk for you. When at meals you drink it up Play it's in a clover cup."

—By Cecilia Reynolds Robertson. (To be continued.)

According to government estimates it is believed that a complete exploration of the national forests in southern Alaska will show that there is a quarter of a million horse power of undeveloped water power possibilities.

This town in 1945 WHAT about this town and country twenty-five years from now? The answer is in your and my act of today. As we practice civic pride today, so will it be reflected in the GROWTH of our community a quarter of a century hence. The practice of civic pride is more than the mere boasting of our community's present assets. It is mostly in the active support of the public and BUSINESS institutions now here—that they may develop and GROW. Popular subscriptions to any worthy cause—whether for charity or some big municipal improvement—is all mighty fine—never to be frowned upon. But there is a more stable method. That method is in the simple little everyday act of buying ALL our goods at home—patronizing our home merchants. A community thrives and grows as its business institutions grow. No business man with vision enough to build up a successful business, is so selfish but that he will throw his prosperity right back into the life and development of his community. It may be in the erection of a big business structure—it may be in helping finance some new business enterprise which will afford labor for many more workmen—it may be in the enlargement and development of his own business—offering higher trading selection—abreast the rest of the world. If we send or take the money we earn here to some other center for trading, pleasure, or investment—we cannot expect our community to grow—we cannot expect our own earning power HERE to increase. Let's all start training our cash into HOME-SPENT DOLLARS.
