ANTI-COMPULSORY VACCINATION.

The voters of Oregon are asked to amend the state constitution by adding to Article XV, the following section:

"Section 9. No form of vaccination, inoculation, or other medication shall be made a condition in this state for admission to or attendance in any public school, college, university, or other educational institution; or for the employment of any person in any capacity, or for the exercise of any right, the performance of any duty, or the enjoyment of any privilege.

"All provisions of the constitution and laws of this state and of the charters and ordinances of all cities, towns, municipalities or counties therein, in conflict with this amendment, are hereby repealed."

This is known as the "anti-vaccination amendment." The voter is asked to consider that it is an amendment to the state constitution, which repeals all existing health laws and ordinances. If it should pass it would be a calamity. It doesn't apply merely to small-pox vaccination.

The Oregonian points out that the intent of the amendment is, on its face, to prohibit a requirement that any form of medication be made a prerequisite for attendance at school, or for acceptance in employment, or for going about one's business. If the amendment means what it says the leprosy and the syphilitic may prepare our food without restraint, children afflicted with measles or chicken pox or scarlet fever or small pox may not be prevented from attending school; women detained at the Cedars for medication could demand release to spread disease, the hygienic marriage law would become unconstitutional and the health and well-being of the community would suffer in other ways.

The sponsors for the proposed amendment say the bill was not intended to mean all of this. Then we say it is doubly dangerous and should be defeated at the poll on November 2.

The state board of health says that under the guise of being an anti-vaccination measure, this law also seeks to abolish the administration of other prophylaxis and the examination of persons reasonably suspected of having dangerous venereal diseases. In fact, this measure seeks the destruction of many beneficial scientific discoveries which have been a boon to mankind since medical science has proven their worth. The state board of health thinks the saner, wiser, more careful voters will see fit to register a protest against any bill which would thus handicap state medical and health authorities in their fight against diseases which attack the citizens of our state and nation.

Franklin D's voice has about failed him and Governor Cox' voice is becoming a serious problem, it is said. No wonder considering what they've had to talk against.

IMPROVE THE ENTRANCE.

Both the city and the fair board should feel deeply chagrined over the fact that the entrance facilities to the fair grounds are so inconvenient. A narrow lane for autos, tractors, vehicles, livestock—everything—hardly permitting two to pass; a narrow five-foot sidewalk, on which crowds passing to and fro jostle pedestrians off the walk; wholly inadequate gate and ticket taking facilities, causing annoying delays, only one auto or vehicle being able to pass in or out at a time—this is the situation. Apparently little or no provision was made against the possibility of rain. Following a few showers the walks and drives became almost impassable.

The thousands of auto loads coming here from Portland and surrounding cities to view the second largest fair in the state, as well as all other visitors, should be given a safer, easier and more convenient entrance to the fair grounds. The time to begin such improvement is now, not when another fair is about to open.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

The Literary Digest of October 2 gives what is probably one of the most comprehensive surveys ever taken unofficially, covering industrial, agricultural, financial and political questions. The information was obtained by a prominent banking institution of Baltimore and is said to be from the most reliable informants in the various representative districts, in response to a list of about 36 queries. The information as published is classified under nine main territorial divisions of states.

Franklin K. Lane, ex-secretary of the interior, who is considered an expert in national diagnosis, gives a summary and analysis of these findings. He believes this survey is the best that can be gathered. He concludes that economically the United States is better off than any other country; there is plenty of work and plenty of raw material on hand; transportation conditions are improving; agriculture is in excellent condition generally; banking is on a sound footing with general deposits and savings accounts increasing.

Politically the survey reveals some very interesting conditions. The question was asked, How will your territory go? The answer for your compiled information is as follows: New England—Republican. Middle Atlantic—Republican. East North Central—Republican. West North Central—Republican. South Atlantic—Democratic. East South Central—Democratic. West South Central—Democratic. Mountain—Republican. Pacific—Republican.

The informants were given eight questions which they were asked to list in the order of their importance as bearing on the presidential vote in the various territorial divisions of states (see list above). The questions were as follows:

- 1 Foreign relations. 2 Industrial questions. 3 Prohibition. 4 High cost of living. 5 Taxation. 6 Dissatisfaction with present administration. 7 Railroad policy of present administration. 8 Radical movements.

It is significant to note that question 6 was placed first by six, namely the republican divisions, and fourth, fifth and seventh respectively by three, namely the democratic divisions. Two democratic divisions put question 4 as of first importance in influencing voters and the other democratic division puts question 1 as first.

Here is food for thought. It cannot be charged that there was any collusion or partisan manipulation permitted in the answers. Even Franklin K. Lane admits that the trend is and has been toward republicanism. The chief reason for this trend is given as dissatisfaction with the present administration, except in the states of the "solid south."

Another psychological moment has arrived. Another letter from the president addressed, "My Fellow Countrymen." May I not, etc.

FAIRVIEW

Smith Memorial church is planning its social activities for the winter. The Women's societies will give a social tea on Thursday afternoon, October 14, at the home of Mrs. Wm. Sales. On Friday evening of this week a lecture in the church on his impressions of Europe. Dr. Benson spent two months in France visiting the places made famous by the war. He is a most interesting speaker and will tell of the wonderful work of reconstruction which is being carried on with great success. There will also be musical numbers on the program. No admission will be charged. The church is also planning to secure a manse so that Fairview may have a resident minister. A committee has been appointed to inquire as to any available property and also to ascertain the cost of building. This committee will report at the church next Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Vern Jackson and baby son, Clifford, of Condon, Oregon spent last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Shaw.

O. F. Cady made a business trip to Newberg, Monday.

Miss Fox, Portland librarian, visited Fairview recently in search of some one to take care of the library station, which had become non-existent. Mr. Cady consented to have the books placed in his store and Mrs. Cady was appointed custodian. Many new applicants have taken cards and are drawing books.

Fairview boys were fairly well represented last week among the prize winners at the county fair at Gresham.

Leslie St. Clair, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie St. Clair wears two blue ribbons, one for being the prettiest baby under one year, and the other for having the finest head of hair.

Clyde Peterson won a blue ribbon on his pen of White Leghorns, four pullets and one cockerel.

Julius Luscher stood first in club work on yearling calf and third in open class on the same.

John Fleming was first in club work on Chester White gilt and Chris Grassley won second prize.

Gilbert Wagner won the red ribbon for his Duroc-Jersey boar. William Butler had charge of the milk and butter fat testing, which was a 48-hour job.

The boys are enthusiastic for another year's work, as they feel well repaid both in credit and financially. We would suggest that the Fairview girls make an exhibit of housewifely skill or garden work the coming year. J. I. Mahaffey won second prize on pumpkins and because of their fine appearance sold every pumpkin entered as they were at once desired for seed.

SANDY BLUFF

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Adams and daughter, Nella, of Thayer, Kansas, visited several days of last week with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ault and family. Mr. Adams is the first man for whom Mr. Ault worked when a boy, and they have not met for over 20 years, so their visit was greatly enjoyed by both. Mr. Adams is so much pleased with Oregon that as soon as he can go back and dispose of his interests in Kansas he intends to locate here. Mrs. Alice Gage, of Gresham, is visiting a few days with Mrs. Wm. Caldo. She recently received the sad news of the death of a brother in Michigan.

POWELL VALLEY

The Lutheran Ladies' Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. Frans Mattson at 2 p. m. Thursday, October 14.

Storage battery repairing and recharging, starter and generator work. Raker & Son.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Ekstrand, of Albany, are guests this week at the home of Mr. Ekstrand's brother, C. A. Ekstrand of this place. Mrs. Myra Clark has returned from a visit to Satsop, Washington, where she was the guest of friends during the past two weeks. L. J. Hollenbeck visited with friends at Newberg during the forepart of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Campbell were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Rolfe, Wednesday evening.

J. F. Wing, of Lents, was looking after business matters in this vicinity one day this week.

The school board authorized the teachers to dismiss school Monday so that the children could take advantage of attending the fair at Gresham.

A. G. Sager, who recently bought the Martin Winch farm from T. P. Campbell, has moved in with his family.

Chas. Ericson of this place and a Mr. Anderson of Portland closed a deal last week whereby they acquired title to the F. W. Thebo place. J. H. Nolte's new bungalow is rapidly nearing completion.

Most everybody attended the fair at Gresham last week.

CEDAR AND VICTORY

The Victory school Parent-Teacher association will give a program Friday, October 15. The young girls of Pleasant Home Sunday school will give a repetition of the little play, "The Minister's Wife." There will be other numbers on the program and a small admission will be charged. Coffee and cake will be served after the entertainment.

Manufacturing rights on the Pacific Coast for a new stoker which automatically feeds the cheapest grades of coal screenings in the fire box of furnaces have been secured by the Portland Wire and Iron Works, which is now turning out this new product. The secret of the stoker is a worm that feeds from the hopper into the fire-box. It is particularly advantageous in apartment houses, hotels and industrial plants.

Boys and Dogs Wanted

Wednesday at 4 p. m. the GRESHAM THEATER will give a free show to all school girls, and to boys who bring their dogs. Dogs must be provided with chains or ropes.

PRIZES WILL BE GIVEN for the homeliest dog, handsomest dog, largest dog, and smallest dog. Boys who are unable to procure a dog of some kind will be charged regular admission.

Opening episode of the greatest screen serial.

"Lightning Brice"

Also the sparkling farce comedy "OH, BOY!" a Capellani picture with a rare kick.

Bronze bearings for motor trucks used in hauling marine, logging and sawmill machinery are among the products of the Northwestern Brass Foundry of Portland, which has also recently contracted to make special brass castings for milk condensers and vacuum tanks. The main product of the plant is bronze tablets and metal letters.

Notwithstanding these numerous known occurrences, the State Bureau of Mines is not aware that a single asbestos property in the state has been sufficiently developed that the Bureau can even recommend for examination by a prospective operator. It is believed, together with the favorable prices which prevail at present warrant development of some of our Oregon deposits.
