Fordson

THE Ford Motor Company have just issued a book called "The Fordson at work." This book is given free. Call in and get one. If you cannot call, write and we will mail you one without charge. It is not what the Ford Motor Company says about the Fordson Tractor but what the army of users have to say. This book voices the hardest kind of practical experience. It shows in illustration the Fordson Tractor at actual work along some ninety different lines of activity. It shows in these illustrations the wonderful versatility and utility of the Fordson Tractor. Shows it to be, beyond all question, the one bit of machinery that is a necessity, not only on the farm but along many lines of commercial business; especially does it show up the Fordson as a valuable servant on the farm. With it the farmer is relieved of the hard work; because he can take advantage of the weather in preparing his seed bed; he can do it at the right time; the same is true when it comes to harvesting. It solves, to a great extent, the problem of scarcity of labor.

With its wonderful, reliable power, it brings to the farm home all the conveniences, in the way of running water in the house, electric lights, operation of the washing machine, churning, separating the cream from the milk; it assumes and takes to itself the drudgery of farm life both in the field and in the house and it is only a matter of a few years until it will be as universal in its service on the farm as is the farmer himself. It will become a part of farm life; a beneficial part; a profitable part. Get order in for there's a rush coming.

GRESHAM LOCALS

Friday evening, January 14 at 8:15 there will be a lecture and stereopticon pictures of some of the subjects discussed during Farm Bureau Week at the Gresham library.

The certificates for the ladies who completed the course on home nursing have been received at the library and those completing the course may obtain them there. Those completing the course and passing the examination are Mesdames Carrie Powell, Vida Stubbs, Alva Hevel, Kathleen Chlodo, Lucy Davidson, Minnie Brown, Hattie Mewhirter, and Miss Gertrude Eastman.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the library Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Several matters of importance will come before the meeting and a good attendance is desired.

C. A. Aylsworth, of San Francisco, is visiting his brother Ed. Aylsworth for a few days. He is on his way to Port Townsend, Washington, where he will be stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibbs entertained on Sunday, Miss Cora Green, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gibbs of Gresham and Mr. and Mrs. King of Ione, Oregon. Mrs. King will be remembered as Miss Florence Frank who visited here last summer with the Chas. Calkins family.

The regular preaching services will be held at the Zion Evangelical church next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Services will be in the German language. Immediately following the morning service the annual business meeting of the congregation will be held.

J. N. Clanahan is slowly improving after an operation which he underwent in Portland, Monday. Mr. Clanahan was taken suddenly ill and it was decided that an operation must be performed immediately. Many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Friday evening a set of stereopticon pictures will be given at the library. The pictures will be from the Oregon Agricultural College and will be on some line of horticultural work of interest to the farmers of this section. This will be Horticultural Day and it is hoped that there will be a good attendance.

A. E. Hill, one of the members of the Outlook force, is the proud grandfather of a little boy born in Washington, D. C., last week. Mr. Hill just received word from his daughter of the little man's arrival.

Mrs. Christena Humason has just received clippings from a Dallas, Texas, paper telling of the encounter which her son G. W. Humason had with an armed Mexican who attempted to steal some silk shirts from the store where Guerdon was employed. After a race of several blocks the man was stopped and held for the police. During the struggle Mr. Humason received a cut from a knife with which the Mexican was armed.

Farmers Now Handle Much Farm Machinery.

"The farmer of today operates more kinds of machinery and has more responsibility in their care and efficiency than the average professional mechanic in the city," says W. J. Gilmore, in announcing his tractor and farm machinery short courses at Oregon Agricultural College, starting January 3. One course will run for two weeks and the other for 12. A second two-weeks' course will begin January 17.

The two-week course is aimed to help the farmer select the type of tractor best suited to his needs, and to overhaul it and his other machines for upkeep and repairs. Much practice will be given in operating single and multiple cylinder engines, and in running tractor in and out doors.

The twelve-week course will consist of instruction and practice in running tractors and in learning the construction and care of tractor motors and other farm machinery.

"Many small repairs and adjustments can be made only with the aid of shop experience," says Professor Gilmore. "This experience can be obtained with comparatively little training. Delays in making the repairs, though, are often expensive in both time and money."

Farmers and other students taking these courses will have the benefit of 12 makes and models of tractors, provided for the purpose. Several practical representatives of eastern factories have promise to be on hand to help out in the training.

Many types of farm machinery and equipment are brought in overhauling by the students, under supervision of the instructors.

It was but a few years ago that the California growers of raisins, almonds, and English walnuts were about broke. They were at the mercy of eastern speculators and local buyers. Now 90 per cent of the almond crop is in an association and 75 per cent of the walnut growers of California are working together. As a result, the market is stabilized and growers are prosperous.

The remarkable increase in the consumption of prunes the past four years is due, according to R. C. Paulus, sales manager of the Oregon Growers Cooperative association, to advertising and standardization of quality. In 1916 there was a consumption of 82,500,000 pounds of prunes, while last year it was 200,000,000 pounds. With the big advertising campaign being put on by both the Oregon and California prune associations, it is felt that within a few years even the present consumption will be doubled.

FARMERS TO ENJOY BANQUET SATURDAY

Saturday will be the big day of the Farmer's Week program. The efficient committees who have the program in charge are not making much fuss about their work but with the experience gained last year are rapidly shaping up the program for the day's events.

In the morning Chas. H. Gray, executive committeeman of the National Farm Bureau and Paul V. Maris, director of extension, O. A. C., will be the speakers. Both are men who have messages of interest to the people of this community and there should be a good attendance at the morning program.

At 12 the Gresham Business Men's banquet will be given in the Masonic hall.

Mayor K. A. Miller will give the address of welcome and other local men will make responses.

Among the special entertainment features are songs by Hughes and Olsen and a baritone solo by Dr. H. H. Ott. "What Is and Isn't" by Monseigneur Swingolli will be one of the amusing features of the program. The addresses by Geo. A. Mansfield, president State Farm Bureau and H. C. Seymour, state club leader, will be more serious features of the afternoon program. Mr. Seymour will discuss the subject of the Future Farmer and Home Maker.

It is expected that there will be a much larger attendance at the banquet this year than there was last year and every effort is being made to accommodate the farmers and their wives.
