A FEW SECONDS—AND SAFETY.

If auto drivers in general realized how little time they save in crossing in front of an approaching train they would wait until the train got by and guarantee their own safety in so doing, says a railroad bulletin.

A local passenger train, consisting of an engine and four or five coaches, traveling at 45 miles an hour, will make 66 feet to a second, and will be only five or six seconds in going over the crossing and a little less than that if making the limit of 50 miles an hour.

The heavier overland train, with the cars averaging a little longer than in local service, will generally pass over a road crossing at the rate of one a second. If the auto driver stops at the track while the train is still a quarter of a mile away he will only have to wait about 20 seconds for the train to get to the crossing and then a few seconds more for the train to get by.

Most of the accidents at highway crossings are those in which the auto gets mixed up with high-speed trains. Freight trains of 30 cars or less frequently travel at the rate of 30 miles an hour, and at that rate of speed the shorter cars will be going over the crossings at the rate of one a second; longer freight trains at slower speed will use more time, but even then delay is insignificant.

Frequently engineers of trains make reports of "close calls," but there does not seem to be much improvement as a result of such reports.

Some drivers claim that no warning was given by the men on the engine approaching the crossing, but what can be said for a man who strikes the side of a train after the engine and three or four cars have gone by? Or the man who claims he would have "made it" if the gate had not dropped the gate? He broke the gate and had his machine wrecked.

A few seconds! It is worth the risk?

Representative Frank W. Mondell, at the close of the 66th congress said that congress had completed its work with a splendid record of achievement.

The 66th congress began its labors in the trying period of readjustment immediately following the war, and has carried out its programs of legislation and appropriations handicapped by serious differences of opinion existing between the congress and the administration. The great reductions in government expenditure which the congress accomplished were undertaken and carried out in the face of extravagant expenditure and enormous estimates made by the administration. Notwithstanding all these difficulties the record of the congress in constructive legislation and in economy in appropriations is a highly creditable one in every particular and from every viewpoint.

"The adjournment of this congress," said Mondell, "marks the passing of the first period of reconstruction following the Great War. It leaves the country still in a technical state of war with the German Imperial government, owing to the veto by the president of the peace resolution, but it closes its sessions with the war laws repealed and with the foundation laid for the further development of constructive policies to meet the new conditions which confront the country and the world."

The Gresham Outlook celebrated its tenth anniversary on March 1. The News extends to its esteemed editor, H. L. St. Clair, the heartiest of congratulations. We recall reading in the Portland papers, ten years ago, that a Methodist minister had started a paper at Gresham. It caught our attention because we were then a rector of an Episcopal church, and before studying for the ministry had worked in a newspaper office. It is somewhat of a coincidence that force of circumstances caused us to follow Brother St. Clair's example some years later, and to locate in an adjoining town to him.—Eastern Clackamas News.

NOTICE TO OUR PATRONS

Extensive alterations have been made at our First and Alder Streets Passenger Station and much better accommodations have been provided for our patrons.

This building is now being used exclusively by us and, in addition to the ticket office, lost articles' bureau and express office, we have installed an "ELECTRIC STORE," where Mazda lamps and electrical appliances may be purchased, applications made for electric light and power, and where light and power bills may be paid.

This will make it possible for our patrons to transact such matters of business with our company without going up town to our main offices in the Electric building, and you will receive the same courteous and attentive service.

RATS DESTROY.

A rat has been found for nearly everything except rats. They not only serve no good purpose but positively destroy good material and spread disease.

After a careful survey of the subject, competent persons have reached the conclusion that the very lowest estimate places the value of the grain lost through the destructive work of rats at $200,000,000 a year. This is enough to supply 20,000,000 people. It requires 7,000,000 acres of land to produce this grain for the rats and requires the labor of about 200,000 men.

These figures merely show the amount of food consumed by the rat, and do not include the many forms of disease transmitted from the rat to the human family. However, it seems that these figures alone ought to be enough to make every human being the enemy of rats forever.

Rats destroy—destroy the rats.

THE QUESTION OF SUNDAY.

"Shall the United States abolish Sunday?" asks Henry Ford's paper. Of course not. But there is a lot in the viewpoint.

Of late we have been having much talk concerning "blue laws" and many papers of New York, Chicago and other large cities have worked themselves into a fine frenzy about it. Most of the talk is bunk. Very few of the people who are campaigning for a "purer" Sunday want to go half as far as these organs of opinion say they do.

Sunday observance is largely a matter of viewpoint. What one man considers Sunday work is not so considered by another man. What one person holds as desecration of the day another man holds as no desecration at all.

Nevertheless, let the man—especially the workingman—who decries all Sunday observance, beware. On what foundation does the day of rest? What is the sole influence that upholds it?

The Christian religion. Nothing else.

What would happen if the Christian religion were made negligible in the United States, and if, thereupon, Sunday became as any other day? Results would be the same as in pagan China, where the workingman has no day of rest at all. And as in Japan where no Christian religion is present to see that people get their one day in seven; where the law allows the worker one day off in 30, which, however, he doesn't get if the employer can help it.

Don't belittle the American Sunday too much, folks.
