

GRESHAM OUTLOOK

Published every Tuesday and Friday at Gresham, Oregon, by the Outlook Publishing Co., H. L. St. Clair, Editor and Manager.

One year, $1.50, six months, 85c, three months, 50c. Entered as second-class matter March 2, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

GRESHAM'S AUTO CAMP GROUND

Has Gresham an auto camp ground? This is a question often asked of residents of Gresham and is doubtless always answered in the affirmative.

A little investigation reveals the fact that aside from the beautiful grove and free water and the enclosed kitchenette in which are sinks, benches and tables, there is nothing usually included in the free auto camp grounds of up-to-date towns.

There was once a little furnace, rather poorly put together and inadequate, but that has long since been broken down. Those who have searched for fuel with which to make their open fires have found nothing available—excepting the legs of the benches belonging to the fair association—and they have not been slow to take them.

H. W. Snashall, who is on the grounds looking after the property of the fair association, says that often people come in late at night looking for accommodations and expect him to furnish what they need.

Of these the following people were large growers: Andrew Bros., 74,742 pounds; Chiodo farm, 30,376 pounds; Ed. Spath, 29,401 pounds; W. D. Lindeman, 28,682 pounds; Thomas McKinney, 29,491 pounds; W. F. Robinson, 15,423 pounds; Wm. Kniefel, 14,908 pounds; W. C. Lawrence, 14,612 pounds; Lee Shiller, 13,472 pounds; Anna Schiller, 11,270 pounds; M. Lennartz, 10,168 pounds; J. Ickler, 7984 pounds; Jonas Nelson, 5843 pounds; W. D. Fraley, 4817; K. Hagberg, 3820 pounds.

Another interesting feature was the increase which could not be given in detail but the two large growers show the general tendency to increase tonnage. Spath turned in 7,382 more pounds of berries this year than last, and Chiodo has 1,376 pounds more. The general tonnage to the grower was larger this year but in every case was not a greater average yield although it was in many cases. There is a larger average and with the successful handling of the crop in this the most difficult year in the history of the berry operations here, the future of the business is assured.

While on their way to Newport with a truck load of provisions Sunday morning, Ray and Winston Strong, sons of H. W. Strong, living on the Cotton farm, were hit by a Southern Pacific extra train carrying Foley & Burke's circus, at a crossing just south of Marion. Both were seriously injured, Ray having his collar bone broken and Winston suffering from concussion of the brain.

They had started on their annual outing, the boys going ahead with the truck loaded with supplies, while Edward and Mrs. Strong followed in the car.

Our correspondent arrived at the scene of the accident about two minutes after the crash, and said that the train must have been going at a high rate of speed, as it had barely been brought to a standstill at that time about a mile down the track.

MORE THAN 200 TONS RASPBERRIES HAULED

Continued from page 1 can be packed in a softer condition than they can be canned. It thus is a very desirable process to run in connection with the canning operations.

Of the 10,000 cases which were canned here orders have been received for a large percentage. One hundred cases go to Peoria, Illinois; 550 cases to Oregon Canning company; 2700 cases to another company in the east; 200 cases to Oregon growers; about 1000 cases to several companies in St. Paul, Minneapolis; 200 cases to Sioux City, Iowa; 100 cases to Boston, and several other orders of from 50 to 200 cases.

The great demand is for the fancy stock. This is shown by the percentage of orders and pack. Of the 5,637 cases of fancy pack, 3200 have been sold. In the next grade, or choice, 650 cases have been sold out of 1,938 cases packed. The next grade is standard and 1141 cases were packed here, 109 of which have been sold. Of the pie fruit 950 cases were packed and 300 have been sold. The prices for the canned goods have been $3.00 for fancy pack, $2.75 for choice and $3.00 for pie stock which is canned in larger cans.

There is a good demand at very good prices and the officials of the company do not believe they will be able to supply all the orders they received. Already all their barreled goods is sold and a goodly proportion of canned goods and the picking season for Cuthberts has just closed two weeks ago.

There were 114 growers who delivered berries at the companies' plant and they brought in 462,179 pounds of Cuthbert raspberries alone.

Of these the following people were large growers: Andrew Bros., 74,742 pounds; Chiodo farm, 30,376 pounds; Ed. Spath, 29,401 pounds; W. D. Lindeman, 28,682 pounds; Thomas McKinney, 29,491 pounds; W. F. Robinson, 15,423 pounds; Wm. Kniefel, 14,908 pounds; W. C. Lawrence, 14,612 pounds; Lee Shiller, 13,472 pounds; Anna Schiller, 11,270 pounds; M. Lennartz, 10,168 pounds; J. Ickler, 7984 pounds; Jonas Nelson, 5843 pounds; W. D. Fraley, 4817; K. Hagberg, 3820 pounds.

The reports of the berry growers as to their acreage have not always been turned in and could not be determined on such short notice. One point of interest is shown in the case of Edward Brink of Scenic, who planted five acres last year and turned in 7412 pounds of berries this year. Enough to make it decidedly worth while. Wm. Kniefel also had 14,908 pounds from 10 acres planting in about 14 months' time.

Another interesting feature was the increase which could not be given in detail but the two large growers show the general tendency to increase tonnage. Spath turned in 7,382 more pounds of berries this year than last, and Chiodo has 1,376 pounds more. The general tonnage to the grower was larger this year but in every case was not a greater average yield although it was in many cases. BERRY INDUSTRY FROM ASSOCIATION VIEWPOINT

Continued from page 1 Growers. Not enough potash to balance the superphosphate. We broadcasted all of the fertilizer. We noted a marked difference in the cane growth this summer where we put the manure on the row and where we spread it in between the rows in favor of the first plan. We can also see a big difference in berry production where we dug a heavy stand of plants and where we didn't. I wouldn't advise anyone to dig many plants if they expect to get many berries the next harvest.

A few remarks in regard to tillage and I am through. We use a tractor and reversible disc almost exclusively which may not be as good as a rotation of tools but answers the purpose. I am going to mention, and it is only an opinion, that cultivation after picking starts is only a waste of time. To prove that contention, our berries all ripened without drying up to any extent and produced nearly three tons to the acre with a very poor cane growth last year.

We believe in hilling up the rows in the fall leaving a dead furrow in the center between the rows. We then sow vetch and turn it under as soon as possible in the spring.

In conclusion I believe: That this is the greatest berry country in the world; that with proper handling, the berry business will make all who grow them independent; that this is one of the best places to live I have ever found; that we have the best growers organization in existence; that we have a few knockers who don't know why they knock; that every grower of berries ought to give us their membership or at least their support; that we have a loyal bunch of members who are always boosting for cooperation; that we have a lot of outsiders, business men, professional men and others who are always boosting and the hardest working conscientious boosters for us and any other worthy enterprise is the editorial staff of the Gresham Outlook.
