COMMUNITY COUNCIL WORK TO BE PERMANENT

building of character and the preservation of liberty was both the remedy and the goal.

The day was perfect, no more delightful fall day could be imagined, it was warm and clear with a golden quality hard to describe. The warmth and clearness outside was typical of the atmosphere inside where only the friendliest of feelings prevailed and where the highest ideals thrived and anything less than the best one could give seemed a poor and shoddy contribution to the day's success.

Perhaps more than any one had dreamed of, it called out the highest and best ideals in each person present and the effect of the meeting cannot help but be of permanent value to the community. When people once catch a vision of higher life, higher ideals and better things, they can never be so contented with things as they are.

CORBETT

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Harley Bates, a boy, Friday, September 2.

Horace, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Evans, had the misfortune to have his fingers so badly mashed in a cider mill it was necessary to amputate the middle finger.

The Corbett baseball team were game losers in two games played Sunday and Monday between Gresham and Corbett on the Corbett diamond and Springdale and Corbett at Springdale, the score stood 3 to 1 in favor of Springdale.

Mrs. Ethel Stewart came out from Portland Saturday evening and remained until Monday evening at her home, Ferndale Place.

A party of Mazamas enjoyed visiting the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Barr, near Bridal Veil, Sunday. Mr. Barr raises the Brown Swiss Jerseys and Plymouth Rock chickens and is doing a very thriving farming business and was besieged with questions by his distinguished callers.

Fred C. Reed made a business trip to Hillsboro Wednesday and Thursday.

Rev. and Mrs. Edward Murphy and daughter Gladys spent the week-end at Cascade Locks.

GILLIS

The Misses Alice and Florence Lake, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lake, left on Saturday morning for Coos county to engage in teaching. Alice, who was graduated from the Monmouth Normal in June of this year, will substitute temporarily for her father. She will be principal of the North Bend high school where 18 instructors are employed. Upon her return she will enter Pacific University as a senior. Florence will teach for three months at Bandon after which she will return to Monmouth to finish her normal course. She expects to complete the course in June at the age of 18 years.

HOUSE KEEPING IS

securing of more time for the busy mothers that they might spend more time in study and in the direction of the spiritual lives of their children.

As a last note Dean Milan urged that children be taught to help in the home and add something of value to the home life. Teach them to have the idea of using as a guide the thought "not of how much can I get out of this, but what can I put into it."

Mrs. Sadie Chase, the local speaker, in a few thoughtful statements told of how she let her child guide her in securing the right influences in the home. "When my child seeks the homes of his friends, I study those homes to see where in lies their charm and try to add these qualities to my own home." She also spoke of the habits of religious life and training which were made a part of the life of the child and the value of these habits in forming of character.

Miss Ethel Calkins told of the work of the Girls' Industrial clubs and that although sometimes misunderstood the ideal of the work was to train the girls for better house-keeping and inspire them to the art of better home-making.

Mrs. Alta Gresham was called upon and she suggested that some definite action be taken to conserve the inspiration gained at this meeting and that study classes be organized for work this winter. No definite action was taken but there was considerable discussion during the noon hour and several different methods were discussed. The better homes committee of the new community council will recommend certain lines of activity along this line and definite action will await the meeting September 29 at Cottrell schoolhouse but it is certain that there will be study clubs formed of earnest women who desire to attain the ideal of better homes.

PLEASANT HOME

The Baptist Ladies' Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. Walworth on next Thursday afternoon, September 8. A special program has been prepared and the Rev. Earle D. Simms will be present and give a talk on his work and travels in China. The Methodist Aid society has been invited and all women interested in the work will be welcome.

Miss Irene Cotton, of Salem, has been the guest of her brother, the Rev. Earl B. Cotton, since Saturday. Their mother Mrs. Geo. W. Cotton, of Salem, came Monday evening for a short visit and the party expect to enjoy a trip on the Columbia river highway today (Tuesday).

Dr. Emil Enna will be at the Orient grange hall Saturday evening, September 10, to give one of his delightful musical programs. Dr. Enna will be assisted by a dramatic reader, a soloist and possibly a violinist. A very small admission charge will be made. The Methodist Ladies' Aid society, under whose auspices the concert is being given, will serve light refreshments.

TROUTDALE

The Troutdale Ladies' Aid will meet on Wednesday, September 14 at the home of Mrs. C. I. Thomas. A cordial invitation is extended to all. The meeting has been postponed to the second Monday of the month on account of the annual meeting of the Eastern Multnomah Pioneer association which meets at Corbett Wednesday, September 7.

COTTRELL

Elder Klotzback, of Portland, will preach at the Cottrell community church Sunday, September 11, at 11 a. m. and at 2:30 p. m. A number of families are planning on taking basket lunches and spending the day at the church. While no plan for a big all-day meeting has been made, all who wish to take their dinner and will spend the day, are asked to feel free to do so. All are cordially invited to attend the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews Entertain Many Guests.

Labor day was a day of surprises for Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Andrews of the Pleasant Home neighborhood. Early in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cooley of Gresham called on them and before they left another party of five guests from Portland stopped for a short visit. Just about the time they left Ruebin Treber, Rev. Mr. Bunch, his brother, who is also a minister, and Rev. Mr. Figuhr came in to spend the afternoon. The latter part of the evening another party of eight from one of the Willamette valley towns stopped and spent the night at the Andrews home. This morning this party continued on their trip up the Columbia river highway.
