WHOLE STATE BACK OF IT.

The unanimity and enthusiasm of the whole state of Oregon in support of the 1925 exposition at Portland is gratifying and encouraging to the management. Portland is solidly back of the fair. Oregon is solidly back of the fair. The Pacific coast and the whole country will get back of it. The whole world will participate.

The voice of Oregon has been expressed through officially chosen representatives from every county in the state, meeting in Portland yesterday. Without a dissenting voice the fair was "endorsed, approved and recommended."

A plan was adopted for financing the big undertaking. The capital stock was fixed at $6,000,000, of which Portland will raise $1,000,000 by private contributions and $2,000,000 by taxation. The entire state will be taxed for $3,000,000 and Portland's share of this state tax will be a million dollars. So that Portland's total contribution to the capital stock will be about two-thirds of the total amount, or $4,000,000. This state tax is to cover three years.

This is no doubt a good plan as it distributes the burden widely and over a sufficient period. The fair should be looked upon as benefitting the whole of Oregon. It is not Portland's fair—but Oregon's, and in a larger sense, it belongs to the Pacific Northwest and the Pacific Coast.

Julius L. Meier has been chosen permanent chairman and Robert E. Smith, secretary.

Many are interested in the location of the grounds. Many have their preferences, but wherever located it will be all right and every organization in the state, every newspaper, every business concern and every citizen, should become an inveterate and everlasting booster for the 1925 Atlantic-Pacific Highways and Electrical Exposition.

BETTER SCHOOLS ARE URGED FOR COUNTRY

business, three per cent for public improvements and only one per cent for education and science upon which our liberty is dependent. "We can't afford to curtail our taxes by cutting down education" he said and there was a wave of applause as there was many times during his address. Superintendent Churchill said that he believed we should pay these bills for past wars but we should increase our expenditures for education and educate our young citizens to settle their difficulties by education.

As a third improvement he urged longer terms of school and asked that support be given for the bill to increase the minimum term for rural schools from eight months to nine months.

Fourth he advised the consolidation of rural schools as it meant better schools. Not always did consolidated schools prove advisable but he advised such schools whenever the roads were such that the children could be carried from home to school in 45 minutes.

Consolidated schools make for better grading and classification and results in better progress in the same time. This is due to longer recitation periods and more personal instruction. It also makes for broader and deeper school spirit.

Lastly he put modern equipment which could be secured in the larger schools. The superintendent is urging the adoption of the new plan of county unit of administration for rural schools. This system is practically the same as that used in the cities of the state. By this system the directors are elected and they select the superintendent of schools in this superintendent centers the responsibility and authority. It also secures the advantages of equalizing the advantages of the various schools regardless of the per capita wealth.

I contend you can have as good school in the country if you pay for them as much as they do in the city," he said. "Good schools in the country will hold the boys and girls. Educate them in the country, not away from the country."

Equalizing the education program so that the country boys and girls might have all of the advantages to be derived from better equipment, better prepared teachers, better organization and grading was strongly urged, for "aren't they all preparing for American citizenship?" he said.

There are now over 30,000 saw-mills distributed throughout 46 states and these mills are capable of producing annually twice as much lumber as the public consumes.

PEDDLER ORDINANCE TO BE AMENDED

At the regular meeting of the council held Tuesday night it was announced by Recorder Schneider that the new law requires the submission to the tax commission of the annual financial budget for the year 1922 on October 1. As it is necessary to be even more explicit than heretofore in the items to be provided for in the budget it was decided to hold a special meeting on Monday, September 26 at which time the ways and means committee will submit its report.

It was found that the license fee of $15 per month required by a recent ordinance of fruit and vegetable peddlers in the city of Gresham was exorbitant and the committee recommended that it be reduced to $5. The matter is in the hands of the committee to prepare an amendment that would make the license fee for various classes of peddlers more reasonable.

out and explained that it took a large program to challenge the boys. In boys' clubs certain ideals should be emphasized and he mentioned thrift, work, recreation, and a higher respect for women as goals toward which the leaders should strive. In all this work the leader should point out Jesus Christ, the perfect character and above which there was no more important factor in the development of boys and no better guide for the unfolding life. "You cannot develop the highest type of life apart from Christ" he said.

The Rev. S. F. Pitts spoke briefly of the work of the community church at Cottrell where several denominations are working together in a most harmonious fashion with good interest and much profit to themselves. He emphasized the need for less of the sectarian spirit and more emphasis upon the supreme message of the Bible. This he said was "God's relation to men, sin and its blighting effect and redemption through Jesus Christ."
