

ANNOUNCEMENT

We are pleased to announce that the Gresham Chevrolet Branch of the Fields Motor Co., has been purchased by the SMITH MOTOR CAR CO., and will hereafter be conducted as an independent agency.

Having sold Chevrolet Motor Cars for several years, we have seen these cars each year further developed in mechanical excellence by the largest automobile manufacturer in the world, the General Motors Corporation.

We are highly enthusiastic over the new model Chevrolet, to which has been added a score of improvements representing conservatively $100.00 in extra value to the purchaser.

Your choice of a car is based on your own judgement of the greatest transportation service per dollar of invested capital. After seeing the New CHEVROLET, your opinion of comparative values cannot be but favorable to the Chevrolet.

Our sales territory includes all of Multnomah, Columbia and Northern Clackamas counties. We shall appreciate your acquaintance-ship and patronage.

PORTLAND TEACHER TOURS THE STATE

School Board Releases Miss Margaret Reid For Near East Relief.

At the request of Gov. Ben. W. Olcott, honorary chairman Near East Relief, the Portland School Board has given three months leave of absence to Miss Margaret Reid, teacher of history in Jefferson High School, that she might help organize the schools and colleges of Oregon for the Near East Relief. Miss Reid has recently returned from the Near East where for two years she was in charge of an orphanage of three hundred seventy-five children in Homs, and later helped care for 6,000 refugees in Marash. "For the first time in my experience as a teacher I find my heart is not in teaching," says Miss Reid. "My 'thinks', to use an Armenian expression, are for the kiddies I left in Turkey, so I am glad of the chance to give to Oregon the message given me by the people of Marash as I was leaving there last April."

"You are going back to your home in America. Please carry our love and gratitude to the American people, and tell them to please 'think for us', they said. This is an Armenian idiom for, 'help us.'"

"This is the message I bring to the people of Oregon. You mothers with sweet, wee babies in your arms, 'think for the mothers of Armenia. They came to me on cold and stormy winter days, only last winter; I saw them open their arms to show me a little naked babe lying there and then beg me for a piece of cloth, even a piece of burlap, anything to wrap around the tender little body. Last year I was able to give them a bit of flannel and some little cotton clothes, and I was able to do this simply because the people of America had sent cloth and clothes and money.

"You fathers and mothers of lovely rosy, laughing boys and girls, will you continue to 'think for' the pitiful little waifs, driven from home, lost from dearly loved fathers and mothers and brothers and sisters? I wish you all might have the joy I have had, to pick up a thin, starved, sickly, dirty little mite of humanity, hair matted, with awful sores, and with your own hands to wash him and clean him and to feed him and heal him, and in a few weeks to see him changed into a wholesome, happy, normal kiddie. "The hard part comes when the orphanage is full and the budget exhausted and you have to turn away the starved and desolate boys and girls from the gates. In my own orphanage we never refused admittance to a very little one. We couldn't. We jammed them in some place. But again and again we had to turn away a big boy and sometimes the larger girls, because 'there was no room.'
