Income Tax Facts.

Farmers, rangers, herders, dairymen, truck gardeners, vineyard and orchard owners, and other food producers comes for 1921 and ascertain whether an income tax return, or a tax, or both are due. All gains, profits, and income derived from the sale or exchange of farm products, whether produced on the farm or purchased and resold, must be included in gross income. When a farmer exchanges his products for groceries, clothing, or other merchandise, the fair market value of such goods must be included. Profit received from the sale of farm land, or rent received for the use thereof, must be included.

In determining income, upon which the tax is assessed, the farmer may deduct from gross income all necessary expenses incurred in the operation of his farm during the year 1921. These include cost of cultivation, harvesting, and marketing of his crops, cost of feed and fertilizer used, amount spent in repairs to farm buildings (other than the dwelling) and to fences and machinery. Wages paid to farm hands are deductible, but not wages to a domestic servant, which is a personal expense.

As an aid to farmers, the Bureau of Internal Revenue, has prepared a special form, 1040F, for recording sales of live stock, produce, and a summary which must be attached to the individual return of income and expenses.

An unmarried or widowed farmer or one living apart from his wife must file an individual return for 1921 if his net income for 1921 was $1,000 or more, or if his gross income was $5,000 or more. If married and living with his wife on December 31, 1921, a return must be filed if his net income was $2,000 or more, or if his gross income was $5,000 or more.
