FOREST PROTECTION WEEK.

Again, as year after year, the attention of the public is called to the need of forest conservation and protection. It seems like a trite subject but there is need of the reminder from time to time.

This year the week of April 16 to 22 is set aside as forest protection week.

The president of the United States has issued a proclamation in which he says that the protection and perpetuation of our forests are vital to our continued industrial welfare and national strength and to our individual health, comfort and prosperity.

Both through widespread annual celebration of Arbor Day and through the increasing observance of forest protection week public attention has been commendably directed to the value of trees, the unnecessary waste of our diminishing forests through preventable fires, the deplorable effects of forest devastation and the need for remedial measures against depletion of an essential natural resource.

President Harding urges that governors of the various states to issue and arrange for observance of this designated week as a Golden Anniversary of the founding of Arbor Day.

Two things are important in this connection. One is to try to check the waste through fire and other causes, and the other is, keeping in mind the value of trees for ornamental and manufacturing purposes, to encourage the planting of trees as extensively as possible.

NEW BOOKS AT THE GRESHAM LIBRARY

A timely book, just received at the library is, "The Little Garden" by Mrs. King, on which she was awarded the George Robert White medal of honor.

In "The Young Enchanted," Hugh Walpole has caught the spirit and optimism of youth as it bids adieu to the sinister shadows of the dying age and welcomes the birth of a new day.

There is an appeal in the South Seas which few wanderers can resist. Frederic O'Brien has journeyed thither and gives us his impressions in "White Shadows of the South Seas."

Many will enjoy Zane Grey's "Tales of the Fishes," a chatty account of his own experiences.

In "The Hills of Han," Samuel Merwin gives us the romance of a young American girl in China during the political disturbances of 1907.

"Wind Along the Waste" by Gladys Johnson, is a mystery enacted in southern California. Tense with inexplicable events, colored by a touch of the Orient, lightened by romance, it will appeal to many readers.

Sugar was first mentioned in history in the first century of the Christian era when Roman explorers brought a small quantity home from India.

State School Funds. Loans for farm loans at 6 per cent. Loans made on basis of one-third agricultural value of land.
