GIRL RESERVES ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

The Girl Reserves of Pleasant Home entertained their friends last Friday evening in the Methodist Sunday school room. There were more than 30 young people present. Mrs. Alta Gentry acted as chaperon.

The room was prettily decorated in yellow and green. Yellow and green crepe paper curtains were hung at the windows. Bowls of Oregon grape and daffodils were placed on the window sills and on the center table. Cake and punch were served. The evening was spent with music and the playing of games.

ORIENT P. T. A. TO HEAR INTERESTING TALKS

The Orient Parent-Teacher association will hold its regular meeting Friday afternoon, April 28 at 2:30. The Rev. Gebhardt, pastor of the Zion Evangelical church in Gresham will give a talk on the work that can be accomplished by the Parent-Teacher association. Miss Norma Lee Perk, librarian will give a violin solo. She will talk on the reading of library books by the children. The program promises to be an interesting one. A large attendance of members and others interested is expected.

VICTORY SCHOOL HAS FINE ENTERTAINMENT

The basket social and entertainment given in the Victory school-house last Saturday evening furnished an enjoyable evening. The union high school orchestra of Gresham, under the direction of W. H. Rutherford, gave several excellent numbers. Miss Vida Cemer delivered some interesting readings. Ivan Wood from Cottrell district favored the audience with a reading that lasted about 45 minutes. It was very well given. A duet by the Misses Doris Zimmerman and Ida Sester called for an encore. Mr. Rutherford played several piano solos accompanied by one of the members of the orchestra with the drum. The ladies wish to thank all those who helped to make the entertainment a success.

Prompt Action of Insurance Company Worthy of Comment. A record was broken when a $1000 check for S. E. Waller was received from the National Fire Insurance company of Hartford, Connecticut, 11 days after the building was destroyed by fire. Mr. Waller insured his building through John Brown, who represents the National Fire Insurance company in Gresham, on March 17, 1922. On April 13, a block of buildings in Boring burned, including the Waller property. Mr. Brown wired to insurance headquarters at San Francisco the next evening. A message was received by a Portland adjuster to investigate. Without further delay, the check was received on April 24. Mr. Brown says this is the best and most prompt service he has ever known.

Word has been received here of the marriage, early in the month, of W. Jackson and Georgia Carpenter at Clarkston, Washington, where the groom is in business and where they will make their home.

Lawrence Van Dolman of Boring and Mrs. Eva Hillyard were married on April 17. They will make their home on a farm at Orient.

RECIPROcity.

(This is Number Five of a series of special articles published by the First State Bank, Gresham, Oregon, by permission, approval, and upon information furnished by its New York correspondent, the National City Bank of New York, the largest bank in the world today.)

It is said that a follower of Confucius once asked the great teacher if there were any single word which covered, in its significance, all of the obligations of social life, and that the reply was "Is not 'Reciprocity' such a word?"

It is such a word in economic relations. In our statement, published in these columns a few days ago, we sought to show that the relations between a bank and its regular patrons are in very high degree intimate and reciprocal.

The deposits of a commercial bank are supplied mainly by its regular customers and in the aggregate form a fund of working capital, brought together with the understanding that each contributor may draw any part or all of his own deposit absolutely at will, and that he may have the privilege of borrowing from the fund from time to time to meet his further needs. A consolidation of working funds is accomplished to the common advantage. Seasonal fluctuations in almost all lines are such that unless a business has more capital than it can use all of the time it will have surplus funds in some seasons and need to borrow in others.

Other things being equal, the governing principle in the distribution of loans is that the depositor can borrow in proportion to his contribution to loanable funds, but of course the certainty of prompt repayment is a primary consideration.

(To be continued in the next issue of the Gresham Outlook.)

Reciprocity is ever foremost in the minds of the officers of the First State Bank both in making loans to and in receiving deposits from its customers.

You can get into nearly as much trouble by loving everybody as by hating everybody.

You couldn't make her believe it, but when a woman needs a beautifier, she is too old for it to do her any good.

OBITUARY OF THE REV. HENRY M. BOWMAN

Henry M. Bowman was born at Trenton, Missouri, March 30, 1876. His father died when he was about three weeks old. He came to Oregon with the other members of the family when he was 13 years of age. His mother died at The Dalles three years later. In 1898 he went to California.

Mr. Bowman was converted at an early age and united with the Free Methodist church and early entered its ministry. In 1902 he returned to Oregon and married Miss Winifred Cathey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Cathey of Gresham. He served three pastorates in Oregon—Gresham, Newberg and Forest Grove. Because of ill health he returned to California and because there was no church of his denomination at that place he took work with the Congregational church. Under that church he served as pastor at Serraville three years, at Kenwood three years and at Fort Bidwell, Modoc county, as missionary to the whites and Indians for nearly eight years. Forced by ill health to seek lower altitude, he went to Sacramento in 1920, where he lived until his death, April 5, 1922. His death came suddenly and unexpectedly. He was always loved as a pastor and neighbor. He leaves a wife, one daughter and two sons, all of California, besides two sisters.

SCENIC

J. R. Duncan is having a large field of Cuthbert raspberries set out on his farm.

Wm. Ladd and D. Brooks Hogan of Oregon Jersey fame, were in the neighborhood recently.

The Baptist Ladies' Aid society held a profitable and pleasant meeting at the home of Mrs. D. D. Jack on Thursday.

Mrs. B. C. Altman accompanied her Sunday school class of junior boys to Sandy river on Saturday afternoon. They enjoyed a lunch by the water, then called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lusted where they helped with work that only boys can do. Returning home happy and satisfied with a few hours of play as well as being useful.

FAIRVIEW

For the benefit of the Women's society of the Smith Memorial church, Mrs. Roscoe R. Morrill will entertain Thursday afternoon, April 27. Promptly at 2:30 devotionals and business. A reception to strangers will be held at 3, followed by a fine musical program. Refreshments will be served. Come yourself and bring your neighbors.

A petition circulated by D. W. McKay is being signed by everyone who sees it. The object is to make Second street from Fairview avenue to the O. W. R. & N. depot a county road. Everyone recognizes the justice of the county maintaining a standard road to support the heavy truckage to this shipping point.

Wm. Tegart has returned from a two months' trip to California. He toured the southern part of the state and also went into Mexico, visiting many old friends and neighbors who have moved down there. He enjoyed his trip very much. His wife did not accompany him.

KELSO

The Woman's club of Kelso will give a play entitled, "The Minister's Wife" on Saturday evening, April 29. A small admission will be charged all but grammar grade children. Besides the play, the program will consist of readings, instrumental music from Cottrell and singing by the Sandy quartet. Coffee, cake and sandwiches will be sold. The proceeds will go toward the piano fund.

Christ Gantenbein, a farmer living near Boring, died Sunday after suffering a relapse from the flu. He leaves a wife and four children.
