Letting the Force of Water Clean Your Clothes

The man with the hose played the water only a few moments on one spot—the wash water in a THOR machine strikes continuously back and forth and between the fibres of the clothes for the whole 10 to 15 minutes of the washing period; the street water was cold—in the washer it is warm and strong with the proper solutions; but most important, the THOR machine is so constructed as to give this wonderful and forceful "drop"—this cleansing power to the water as it "drops" the load from top to bottom of the cylinder at each revolution. The clothes are constantly in motion and the dirt being forced from the fibres, yet there is no pounding device, no harmful "dolly," no "suction cups," to press or damage the finest lace. The THOR is the perfection of the new, modern principles of machine washing. If you can understand why a hose playing a moment on the street will remove grime and dirt, you will certainly grasp the understanding of machine washing—how the continuous, ever-revolving cylinder, reversing in its tub of agitated suds with the power of each "drop" of the load, will wash soil out of textile fibres far more effectively and with less wear to the clothing than any hand rubbing or pounding device you could employ.

Surely every modern woman must throw the old rub-a-dub practices out of her mind, just as she will throw the drudgery wash-board out of her laundry! No housekeeper today persists in roasting her Sunday dinner over a spit when she can buy an insulated oven, or in using a dirt-scattering corn broom when she can procure a dust-absorbing vacuum cleaner. So too, where is the housekeeper of this progressive year who will refuse to understand the new, slightly different, but still very simple principles which make machine washing a success?

- The efficiency of machine washing depends on:
- 1—The strength and kind of the cleansing solutions added to the wash water.
 - 2—The agitation of the water into foamy suds before the washing process is started.
 - 3—The "drop" of the clothes and water in the cylinder.
 - 4—The time and temperature allowed for both washing and rinsing.
 - 5—The right method or "standard practice" followed.
- (To be continued.)

FAIRVIEW GRANGE WILL HAVE FINE PROGRAM

The Fairview Grange will meet in regular session Saturday, May 13th, at 11 o'clock. The morning session will be devoted to the business of the Grange. At 1:30 there will be an open session in order to give every one an opportunity to hear the excellent program arranged by the lecturer.

There will be a demonstration in sewing and cake baking by the club girls of Fairview under the direction and leadership of Mrs. J. W. Moller and Miss Margaret Jonas. The leaders and the girls are giving a great deal of time and thought to this work, and no doubt they will produce some very convincing evidence of their accomplishments in those lines of work. Miss Calkins, county club leader, will be present to tell more about the wonderful work the boys and girls are accomplishing in the several lines of club work in the county.

James E. Brockway, boy scout executive, will be present to explain the organization and great vow of the Boy Scout movement. All are, or should be, interested in this great movement in behalf of boys. A special invitation is extended to all men, parents and others interested in the welfare and future of boys to be present, and it is hoped that an organization may be affected for the boys of this part of the county.

The program will be interspersed with songs and instrumental music by Mrs. S. C. Dixon and others. An enjoyable and profitable time is assured for all who can be present.

THE BANK AS A STABILIZER.

(This is number nine of a series of special articles published by the First State Bank, Gresham, Oregon, by permission, approval, and upon information furnished by its New York correspondent, the National City Bank, of New York, the largest bank in the world today.)

Following a period of high prices, accompanied by a great increase of indebtedness, such as the period from which we are now emerging, such a contraction of deposits and of loans inevitably causes hardship to many. It is a part of the necessary task of getting back to a normal situation. Rapidly advancing prices are followed, as a rule, by rapidly falling prices; sudden and unusual profits by equally sudden and unusual losses. The first should be recognized as certain to bring the second, and the warning heeded. Every great economic disturbance like a war has an aftermath of price fluctuations and financial troubles from which no banking system can completely protect a people, although a well organized and well managed system can mitigate the ill effects. At the present time, the facilities of the Federal Reserve System are aiding the nation in overcoming difficulties which would have been much more serious if we did not have this improved banking system to depend upon.

Nobody would expect a bank with deposits of $1,000,000 to make as large an aggregate of loans as one with deposits of $2,000,000, but within the past year a great many banks in this country have lost from 25 to 50 per cent of their deposits and yet many people have wondered why banks have found it necessary to restrict the granting of credit. Deposits which rise from the sale of products represent real values which may be loaned and shifted about with safety, but remember all the time that if you want the banking business to be kept on a safe basis it must confine itself to funds of this character, received from the public.

Whenever the banks begin to create deposits, or money, by manufacturing credit, they are dealing with something unsubstantial, fictitious, and charged with possibilities of great mischief. (To be continued in the next issue of the Gresham Outlook.) "Safety First" is the watch word of the First State Bank. When the depression came the First State Bank held nearly $200,000 obligations of the United States, short time maturities, bearing a low rate of interest, its true, but collectible when due. The bank could have loaned this money at high rates of interest to persons who desired to expand their business, feeling sure that commodity prices would reach a higher level or at least maintain where they were. Had it done so, the result would have been disastrous. As it was, the maturing obligations of the United States took care of decreasing deposits brought about by falling prices, and the bank was able to take care of every worthy customer.—Adv.

The Lusted Parent-Teacher association will entertain next Friday evening, May 12, in honor of the teachers and members of the school boards of Lusted, Cottrell, Victory and Orient schools. Ice cream and cake and candy will be for sale. A fine program is being prepared. All are invited to attend.

KELSO

One of the largest audiences to assemble here, was present Saturday evening, April 29 at the program and play given by the Kelso Woman's club, and expressed approval of the evening's entertainment which brought in $32.90 in spite of the fact that all grade school children were admitted free. The program consisted of a play "The Minister's Wife," in which Mrs. Baumbaek played the part of the minister's wife. Mrs. Robert Jonsrud, the part of Miss Bennett, head of Katakorn's Seminary, and Mrs. J. Hite, Mrs. M. Kligel, Mrs. E. Herz and Mrs. J. Dunn frolicked as the "young ladies." There were several numbers by the Corbett string band and Sandy quartet, vocal solo by Mrs. J. Dunn, readings by Miss Margaret Miller and Eunice Jonsrud, all the members being encored. Refreshments of coffee, cake and sandwiches, and games joined in by young and old finished a successful and enjoyable evening's entertainment.

The Woman's club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. Hite. Delicious refreshments were served. At the last meeting of the Woman's club, Mrs. N. C. Peterson told the club of a piano bargain. Mrs. I. H. Phipps and Mrs. Peterson were appointed a committee to investigate with the favorable result that the club will have accomplished its purpose, and the piano will be here for the next entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Cook had as guests on Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dickenson, Mrs. Ledora and Henry Dickenson, all of Portland, and Walter Bolen of Ridgefield, Washington. Mrs. Andrew Huseby of West Ascott was a recent caller.

The flock of A. D. Rountree in Wasco county headed the list. His 240 hens laid an average of 18.24 eggs per hen.

JUDGES TO DECIDE ON ESSAY CONTEST

A meeting of the judges in the recent essay contest sponsored by the First State Bank of Gresham will be held at the bank next Saturday, May 13. The theme of the essays was "What Lincoln's Gettysburg Address Has Meant to the World."

Many pupils of the high schools and grade schools as well in Gresham and the outlying districts including Sandy took part in the contest. The judges chosen to judge those written by high school pupils are Judge G. W. Stapleton, Wm. Morand and the Rev. Earl B. Cotton. Those for the grade schools are Judge G. W. Stapleton, the Rev. A. S. Hisey and Mrs. J. M. C. Miller. Each essay was numbered instead of being signed by the writer. It is expected the judges will decide on the winning numbers at the meeting Saturday but the awards will not be made public until a week from Saturday, May 20 at which time the prizes will be presented.
