FAIRVIEW CLUBS HAVE ACTIVE WORKERS

The members of the Pollyanna Cooking club of Fairview demonstrated their skill in cake making at the Fairview Grange last Saturday. They stirred up their batter before the audience and placed it in individual gem pans. Some of the cakes were baked in the morning to allow them to get cool. Icing was prepared by the girls and placed on them. They were then passed around to the strangers.

The girls who made the cake were Emily Jonas, Marjorie Moller and Edna Burlingame. Fern Burlingame, Dorothy Elrich, Lucille and Maxine Bachus iced the cakes and passed them around.

Mrs. Margaret Jonas, a former successful club member, is club leader. The girls started the program with their yell:

"Sugar and salt,
Sugar and salt,
We're the girls who never halt,
We are well worth our salt."

All the members of the club are enthusiastic workers. They have met all the requirements of their club enabling them to finish as a standard club, with a 100 per cent record. Miss Ethel Calkins presented them with a charter signifying theirs to be a standard club.

The Happy Workers Sewing club has Mrs. J. Moller and Mrs. J. H. Peterson as local leaders. This club also put on a demonstration on the care of clothing. They also inspected the work which they have completed with a 100 per cent record. This club was the first one in the county to complete reports.

PLEASANT HOME

"Does faith have any place in modern life?" is the subject to be discussed by Rev. Earl B. Cotton at the Pleasant Home Methodist church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Has knowledge taken the place of faith in the life of men? During the last eight months, 3110 people have become members of Methodist churches in the northwest. Was their action caused by faith or knowledge? The Sunday school meets at 10 o'clock with a class for everyone who wants to know more about the truths of life and character. The evening service at 8 o'clock will be led by G. H. Bickford. All are cordially invited to attend any of these services at the "Pleasant Church Home."

In their replies to the questionnaire addressed to them by the Oregonian for the purpose of getting an expression as to their attitude on Governor Olcott's proclamation on the K-K-K, several of the candidates charge the governor with political motives, and what if they are? Is it not a part of the game? and they are all in the game? It occurs to us that it is a case of kettle calling pot black. We are not supporting Governor Olcott, however, we credit him with enunciating the truth in his proclamation. It is good Americanism. We believe in the religion of Jesus Christ, the constitution of the United States, and the Flag of Stars and Stripes and all it stands for, and we defend them without a mask to cover our face.

GILBERT CLUBS HAVE FAIR AND BAZAAR

The bazaar and fair held in the Gilbert schoolhouse by the club boys and girls was one of the largest local club affairs ever held in this county. The five clubs located in that locality each had a part in the fair.

All the clubs had arranged exhibits for which the Parent-Teacher association gave prizes. The judges chosen to decide the prize winners were Miss Helen Cowgill and C. S. Brewster, who is with the Kerr Gifford feed company in Portland. There were exhibits in poultry, both hens and chickens, eggs, sewing and canning. The Camp Cooking club exhibited "dough boys" which were drop biscuits fried in deep fat.

Besides the boys' and girls' bazaar, the Parent-Teacher association also held a bazaar and chicken supper. The clubs also sold candy and ice cream.

After supper the clubs presented the pageant "Spirit of the Home." Demonstrations were worked in during the pageant to prove that the boys and girls today are taking an active part in home life. It was well given.

The splendid cooperation of the teachers, club leaders and the members of the Parent-Teacher association made the undertaking the success that it was. The club leaders and teachers are to be given the credit for the splendid pageant. The Parent-Teacher association served the chicken supper which everyone enjoyed.

often brings you dollars and "sense." Some of us never think of saving until some fine day we have an urgent need of a few dollars for the doctor or some such cause. Then we have the fret and worry and find great difficulty in even borrowing the required sum. But it teaches us a valuable lesson—the vital necessity of saving. Ye who have no bank account, Wake Up!

BANK OF GRESHAM

GRESHAM, OREGON

NEW BOOKS AT THE GRESHAM LIBRARY

Many will be glad to know that H. G. Well's "Outline of History" is now available at the library. This is "an authentic record of world history, backed by the authority of specialists in all fields and interpreted by one of the keenest minds of the day." A book which will interest the average intelligent reader in history.

Prospective home builders will enjoy "Modern Homes," published by the Southern Pine association, which contains plans for some exceptionally attractive small homes.

"One of the finest sea pieces ever written" is David W. Bones' "Brass Bouncer." It touches the indefinable charm and appeal of the sea, and breathes the real air of life aboard ship.

"Pieces of Eight," by Richard Le Gallienne is a modern tale of buried treasure in the West Indies—"of brave men and perils encountered in glamorous quest for doubloons in moonlit caverns of the tropic sea."

A romance of 50 years ago, when Iowa was the goal of homesteaders, is told by Herbert Quick in his late book, "Vandemark's Folly."

Teresa, nicknamed "the Saint," is the remarkable daughter of a wealthy New Yorker. She has already shot a burglar, as well as a French suitor, to say nothing of slapping a governor, when H. S. Harrison presents to us her business career in his new book, entitled "Saint Teresa."

"Barry LeRoy" by H. C. Bailey, is a thrilling story of an Irish spy in the service of France, during the Napoleonic wars, with a sweet and wayward heroine adding a touch of romance to adventure.

Romance and pirates add their fascination to S. B. H. Hurst's "Coomer Ali," a vivid, richly colored narrative of the East, with a striking touch of sea life added.

"Tea Cup Reading; how to tell fortunes by tea leaves, with explanatory notes by a Highland Peer," will afford much mirth around the tea table.

For Boys and Girls.

In "Ungava Bob," Dillon Wallace has written the experiences of a young fur trapper in Labrador. Adventures with wolves, Indians and ice packs make it a fascinating tale.

Another Du Chailu book "Lost in the Jungle" will prove most interesting to lovers of African adventures. "True Horse Stories" by Lillian Gask contains many surprising accounts of brave and clever horses.

Joek and Jeanie on a visit to Scotland have a most enjoyable time which Mrs. Green tells about in "The Laird of Glentyre."

"Adventures among Hunters and Trappers" by Mr. Young is a group of true stories of thrilling adventures and dangerous escapes which hold the reader spell bound.

A companion volume to "Boy's Book of Mounted Police" is Mr. Crump's "Boy's Book of Policemen." It is a graphic tale which will prove quite as engrossing as the former.

Another true Indian story by Jas. Willard Schultz is "Rising Wolf, the White Blackfoot." It tells of Hugh Monroe, a "free trapper" among the Blackfeet, where he experienced many exciting adventures which he recounted to Mr. Schultz, who in turn tells them to us.
