DAMASCUS

At the last meeting of the Damascus Farm Bureau it was decided to not hold a regular meeting in June on account of the picnic on June 17. Important matters have come up, however, which makes it necessary to hold a meeting, which will be held on Saturday, June 3, at the usual time and place.

NOTICE!

The Damascus Farm Bureau and Grange cooperating will hold a big picnic, June 17, at the new union schoolhouse in John Hoffmeister's grove. A splendid all-day program, including amusements and music has been arranged. Everybody invited. Remember the date and be there. Watch for program later.

COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES REPORTED

UNION HOME

By WALTER RAMSER.
A number of neighbors gathered for the second time to open up the Taylor road, which, when finished, will eliminate the much dreaded Wellman hill. The county put in a concrete bridge over Rock creek, several culverts are on hand to be put in, and enough powder is in sight to shoot out the stumps. It is planned to extend this road still further and make all a market road, joining the pavement at the county line. This whole project is called the Foster road extension.

Union Home is realizing the importance of the tuberculin test for dairy stock. Over a dozen farms have been visited by the government man recently and only one reactor was found. More than half a dozen applications are in from neighbors of those who had their cows just tested, and soon the government office in Portland will be asked to send the inspector again. So everyone in Union Home, and between Boring and Damascus wishing his cows tested free of charge, notify the writer, and you will in return be informed when the inspector will arrive.

All my seed oats, American Wonder seed potatoes, baled wheat straw and the stump puller are sold, mostly through ads in the Outlook. It pays to advertise.

Union Home surely is proud of the record which two of its high school girls made in the essay contest, Ruth Schede and Grace Hoffmeister won second and third prize in class one.

The Damascus Farm Bureau will have an all-day meeting, in a grove, if possible, the third Saturday of June. Particulars will be announced later.

Mr. Wethern is clearing land for Carl Stein.

E. E. Schwedler rented 40 acres from Mr. Hedge of Lents. This is part of the former Maybee farm. Ernest Brugger of Gresham plowed it for him with his Fordson, and Mr. Schwedler put it to oats and wheat. Louis Hoffmeister is getting ready to put up a commodious dairy barn in the summer.

Arthur Ledbury is selling his whole milk directly in Portland, delivering every evening. His herd is tested.

Cotton, requests that all who desire to attend should be present on the first day.

A large crowd was in attendance at the entertainment and graduation exercises Saturday night. "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" was dramatized, in six acts, by the pupils of the school who all carried their parts to perfection, while Bessie Patterson as Mrs. Wiggs, deserves special mention as a most realistic Mrs. Wiggs. Much credit is due Miss Vaeretti for her original way of putting on this interesting play. F. W. Canning presented the diplomas together with a fitting talk to the graduates who were Helen Hite, Carl Kligel and Roland Erickson. Other numbers were violin solos by Miss Fitzgerald of Portland, accompanied by Gertrude Kligel, piano solo by Dorothy Jonsrud, recitations by Carl Kligel, Helen Hite and Ethel Irwin and song by Jadine Nelson. The pupils of the school presented Miss Vaeretti with a beautiful beaded bag and a bead necklace as a token of their esteem.

In a Tight Place

A man was hunting one day in a forest when a terrible storm came up. He looked about for shelter. There was none. It began to rain in torrents. So he crawled into a hollow log. It fitted snugly.

The rain lasted for hours. The water soaked through the wood. The log began to swell. When the storm was over, the hunter could not get out.

He strained with all his might to free himself. But the log held tight. Exhausted, he gave up. He knew that he would starve to death.

Like a drowning man, he saw his whole life flash before him, especially his mistakes. He suddenly remembered that he had never started a Bank account and that his wife and baby, penniless, would starve.

This thought made him feel so small that he was able to crawl out of the log without difficulty.
