

GILLIS

Gillis residents are looking forward to the services Sunday, July 30, which will be conducted by the Nazarene church of Portland. The pastor and 18 or 20 singers attend these fifth Sunday meetings and the musical features of the afternoon attract large numbers of local people. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend the service which begins at 2 o'clock with Sunday school. Preaching service at 3 p. m.

Wanted Loan.

$4500, three years at 7 per cent on Columbia Highway farm. Splendid security. B. W. Thorne, Bank of Gresham.

FAIRVIEW

A special congregational meeting will be held Wednesday evening, July 26, at 8 o'clock at the Smith Memorial Presbyterian church.

Services at the Smith Memorial Presbyterian church will be at 11 a. m. The pastor, the Rev. E. R. D. Hollenstead, will preach on the "Lure of the Mountain."

Mrs. George Bill has sold her place to a family that has just arrived from Montana.

John Jonas has purchased a new Hupmobile.

BORING AND VICINITY

By RICA ANDERSON.

The Parent-Teachers' association of Union Dist. 26, held its monthly meeting at the schoolhouse last Friday evening, the president, Mrs. Kelly, presiding. It was voted to hold a "town fair" some time before Christmas to raise funds toward payment on the school piano purchased this spring. An ice cream social is "an event of the near future," as the Portland society editor would say it. One of the ladies who kept nose for good business amended the motion so that the social must be held on some very hot evening when folks just naturally mob an ice cream freezer. In one particular Union P.-T. A. surpasses all other associations, and that is in the number of men in attendance. It may be the men are deeply interested in subjects that are commonly discussed, such as "Why do children use profanity," or "The evils of tobacco." But since at this meeting there was no topic whatsoever discussed, the men must have turned out for other reasons. Possibly the threat to fine the ladies five cents each if they came without their husbands made the women prod the men folks into attendance. So that as it may, the men were glad they came when delicious cakes and coffee were served by Mrs. John Anderson and Mrs. Eric Bartell.

The next evening the schoolhouse was again the place of a community meet. County Agent Holt, assisted by a representative from the Union stockyards, exhibited three films dealing with cause and cure of certain diseases among pigs, cattle and sheep. That farmers, their wives and children appreciate education along agricultural lines was evidenced by the full house. Many Damascus residents were present also. Of course, the next morning, there was a large saving on breakfast bacon—one of the direct benefits of an education. The cherries, too, have come under closer scrutiny. It is marvelous what can be seen in a cherry if one looks for them.

There is very little use to advertise picnic grounds in Oregon. Almost any place is inviting. However, John Hoffmeister's grove, where the Farm Bureau picnic was held, is a most charming piece of woodland. Four of the local families spent Sunday there, a very appropriate thing to do on Sunday, for the groves were God's first temples. Those present were the households of Fred Peterson, Eric Bartell, Herman Johnson and Fred Anderson. (The Ole Pickhandlesons were not there, because there are none of them living in this community). This Sunday outing is no new departure. In fact since the year one, these picnics have been much in vogue with the above mentioned notables. Yet there is nothing exclusive about them, an announcement at the Parent-Teacher association having been given to the whole neighborhood to come and join the merry throng. The merry throng was on hand, but the neighborhood found fairer lands to conquer, or stayed at home. Perhaps they'll come next time which will be very soon.

Mrs. Creta Shriner and children from Garfield, east of Estacada, is visiting her sister, Mrs. S. A. Roberts.

Jack Kettel and his bride were given a surprise, Sunday, by a group of their friends who came to offer congratulations and good wishes. The newlyweds are living on a farm near Oregon City.

Mrs. Arthur Heacock is enjoying a visit by her mother, Mrs. Wilson, who has been spending the year in Idaho.

The harvest in Canada will be well looked after this year. Roscoe Knox and Pat Odell are in charge.

The Boring baseball team beat Springdale 17-6, last week. Next game will be played Gillis, the only Waterloo team has met this summer. It is expected that our boys being in fine practice now, will simply knock Gillis into southern California or further, and then begin looking for a team our size to play, the Beavers for instance.

Farmers contemplating buying eastern Oregon hay will no doubt find some comfort in having Walter Welch and Hugh Aldrich over there, picking weeds out of the hay.

Union sewing club will meet at Mrs. Oren Lingle's Saturday.

Pendleton round-up will see a new buckaroo this year in the person of Emil Johnson. He is in training up in Garfield, hauling out cord wood on a Ford truck over seven miles of road that, Ring Lardner would say, "had ought to be fixed good and plenty." Being some kind of a glitche officer in the Boring I. O. O. F., he came home to attend Wednesday evening meeting.

Mrs. Phoebe Vinzant with Mr. and Mrs. J. Revenue whom she was visiting, was greeting her old friends incidental to attending to matters of business connected with her farm now being rented by W. C. Smith.

If orders from Montgomery Ward & Co. have not been filled as expeditiously as common, it is probably due to the absence of Miss Esther Anderson who has been reveling in two week's vacation. It can be announced that she is back at the old stand doing business in the usual prompt way.

Nettie Boese is spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. E. Hackett of Oregon City.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS

Union Pacific System Announces Fifteen in 1922 and 1923

Corvallis, Ore.—A free agricultural scholarship, it has just been announced, will be awarded by the Union Pacific System to the highest ranking club boy in fifteen Oregon Counties during the years 1922 and 1923. The scholarship will be in the College of Agriculture, or the short winter course of the Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Oregon, and will be worth $75.00, plus transportation.

The counties in which the scholarships will be given are: Baker, Crook, Des Chutes, Gilliam, Harney, Hood, Rivers, Jefferson, Morrow, Malheur, Multnomah, Sherman, Union, Umatilla, Wallowa and Wasco.

For the 1923 requirements it is proposed that ten acres of wheat, five acres of corn, one acre of potatoes, or any of the live stock projects now being conducted under the Boys' and Girls' Club Work, shall be grown or completed by each person entering the above competition. The requirements for 1922 are similar to those of 1923, except that the competition shall be upon projects now in effect, such as calf clubs, pig clubs, potato and corn clubs, etc., and prizes are offered only in such counties as can be arranged before the close of the present season.

The winner in each county will be chosen from among the ten boys ranking highest in the county club projects, on the following basis: 75 per cent on rank in club work; 25 per cent on activities of the boy in community affairs.

The rank of these boys in community affairs, and the county winner, will be determined by a committee of three, consisting of the County Superintendent, one person appointed by the Director of Extension in the Oregon Agricultural College, and a third person to be chosen by these two members.

The scholarship must be used within a year of the date of award, except where the boy is a regular attendant at school. In this case, it may be used the year following, or at the next session following the time the boy finishes school.

The action of the Union Pacific System is due to the fact that its president, Mr. C. R. Gray, formerly a member of the governing board of the Maryland Agricultural College, was attracted by the work of boys' and girls' clubs as a factor in interesting the coming generation in farming; and he believes that the System he heads should further this work by offering scholarships, thereby helping worthy boys to obtain training in scientific agriculture.

PLEASANT HOME

A large number of local people attended the farewell service at the Baptist church Sunday evening when Miss Edna Shoemaker spoke of her work in Huchow, China. Miss Shoemaker will sail for China from Vancouver, B. C., on August 10. Before the evening service Miss Shoemaker met a group of girls and women in the basement of the church and showed them a number of pictures and other things which she had brought from China, explaining many interesting customs as she did so. Later in the regular service Miss Shoemaker explained the work of the language school which all missionaries must attend first. She also wrote a number of the Chinese characters which form the Chinese language and gave some of the combinations of this picture writing. Miss Shoemaker's address was of great interest to all and many friends here wish her success in her work in the school to which she is returning.

Miss Beck, superintendent of a deaconess boarding school for boys and girls at Helena, Montana, spoke at the Methodist church Sunday morning. This school is located about five miles from Helena and is for the care of those children who have lost either a mother or a father and for whom the remaining parent cannot furnish home environment. This school provides teachers and school work up to the state standard and it also provides house mothers who care for the children looking after all the duties of a mother. Miss Beck said that while the children were in school the mothers darned stockings and mended clothes, etc., and then when school closed they donned play clothes and went out onto the playgrounds to direct play activities. Miss Beck was a most entertaining speaker and the kind of work she is doing is so different than that usually thought in connection with deaconess' work that the audience enjoyed it very much. Miss Beck and a friend are the guests of Mrs. E. E. Van Fleet.

Rev. E. B. Cotton, Herman Walters, and Miss Amy Elliott left Monday morning for Falls City where they will attend the Epworth League institute.

Miss Margery M. Smith, nutrition specialist from Oregon Agricultural college, has planned the next community meeting of August 17 at Pleasant Home. At this meeting Miss Smith plans to demonstrate the making of a peanut cabbage salad and she also plans to demonstrate a quick mayonnaise dressing. At the close of the demonstration a light lunch will be served. Types and amounts of food for a week will be the subject of discussion. Miss Smith is a charming young woman and those who have attended her classes have been helped by the suggestions. At the last meeting Miss Smith prepared spinach and brown rice. These meetings are open to all the women in the community. The place of meeting will be announced later.

Mrs. Alta M. Gentry returned Friday evening from Salem where she spent two weeks of intensive study of rural church methods under the leadership of Prof. Albert Z. Mann of the Home Mission board of the Methodist Episcopal church.
