PREMIUM LISTS READY FOR LIVESTOCK EXPO.

The Outlook has just received a copy of the premium list of the Pacific International Live Stock Exposition, to be held in Portland, November 4 to 11, inclusive, this year. It is impossible to speak exhaustively of all the good things which the book contains, but the following are of particular interest:

The closing dates for entries are noon, October 10, for all breeding classes, and noon, October 20, for fat classes.

The same beef classes are offered liberal premiums, amounting to $15,000, for Shorthorns, Herefords, Aberdeen-Angus, Milking Shorthorns and Red Polled cattle.

In the dairy cattle division a new class has been added to the Holsteins, Jerseys, Guernseys and Ayrshires, for a goodly amount of money is offered this year for Brown Swiss cattle, said to be the oldest breed of purebred cattle in the world.

The sheep and hog divisions are as large and strong as ever. Heavy horses are represented by the four great draft breeds, with more money for each than last year. The fat cattle, sheep and hogs are well supplied with cash premiums.

There has never been such a showing as that of the boys' and girls' club classes, $3525 being offered for awards. The breed associations have been generous with the boys and girls this year. E. A. Stuart, president of the Pacific International Live Stock Exposition, has offered trips to Carnation Stock Farm, Seattle, Washington, for the 20 boys and girls making the finest display of dairy cattle. The cost of these trips will approximate $500.

Useful Farm Reminders Given.

The following farm reminders were sent by the O. A. C. Experiment Station:

Good wheat yields are one of the main factors in determining the cost of producing a bushel of wheat in Oregon's big wheat belt and farmers have a big say in determining what the yield shall be. Good seed of the right variety, early summer fallow plowing and enough cultivation to keep the weeds down, early sowing of winter or spring varieties, seed treatment for smut control—these are the factors that have been proved by years of experiments at the Moro branch experiment station to favor a good yield. And the cost of growing a bushel of wheat fell from $2.34 in a 14-bushel per acre yield to $1.23 in a 23-bushel per acre yield.

Time of plowing summer fallow has a big influence on yield of wheat in Columbia basin dry farming, as shown in many years' trials at the Moro branch experiment station. Land plowed in April averaged 29.1 bushels per acre as against 27 bushels on May plowed, and 23 on June plowed tracts.

Depth of plowing on the Columbia basin dry farms is not important. The nine-year average yield on Moro station lands plowed 10 inches deep over lands plowed five inches was only .9 bushel per acre. A slight variation of depth from year to year is recommended by D. E. Stephens, superintendent of the station.

Frequent cultivation of summer fallow lands sufficient to keep down the weeds and maintain a cloddy mulch produced an average of 31.9 bushels per acre for many years, while land not cultivated but otherwise farmed in like manner yielded only 26.6 bushels.

"Wheat Growing After Fallow in Eastern Oregon" is the name of a new bulletin by D. E. Stephens, superintendent of the Moro Branch Experiment Station, and G. R. Hyslop, chief of farm crops at O. A. C. It gives methods and results of the most profitable practices so far developed. Copies free to citizens of Oregon.

Escaping Taxation.

The idea of tax-exemption for any class of citizens at the expense of another class, should be repugnant to every American.

And yet there are today some $15,000,000,000 worth of tax-exempt bonds and securities outstanding in this nation and hundreds of millions of new bonds of this character being issued by cities, counties and states each year.

Tax returns show that these issues are absorbed by the wealthy who pay not a penny's tax on many millions of income. Amounts thus lost being made up by the average citizen and business man whose tax burden is doubled.

Here is the first place to start to equalize the tax bill and President Harding has urged upon congress the necessity of amending our laws so as to do away with this inequality in distribution of tax load.

LIVESTOCK EXPOSITION HAS LARGE HORSE SHOW

Probably more people are interested in the night horse show at the Pacific International Live Stock Exposition, which is to be held in Portland from November 4 to 11, than in any other event. The premium list says that $15,000 in cash premiums is offered. Later information is that the cash premiums will run over $16,000, with seven $1000 stakes, a greater number of stakes of this size than has ever been offered by any horse show in the United States so far as is known, and the only $1000 stake for driving heavy horses six-in-hand ever offered in any horse show in the world, it is believed. Last year there were over 100 show horses at the exposition, including the drafters, and this year will probably have over 500. The Western Winter Poultry Show, held at the Pacific International last year for the first time, will be on again with a larger and more beautiful exhibition of poultry and rabbits than ever.

The Manufacturers' and Land Products show will occupy a prominent place in the exhibits building, and is expected to be particularly fine in exhibits of fruits, grasses, grains and root crops.

The Dairy Products show promises to be not only very attractive, but of untold value to both the dairy manufacturing industry and the consuming public.

Those interested in this great exposition, representing the entire Pacific slope, may see a copy of the premium list, which is on file in this office for the benefit of our readers.
