NATIONAL BUDGET ON TRIAL

The new director of the budget, General Lord, has before him a standard of accomplishment the administration points to with an excusable feeling of pride.

The books for the fiscal year 1922 recently closed show the year began with a prospective deficit of $24,468,705 and ended with a surplus of receipts over expenditure of $313,801,651.

The national debt has been reduced $1,941,968,844, and a balance of $272,105,512 remains in the general fund.

It is only fair to say, however, that Secretary Mellon clearly pointed out some months ago that much of the reduction of expenditure is merely a postponement of payments due to a shift in the government's financial operations.

Calm analysis of the results of the budget system do not warrant more than an indication in its favor, though certainly nothing can be said against it. The system has not yet been put to the test, proof of its efficacy being impossible to date.

With a more complete knowledge of the resources of the government now known and a closer tabulation on expenditures that are elastic, the likelihood is that the new budget which is now in hand will be much more accurate than its predecessor.

When General Lord is ready to report, the public will be in a better position to judge the system and its workings and perhaps to appreciate the groundwork laid by General Dawes.

On its face the budget appears to be working in favor of the American pocketbook.

STARVATION FACING MANY EUROPEANS

Otto H. Kahn, international banker and leader in world finances, who has recently returned from an extended stay in Europe and close study of foreign conditions, says it is appalling to contemplate the dreadful conditions among the middle classes, their semi-starvation and, in some cases, actual starvation. He thinks we should deal in a "large-visioned and liberal manner" with the debts due us from the allied nations, discriminating between war-making loans and those made after the armistice.

Regarding the United States, Mr. Kahn says: "An era of great prosperity and beneficent progress is within our grasp. The one cloud on the horizon of our contentment and well being has been the disturbed relationship between capital and labor."

"There is no short cut to the total elimination of such distressing strife, but we must build our hope on the slow but sure remedy of growing reciprocal observance of the golden rule, spirit and practice of give and take, consideration for the rights of the public and a sincere and permanent effort at mutual forbearance and conciliation."

NOT ALWAYS WHAT THEY SEEM

A beggar fraud was recently exposed in New York City, the exposure brought on by the financial troubles of the beggar's chauffeur. It was shown that the beggar, who sold pencils, raked in an average of $100 a day, dropped into his tin cup by sympathetic pedestrians. At night he would strap on a pair of aluminum legs, don his evening clothes and "step out among them" on Broadway's bright way. He maintained an expensive suite and a chauffeur to drive his auto.

It appears there are about 5000 beggars in New York City and they collect more than $36,000,000 a year.

One might think there must be a lot of destitution in a city with so many beggars. But investigations now going on will serve to open the eyes of an unsuspecting public and many beggar frauds will find it expedient to engage in honest business.

King Constantine of Greece, brother-in-law of William Hoenzollern, has abdicated in favor of his son who has assumed control and taken the name of Georges. The Greek losses in Asia Minor and threatened civil war led to the former king's abdication. There is a strong faction in favor of a republic and this will doubtless come about in time, but civil strife is avoided for the present.

Anyway this new European embroilment can't last long. The principals are financially about broke and they haven't very good credit standing with Uncle Samuel.

940 NEW STUDENTS WILL ENTER STATE U

With the opening of the fall term of the University of Oregon a week away, executive officers and faculty are completing preparations for the registration of new and old students. Credentials of 940 students who are entering the University for the first time have been received and approved.

Registration days are next Monday and Tuesday. All University work begins Wednesday, October 4. Thursday, October 5, is the last day in the term for filing undergraduate cards. Credentials of entering students should already be in the hands of the registrar. Special arrangements have been made however, to receive credentials this week, but the student may have to suffer some penalty in the way of delay because of filing entrance requirements later than two weeks in advance of registration.

Of the 940 new students whose credentials have been approved, 577 are recent graduates of schools in the state. One hundred and fifty-seven prospective freshmen are from communities outside of Oregon. Oregon students with advanced standing who will enter the University for the first time next week number 93, according to Registrar Carlton E. Spencer.

In the 1921-22 college year, 2,241 students were enrolled during the year at Eugene. One hundred and fifty-four were students in the School of Medicine at Portland; 1,284 took extension courses in Portland; 1,320 availed themselves of work in the correspondence study departments; 110 were special in the School of Music, and 866 enrolled in the summer school at Eugene and Portland. The total enrollment was 5,969 in all departments of the University.

WHY NOT SIDEWALK? ASKS CORRESPONDENT

Will you kindly inform the public through your paper what influences are at work against the erection of a sidewalk on the east side of Main street from Gresham to the Union High School No. 2. We think it is sorely needed. Two people walking side by side, one on the walk and the other in the wet street from Gresham to the Union to permit such conditions.

There are no influences working against the building of this much needed piece of sidewalk in the city of Gresham, so far as we can learn excepting the failure of the sole property owner to do so. The city cannot compel the building of sidewalks against the will of the majority of the property owners.—Ed.

It only remains now for some warring nation to sink an American vessel, engaged on a peaceful mission, to start an agitation to involve the United States in the new Greek-Turkish affair. The Bank of Gresham pays 5 per cent interest on time deposits.—Adv.
