

INHALING IMPURE AIR.

Average Man Breathes Eighteen Cubic Feet of Air Per Hour.

22,400,000,000 particles of suspended matter are inhaled in every 24 hours by the average Londoner, says the Gas Age-Record. On account of the coal strike and consequent lessened use of coal the air was so much purer that many English cities were "almost unrecognizable." "Our greatest hope for a pure atmosphere" lies in the Gas company's efforts to "extend the use" of gas. In addition, therefore, to the selfish satisfaction in omitting chores and dirt, there is the patriotic, unselfish duty of not befouling the air which one's neighbors breathe. The Gasco furnace is indeed a blessing, and inexpensive to run, at that.—Adv.

ROCKWOOD WOMAN WINS IN MILKMAID CONTEST

Mrs. F. H. Crane, of Rockwood, won first place yesterday in the milkmaid contest which was the first annual contest of its kind ever held at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition. The contest began Thursday and will last for three days. The prizes will be awarded for the best record made in the three days. Silver trophy cups are also awarded the individual winner of each day's competitions. Mrs. Crane won first yesterday with seven pounds and twelve ounces of milk. Mrs. Ruby Hofferber of Tigard, Oregon, came a close second with seven pounds and ten ounces. Mrs. Chas. Soderquist of Gresham was named as one of the participants in the contest.

Exposition Well Attended. A crowd of 20,000 people attended the Pacific International Livestock Exposition yesterday much to the satisfaction of the officials of the show. The weather conditions and the election interfered with the attendance the first part of the week. A larger number of animals is being sold this year than ever before.

PLEASANT HOME

The pastor of the Methodist church, the Rev. G. E. Berreman will preach next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock on the topic "Savings Banks or Garbage Pails." A special treat is in store for the audience. Everett Lake and William Elliott, members of Union High quartet, will sing a duet. The church attendance has been gradually increasing. New families are moving into the district and coming into the church. This will be the regular Sunday for the workers conference. Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Cummins and son and grandson from McMinnville, Oregon, visited several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Williams. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sloop have returned from Yakima, Washington, where they spent the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Grant Sloop attended the Livestock show Thursday.

BORING DANCE HALL LICENSE REVOKED. The dance hall license granted to S. E. Waller of Boring several months ago was revoked as a result of a hearing in the Clackamas county court held last week. The license was revoked last Friday after a judge and two commissioners had considered the matter. Mr. Waller was ordered to appear in court and justify himself for running the dance hall until 3 o'clock Sunday mornings when the license required the hall to be closed at midnight. A charge of allowing liquor in the hall was also made. A movement is on foot to "tighten the lid" on the dance halls over the country. It is expected more stringent action will be taken in the future against the improper management of public amusement places. A coward is known by the excuses he makes.
