BORING

The house owned by Benj. Johnson, and occupied by his son, Louis Johnson and family, burned to the ground early Thursday morning. The fire started from a defective flue and the low water supply hindered the chances of fighting the flames successfully. Very few personal effects were rescued and the house, was only partially covered by insurance.

Funeral services for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gribble were held at Clackamas Tuesday with interment at the Clackamas cemetery.

C. J. Armstrong of Grants Pass, Oregon, is visiting at the home of his son, L. C. Armstrong and family.

It is reported that a moonshine still was found, together with about 50 gallons of mash and some of the finished product, on the property of M. Lang, the first of the week. Mr. Lang was fined $500 and sentenced to six months in jail. This seems like a heavy penalty considering it was his first offense and he has a large family dependent upon him but if every such offender were given the limit as he has been given it could not put an end to the making of moonshine, and there should be nothing less than the limit for such an offense.

Mrs. Andrew Gribble, who is quite ill at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Morand, is reported somewhat improved.

Raymond Richey has recently purchased the old Card place, north of Boring.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Rich is reported quite ill.

F. M. Morgan spent the first of the week visiting friends and relatives at Bull Run.

Billie Morand, who has been quite ill with bronchial pneumonia, is reported much improved.

A charivari crowd visited the home of Frank Welty Wednesday evening to celebrate his marriage to Mrs. Minnie Boesse the first of the week.

A. J. McClung returned from Wauna the first of the week for a visit with his family here.

Miss Alice Lund, of Portland, spent Thursday of this week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lund.

Mr. Froebe, recently from eastern Oregon, has moved onto the Taylor place.

The Union school is planning to give a bazaar and oyster supper in the schoolhouse on the evening of November 25 for the benefit of the school.

Mr. Fitzgerald and family have recently moved onto the Fifer place.

The Farm Bureau is digging the potatoes owned by Mr. Schubert, as he is quite seriously ill with blood poisoning.

An epidemic among our canine population has resulted in the loss of five dogs within the week with several more cases.

Miss Roselle Delay is confined to her home this week with a badly scalded foot.

Gribble Baby Dies at Boring.

Too young to have a name, Baby Gribble, infant babe of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gribble of Boring, died Monday morning, November 13, soon after birth. The funeral was held Monday afternoon at the Clackamas cemetery. The Rev. H. R. Gebhardt officiated.

TROUTDALE

A miscellaneous shower was given at the home of Mrs. M. B. McGinnis on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mary Belle McGinnis, who will become the bride of James Spence, within a few weeks. Miss McGinnis was the recipient of many useful and beautiful gifts. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Spence and Mrs. Thomas Low. Out-of-towns guests were Mrs. H. E. Bradley and daughter Lois of West Linn, Oregon, Mrs. J. Wallace of Milwaukie, Oregon, Mrs. C. I. Raker, Mrs. R. D. Bailey, Mrs. J. D. Bailey and Miss Marguerite Bailey of Gresham.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Evans visited Mrs. Ruth Brink at St. Johns, Sunday.

Camp Fire girls enjoyed a hike and wienie roast on Saturday.

John T. McGinnis, Milton Fox and Richard Knarr motored to Arlington last week to hunt geese. They report geese plentiful but hard to get. They brought back a few nice ones.

George and Clifford Thomas of Dee, Oregon, visited at the home of their brother C. L. Thomas last week and attended the stock show in Portland.

Mr. Goss, living on the Hensley road, had a Ford touring car stolen from his barn on Friday night. Officers found the car at Section Line and Barker roads Sunday. It will cost a hundred dollars to replace the parts stolen from the car.

Mrs. L. A. Harlow attended a meeting of the board of the state Parent-Teacher association in Portland on Thursday.

Officers were elected at the M. E. Sabbath school last Sunday as follows: Rev. L. F. Smith, superintendent; Mrs. H. Holmes, assistant superintendent; Winston Allard, secretary and treasurer, and Lyle Shering, librarian. Mrs. J. R. Kuarr was asked to appoint a Camp Fire girl each Sunday as organist. Mrs. C. E. Scott was appointed song leader. Mrs. Scott and the Camp Fire girls will have a special song for next Sunday.

PLEASANT VALLEY

J. F. Wing, of Lents, was looking after business matters in this neighborhood during the first of the week.

Mrs. P. L. Bliss called on her sister, Mrs. McDonald, last Tuesday afternoon.

Among Pleasant Valley folks who attended the stock show last Friday were Mrs. G. N. Sager and Mrs. C. F. Kesterson and son Kenneth.

Roy Miller, who recently bought a tract of land from L. Mitchell, has a neat little bungalow about ready for occupancy. Mr. Miller has also completed the building of a large hog house on his property.

Henry Kohn, who acquired a 20-acre tract from Joseph Eberhart a short time since, has completed the erection of a new residence and will move in in the near future.

Parent-Teacher County Council will meet with the Pleasant Valley association next Saturday for an all-day session. The meeting will be held in the grange hall.

FAIRVIEW

The Fairview city council recently made request to the P. R. L. & P. company to build a suitable surface crossing on their line at its intersection with Harrison street. The company has responded favorably and is preparing to put in the crossing. This street is being used considerably and is being opened up west of the track.

Mr. Zack, who lately purchased the Geddes property in the eastern part of Fairview, is building a garage on the place.

A new playshed will be built for the Fairview school and material for the same is being delivered. A. Kronenberg, chairman of the board is directing the work. The building will be 30 by 60 feet.

Facts and Fallacies Regarding Osteopathy

PART III.
It is entirely untrue that Osteopathy is a severe form of treatment. It is just the reverse. The more delicate the constitution, the more it needs Osteopathy and protection against drugging.
If drugs are unhealthy for the strong and well and, when administered, seriously derange a healthy constitution, why are they not a great deal worse for the weak and sick? They are. The sicker people become, the less business they have taking drugs; the weaker, the more they need Osteopathy. If there is a dislocated bone to adjust, of course the treatment will hurt. Wouldn't it hurt just as much if a surgeon were setting it? Doesn't a tooth hurt when a dental surgeon fills it? But is that any argument against either dentistry or surgery? If there is a severely congested center in the spine it may hurt actually at first to relieve it, but the hurt stops under treatment as the lesion is removed. Now which is best, to let a decayed tooth go neglected or suffer the pain necessary to fill it? It is just the same with Osteopathic treatment. Some lesions are painful under treatment—more or less painful—some are not. The adjustment of those that hurt is well worth the pain it causes. But all cases are not painful, by any means, and as for "roughness" that is not a part of Osteopathic treatment at all. In many instances treatment is absolutely the opposite to painful—especially the "tonic" treatment given to weak, run-down and nervous people. Treatment often is soothing, grateful and even "delicious" to the musculature and nerves of the body. There is almost nothing so restful, for instance, as an Osteopathic treatment for lagrippe, which takes the pain and soreness out of the muscles and gives the sufferer a sense of deliverance from having his muscles macerated in a sausage machine.
