FUNERAL IS HELD OF MRS. H. H. NICHOLS

Funeral service for Mrs. Lottie Nicholls, who died January 25th, were held at Rockwood M. E. church. The Episcopal burial service was read by the Rev. T. F. Bowen, rector of St.
Michaels and All Angels church of Portland, January 28. The church was unable to hold the friends who attended the service. Members of the Rockwood grange, of which Mrs.
Nicholls was a member, were pallbearers.

Interment was in Douglass cemetry. Those who survive are the husband, Horace H. and four minor children, Horace H. Jr., Lillian L., Curtiss C. and Ida T.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our most sincere thanks to the many friends and neighbors for their kindness and for the beautiful floral offerings at the illness and death of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Lottie Nicholls.

FARMERS MAY HELP SUPPORT COUNTY AGENT

The problem of raising funds for the support of the county agent in Clackamas county was brought up by C. R. Dougherty, president of the Clackamas county Farm Bureau, at the regular meeting of the Damascus Farm Bureau which was held last Saturday evening. If Clackamas county is without a county agent this year it will cause a loss for two or three years in progressive farm methods, according to Mr. Dougherty.

He explained what was already familiar to his hearers, how the Farm Bureau had used every means in its power to induce the county court to see the importance of retaining the county agent but the court refused to allow any funds for that purpose. The Farm Bureau then promised to raise $2000 to be used toward a fund for paying the salary of the county agent.
A sum of $600 is being raised by the Oregon City commercial club and business men which leaves a balance of $1400 still to be raised.

Each community in the county has been asked to raise a certain amount of money toward this fund. Mr.
Dougherty said it was left to each community to decide how this sum will be raised. Some localities are already planning entertainments while others expect to raise it by subscription but this matter is left entirely to each local group.

Continuing his talk, Mr. Dougherty said there are about 30 communities in the county that have organizations such as the Farm Bureau and the grange. This county had about 700 paid-up Farm Bureau members in 1922 and many additional members are paying their last year's dues this year. Clackamas county is gradually waking up to the great possibilities in Farm Bureau work and today stands higher than any other county in the state in Farm Bureau activities.

"Some people," said Mr. Dougherty, "have the idea that the Farm Bureau is working against the merchants but this is not true, and the sooner this is understood the better." The business men and business interests in general are more favorable toward the farmers' cooperative marketing plan than they were two or three years ago.
"Rural America is on the march and the Farm Bureau is leading them," said the speaker.

Support Asked for Project.

The following resolutions were read by the chairman, hearty support of which was urged upon all who wished to advance the farming interests of the county:

Whereas, the Farm Bureau of Clackamas county, Oregon, has guaranteed the sum of $2000 to the county of Clackamas, Oregon, for the employment of a county agricultural agent for the purpose of carrying on extension work in the said county for the year 1923, and

Whereas, it is necessary to raise said funds by subscription among the members of said Farm Bureau and others,

Therefore, we the undersigned hereby agree to pay to the said Farm Bureau of Clackamas county, Oregon, the sum set opposite our respective names and sum to be paid within 30 day of this date, January 22, 1923.

The committee named at the last meeting to aid in every way possible the effort being made to retain the county agent was retained. The members of this committee were asked at this meeting to use their judgment and influence to work out some plan of raising the required sum of money in the community.

A resolution was brought up at this meeting suggesting that the Damascus Farm Bureau members take out of the treasury one dollar for each Farm Bureau member who has paid up his dues for 1922 and that 50 cents be added to this fund from each member's dues for 1923.

Home Demonstration Meeting Announced.

Mrs. Dora De Young, home demonstration project leader, made the announcement that the next food demonstration meeting to be held by Miss Margery M. Smith will be about February 21. The success of the two-day home demonstration school recently held was largely due to Mrs.
De Young's efforts, working in co-operation with a committee appointed by the Parent-Teacher association.

Rudolph Mullenhoff handed in his resignation as farm crops project leader. Mr. Mullenhoff now has charge of publicity and felt that this work would require too much of his time to permit his continuing as farm crops project leader. Oran Lingle was elected as the new farm crops leader.

Guy Robertson, former secretary of the Multnomah county Farm Bureau, was present at this meeting and was asked by the committee in charge to talk on "Cooperative Marketing and How to Have Live Local Organizations." Mr. Robertson said that California is the market for Oregon potatoes but the farmer is to blame for not having this market because of a failure to supply that state with a good quality of potato. Merchants in Portland are also to blame, according to the speaker, because they often sell potatoes under false names.

Before co-operative marketing can be carried out successfully, the farmers must be educated to grade produce to meet the approval of the buyer and keep crops free from diseases. Mr.
Robertson also made the statement that 15 per cent of the potatoes grown in the United States controls the other 85 per cent in price. The amount

In answer to the question as to how to have a live local Farm Bureau organization, the speaker said that the Damascus people have one in that community and the probable secret of why this is the case is that the whole family attends. Such an organization can't help but be a success when the whole family is interested and ready
