TUTANKHAMEN LIVES AGAIN.

The opening of the tomb of Tutankhamen, involving as it does the discovery of the most brilliant collection of funeral equipment yet found in the hidden crypts of the Pharaohs, ranks among the most astounding revelations in the annals of archaeology, declared Prof. F. S. Dunn, professor of Latin in the University of Oregon, who delivered a lecture recently on "Tutankhamen Lives Again."

The magic spell of Egypt has once again been cast over the world. We are momentarily awaiting the thrill that will attend the opening of that sealed rock chamber where presumably lies Pharaoh Tutankhamen," said Professor Dunn. When the funeral cortege passed out of Thebes and across the Nile, bearing the dead Pharaoh to his catacomb, how strange a fantasy it would have seemed to any one in that procession that a company of archaeologists, 3900 years later, would stumble upon the hidden crypt and reintroduce the mummied monarch to an astonished world. And could anything now be more weird than to await the coming forth from his tomb of an autocrat who wore the double crown of Egypt far back in the 1300's before Christ."

PLAYING WITH UNCLE SAM.

Seemingly love does not laugh more heartily at locksmen than bootleggers laugh at Uncle Sam. The sweethearts steal a kiss or two through latticed windows, risking discovery at any moment, while the bootleggers race illicit fast motor boats inside the three-mile limit on the same principle—an accepted understanding that they are working on a percentage that cannot fail.

The game has come to be known as Whiskey Faro. It is played consistently and persistently. The ships gather one by one outside the three mile limit each loaded to the Pimslom line and weighted below the line with the stuff that cheers. When the big vessels are all at anchor, the auxiliary rum runners are gathered in sufficient number to create a favorable impression and then the word is given and a dash is made for the shore line.

As a rule Uncle Sam has two or three revenue cutters always on the alert for the bootlegging racers. But forty boats make the dash, and according to all experience it is quite impossible for the government to catch more than three in any one raid. Consequently, the boats take their chances, and if three be seized, the percentage of loss runs to approximately seven per cent, which is a very profitable margin.

Evidently sectional prohibition does not work much better than did state enactments. If the dries are to succeed then they must blot up the whole world, or arrange fences and gateways on the ocean.

Already propoganda is being circulated proposing Wm. E. Borah for presidential nomination in 1924. According to one proponent Borah is the man who measures up to the ideal set by this same writer for president, namely, "a statesman in every sense of the word; a man with a broad human viewpoint; one with courage and judgment; one that believes that there are still new worlds to discover and who is willing to sail uncharted seas." Not a bad idea.

A business organization must resemble a cobweb; a straight and direct connection must lead from each point to the center.—Edward Goldbeck.

THE PRIZE WINNERS.

- Mrs. W. R. Johnson, first prize. Clara Mason, second prize. Floella Jacobs, third prize. Mrs. Alta Gentry, fourth prize.

The sale of tile in the Willamette valley indicates that many farmers are preparing to install tile drainage systems this winter. Care should be taken to lay the tile on a uniform grade. The value of poorly laid tile drains is much less than those laid on proper grade. Those who need information or assistance on drainage problems should write to the extension service of the Oregon Agricultural College.

Sashes for protecting young plants in a cold frame can be made at low cost from a material called "glass cloth," a calico material which has been treated with paraffine, linseed oil, and turpentine. The cloth, a yard in width and the proper width for a three by six foot sash, can be purchased in any length. The frame to support the cloth can be made of dressed one by one inch strips braced in the center vertically and horizontally. Full information concerning these sashes can be obtained from the department of vegetable gardening.

News items from various parts of the northwest indicate that the bulk of the honey is now out of the hands of the producer. The Bank of Gresham pays 5 per cent interest on time deposits.—Adv.

Richard Lloyd Jones tells Interesting Facts About OUR FLAG

IN Philadelphia there is a little house nestling 'neath towering skyscrapers which is owned by the American people, who bought it some years ago and who today carefully guard it against the dangers of fire and storm. The citizens in Philadelphia take patriotic pride in protecting it for you and me. It was once the home of Betsy Ross. Within its walls our flag was born. Our flag—did you ever contemplate it? A little English girl who lived in London many years ago and who later came to this better country and became a very useful citizen, used to tell how with her nurse she used to walk along the bank of the Thames and on the many ships there look upon the flags of the world. She knew not where they came from nor what their colors meant, but for design and color she early chose the American flag, not knowing that some day it would be her own, as the prettiest flag that floated in that harbor which was hospitable to all the flags on earth. It is a beautiful flag, simple in design, it bears no complicated coat of arms, no irregular lines, no intricate design. Many flags are so burdened with devices that they are difficult to make and for that reason in many lands few people own the flag of their own country and they see it only when a regiment may pass on parade or they are privileged to behold a decorated building of state. But not so with us. The flag is part of every well equipped household. No home is complete without it. The Department of Commerce now proposes to standardize this beautiful and simple emblem of the United States. It has been made by almost any measure and proportions, oft times differing. To change this so that all flags may at least appear the same the Department of Commerce proposes to determine fixed dimensions for the flag in ten defined sizes, from small to large, in which it will have the cooperation of the various government departments and the Fine Arts Commission. It was John Adams who introduced the resolution which made the Betsy Ross plan our flag official. His resolution, which was adopted by the American Congress on June 14, 1777, declared that the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white on a blue field representing a new constellation. At that time Washington said "We take the stars from Heaven, the red from our Mother Country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripe shall go down to posterity representing Liberty." Hereafter, the generally accepted proportion of our flag was that the length should be twice the width. That proportion at least has been accepted as good form. There are seven red stripes and six white. The out-field covering the width of the four red stripes at the top and now there are forty-eight stars on the field of blue. If you haven't a flag in your home, either get one or make one. It is the symbol not only of American life but of the American home. Have the emblem of your home in your home.
