THE GOLDEN RULE.

If the one greatest law of personal and social conduct were fully and sincerely adopted and practiced by the people of this or any other nation there would be little need for the thousands of volumes of statutes, state and national, that now weigh down the shelves of our law libraries. There would be little need for our courts, civil and criminal, and small use for our jails and other correctional and penal institutions. The age long differences between capital and labor would fade away, along with destructive religious controversies, and all jealousies, quarrels, unfairness and oppression.

The Golden Rule consistently and conscientiously applied would be a great leveler and harmonizer for the buyer and seller, the employer and employe, ruler and subject, husband and wife, rich and poor, learned and ignorant.

Can any one think of a situation or condition where it would not apply and if applied lead to immense improvement in understanding, cooperation and consummation?

Then why don't we for the sake of humanity and our own good adopt and live it?

BETTER OBSERVE THE LAW.

There are a lot of people in this country playing with fire when they connive at violating the prohibition law. Not only do they run the risk of bringing on themselves blindness or death by imbibing the poisonous moonshine stuff but they are wilfully breaking the law, and encouraging others to do the same, which brands them as disloyal and dangerous citizens. They are criminals and their attitude and actions have led to murder and the loss of many lives.

The number of those who seem disposed to encourage acts nullifying the prohibition laws is surprisingly large and many are officials or "higher-ups."

It is certain the great majority of American men and women want prohibition and want it strictly enforced. They believe they are now, and have been in all the fight to secure prohibition, actuated by moral principles love of decency and good citizenship and of human life and morality,—and cannot be expected to ever quit until these principles are fully secured and firmly established.

It is to be expected that the laws will be made more drastic and the penalties more severe as long as there is as at present an evident movement to weaken or destroy the enforcement law.

Prohibition has come to stay. Better observe the law. Don't play with fire.

ELECTRIFICATION OF THE FARM.

Necessity overcomes all obstacles. Electrification of the farm is a coming necessity and the development of electric service in the future must provide for its distribution not only in the centers of population but in the thickly settled county localities.

All of eastern Multnomah is well favored in this respect.

Someone suggests a new motto for our coins: "Abide With Me." The Outlook claims that is too narrow altogether. "Keep Me Rolling" would be far better if a change were desired.

Crop Report.

United States farm supplies of all grains except wheat on March 1, 1923, were slightly less than one year ago, considerably less than two years ago, but not materially different from the ten year average, according to reports compiled by the Crop Reporting Board, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Percentage of the Oregon grain crop of 1922 remaining on farms March 1, 1923, is reported as follows: corn, 7 per cent; wheat, 10 per cent; oats 21 per cent; barley, 16 per cent. On March 1, 1922, supplies of the 1921 crop on hand were, corn 10 per cent; wheat, 11 per cent; oats, 30 per cent; barley, 22 per cent. It is probable that the foregoing figures include some grain not actually on farms, but still owned by the growers and stored in warehouses at shipping points.

A married man entitled to a personal exemption of $2500 and $800 additional for two dependents, whose net income does not exceed $3300 but does exceed $2000 is required to file an income tax return although he is not required to pay a tax.

If an individual receives a salery and also an allowance for meals and lodging, as, for example, a per diem allowance in lieu of subsistence, any excess of the cost of such meals and lodging while away from home in connection with his business is taxable income under the federal income tax law.

A Want Ad means additional income with little outlay. Let the Outlook prove it.

FORD PRODUCTION TO REACH 6,000 CARS A DAY

"Production at the Ford Motor Company for 1923 will be established on a basis of six thousand cars and trucks per day as soon as this output can be reached, which will be around April first," says Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company.

"This production will give us approximately 1,500,000 cars and truck chassis for this year or nearly one-quarter million in excess of our production for 1922.

"Ford production for 1922 was slightly over 50 per cent of the total production of all cars and trucks in this country.

"Before it was decided to establish a production for this year reaching 6,000 cars a day, which is a decided increase in the total volume of cars that were produced last year, by far the largest year in the history of the Ford Motor Company, an exhaustive examination was made of every possible field of sales as it relates to Ford products.

Motor cars for passenger service have already proved a necessity to the farmer but the use of motor trucks for farm haulage promises to find its greatest development during the coming 12 months. Good roads, conpetitive market requirements and other contributary factors are forcing it upon the realization of the farmer that he must give up the slow moving horse-drawn transportation of his products in favor of the faster moving, more economical handling of those products by motor trucks.

"The large use of motor cars for passenger service among farmers has done a great amount of natural educational work which has brought the consideration of motor truck service to his favorable attention.

"The gradual but certain return of better prices for farm products, the quicker demand for the things raised on the farm and the general stabilizing of financial conditions as they relate to the farmer, are all helping to bring this field, which is virgin in nature in many sections of the country, under the immediate attention of the dealer.

"In our investigation of the field of sales open to Ford Dealers, we have found a steadily growing tendency on the part of owners of large cars to use the Ford as an auxiliary car for convenience in city driving and for work not requiring the passenger-carrying capacity of the larger cars.

"Gradually the automobile has been brought within the financial reach of practically every family. Present prices on Ford cars are the lowest in the history of the company, while in the actual value afforded the user, the Ford has attained to the highest mechanical standard ever reached.

"While a development in car buying is growing despite any statements bearing on the so-called 'Saturation Point,' the purchaser of automobiles is concentrating his buying as he does in any other commodity on the basis of value for the money spent."

S. P. Lowers Freight Rates.

Shippers will welcome the announcement that freight rates on commodities moving from Chicago and points west to the Pacific coast have been lowered to meet water competition to become effective April 17, announces the Southern Pacific.

The lines operating through the Panama canal have made heavy inroads on the tonnage of rail carriers from the middle western territory and the railroads are now trying to get back some of this business. It is in the center where the big hydro-electric generating plants are located and power lines traverse its length and breadth.

A Correction.

Strychnine sent to Oregon and other states by the United States government to be used in the work of rodent control is not furnished free by the government, as was stated in a recent article in the Outlook, but is furnished at cost.

The county agent gets this poisoned barley at cost and it is in turn turned over at cost to the farmers. The same is true of the rat poison and other rodent poisons.

Rudolf Mullenhoff, reporter for the Damascus Farm Bureau, called the attention of the Outlook to the fact that the information sent in was correct but that his notes were misinterpreted.

Typing Contest at O. A. C.

Rules for the contests in typing to be held during the Oregon Agricultural college business show, March 30 and 31, have been sent to all high schools in the state. Entries must be in by March 15, with choice of machines indicated and other special preferences. There will be two divisions in the contest—one for those who have not had more than one year of experience, and one for those who have not taken typing previous to August 1, 1922. The contest will last 15 minutes, and papers will be checked according to rules of international typing contests.

Sums of money paid in the form of alimony are not taxable income to the recipient, nor allowable deductions to the person paying them under a provision of the federal income tax law.

A few hogs will go a long way toward paying the bills on any farm, but too many may eat up all the profit. Base the number of hogs to be kept on the amount of farm waste available for hog feed.—O. A. C.

Lion Killer Arrives at U. S. Zoo

This giant lion-killing Mandrill has just arrived in the U. S. from Hamburg, the first of the species ever in this country. He is a rough, tough customer and handlers had their job cut out for them.

Chicks die in the shell for a number of reasons: low vitality in breeding stock, birds out of condition due to improper feeding, improper handling, birds robbed of life blood by lice and mites, abnormality high or low temperatures during incubation, too much ventilation causing too much evaporation from the eggs, not enough oxygen for growing embryos or lack of fresh air, or other conditions of management which would tend to cause abnormal conditions. Anything that will kill the weak germs will weaken the strong. Finally, it's not how many chicks hatch, but how many good chicks hatch that's important.
