Sure He Did. "Waiter! I smell fresh paint." "Quite right, sir; but just for a moment, sir. The young ladies at the next table will be going in a minute, sir."

Wong No Sabe What for Pay Higher for the Lower.

"Let me have bed for sleep on plain, me likee to Los Angalese," and Jim Wong, a well known character in local Chinatown, approaching Roy Davis, Southern Pacific agent.

"For a single passenger?" asked Davis, smilingly.

"No, no," replied Wong. "Me melaid, but I no taken nobody. I think so one shelf auwlite."

"Upper or lower?" asked Davis. "Whatum diffence?" inquired Wong. "A difference of about $1.00," answered Davis.

Jim Wong paused, as he fumbled his money, and Davis explained.

"You understand the lower is higher than the upper. The higher price is for the lower berth. If you want it lower you will have to go higher. We sell the upper lower than the lower. In other words, the higher the lower."

"What to everybody likem sleepum lower shelf?" asked Wong.

"On account of its convenience," explained Davis. "Most people don't like the upper, although it is lower, on account of it being higher and because when you occupy an upper, you have to get up to your bed and then get down when you get up. You can have the lower if you pay higher, but if you are willing to go higher it will be lower."

For a time it seemed as though it would be necessary to call an ambulance and send the bewildered Wong to his home, but after a few moments he rallied and came back at Davis.

"You gotten home? I likee talkee Pierry Buckley. (Buckley is one of the large apple shippers at Watsonville.) You catchem, he sabe me talk."

Davis got Buckley on the phone and explained the matter to him, then Wong took the receiver in hand and after an excited conversation, hung up and turned to Davis.

"I think so you, Pierry, clazy, I go to my house, get pot tea, one pillow, I come back catchem ticket. I think so me go Los Angalese, all a same smoke car. Me no katchem sleep shelf, goodbye."—Southern Pacific Bulletin.
