PRESIDENT HARDING AND PROHIBITION.

President Harding has stated his recognition of the benefits of the prohibition law and has repeatedly taken a stand in favor of it, but in his recent letter to Wesley Wait of Newberg, N. Y., in regard to the repeal of the New York enforcement law, he assumed leadership of the loyal forces of the government against the anti-prohibitionists who are endeavoring to thwart the operation of the United States laws.

"With much of what you say I am fully in accord. Mr. Lincoln said at the time when slavery was still a recognized, established and accepted institution throughout a considerable part of the Union that the nation could not exist half slave and half free. That expression has been accepted ever since as presenting the obvious and conclusive logic of the situation which then confronted the Union. Certainly it would have still more impressive if there had been at that time a constitutional provision against slavery, as there is now a constitutional provision against the liquor traffic.

"The nation has deliberately after many years of consideration, adopted the present policy, which is written into the Eighteenth Amendment. It is the law of the land and of every state in the Union. So long as it remains the national policy there can be only one course for the national government to pursue—that is to use every means to make effective the law passed in compliance with this constitutional mandate. To do this will be the unquestioning policy of the present administration, and I may add that I am fully convinced that it must be the policy of other administrations that will come hereafter.

"The executive of the nation, and equally the executives of the states, are sworn to enforce the Constitution. It is difficult to believe that public approval will ever be given to any other than a policy of fully and literally discharging this duty. It does not seem fitting, however, to enter upon a discussion of a situation which has not yet arisen. It will be obvious that the many complex and extremely difficult situations must arise if any of the states shall decline to assume their part of the responsibility of maintaining the Constitution and laws enacted in pursuance of it. The states are equipped with police organizations and judicial establishments adequate to deal with such problems. The Federal government is not thus equipped."

FLORIDA SAVED BY THE PRESS

Florida's decision to abolish the convict lash comes as a result of newspaper publicity which compelled state officials to wince before the anger of decent thinking people. Men and boys tortured and whipped to death in convict camps presented a picture at once revolting and outrageous.

Of course, the situation never could have existed had the people of Florida realized what was going on. Unfortunately, they did not realize, and the sleek officials, paid whippers and convict judges, thinking possibly of their own jobs, took pains to keep disgraceful details from public notice.

Prisoners were lashed and tortured not only as punishment, but as a means of terrifying the rest of the gang and to "maintain discipline." Secrecy was the safeguard, and it needed courage to turn on the spotlight. Only the vision and public spirit of a newspaper publisher made possible the ending of this horrifying practice.

It takes brave men to tell the truth, but once the truth became known the people's anger grew. When the temper of the people began to be felt, the politicians stepped in line, and so we find marked up another worthy achievement in journalism.

It is pleasing to note that the reform was brought about by a few of the home newspapers of Florida and not by pressure from an alien press. The Jacksonville Journal led manfully in the fight, remorselessly dragging into the sunlight the brutality that put such a blot upon the state. Most of the country newspapers did their part valiantly. Obviously, it was not a pleasant task for the newspapers to expose a condition so disgraceful in their own state, but sometimes "we must be cruel only to be kind."

We have no room for Congo atrocities in America.

NOW WE'RE IN THE TRILLIONS

A few years ago the American people were shocked when they had to think in terms of billions. Now we seem to be out of date. The trillion nations are with us. Indeed, unless there is a check to currency inflation it will not be long until we consider finance in the quadrillions.

Russia, Germany, Austria and Poland are now measuring their currency far up in the trillions, and the printing presses are still at work. The enormous totals have been reached mainly in the last year. Russia's currency stood at 450 trillion rubles at the end of 1922, having increased forty times in one year. German currency at 5 1/2 trillion, an increase of forty times. Austria increased her currency to four trillion crowns, and Poland, quadrupling her currency, is in excess of one trillion marks.

National currency is puzzling to the average mind, but the effect of inflation may be judged by considering the price of commodities in Russia. According to the department of commerce the article which in pre-war days sold for $1, now sells for $15,000,000. To go to the movies there one must be in the millionaire class at least.

SHOCK ABSORBERS

Once there was a wise boy. He was wise, not foolish, because he bought a car, and wiser still because he used it. Whenever he got into a jam he'd go into the garage and take a long look at that flivver. And his eyes would fix themselves on the shock absorbers. He'd paid about $20 for them. When he first drove the car he found out he'd better dodge the bumps and soften those he couldn't dodge.

Nowadays he sees that life is just a village roadway calling for improvements, and not a very long roadway either. A little cautious driving and we can reach the end without much shaking up. Then we can go into neutral without worrying.

NOT THAT KIND A'TALL "Rastus, that dog o' yours 's a mongrel."

"No—suh. No, 'n deed. Jest common dawg, suh—common dawg."

OH, TRUTH, HOW UNKIND! While leaving the church, Bobby's mother was criticizing the sermon. Bobby finally turned and said: "Gee, mom, what do you expect 'o' a dime?"

Farmers Mutual Fire Relief Assn. Does Flourishing Business. The Farmers Mutual has grown to be the largest farmers' company in the Northwest. Farmers who consider their own welfare prefer it. President Snashall reports the Association has over $16,000,000 in force and over 10,000 members. In the past year it has paid over $33,000 in losses with one assessment only at 30c per hundred dollars. There is no reason why farmers should pay high rates when they can insure in a Farmers' Association. Anyone wishing to insure will call on H. W. Snashall at the Fair Grounds, Gresham.
