ROSE FESTIVAL WEEK.

This is the week during which Portland pays homage to the rose queen and all eyes are turned toward the City of Roses. This applies not only to all Oregon but the entire country.

It is unfortunate that this locality cannot take a suitable part in the parade. There seem to be too few to do the work and there are so many demands on the business interests of the locality that it seems out of the question to call on them to raise the necessary funds.

Gresham people possess practically as good an opportunity to witness the floral festival features as the people of Portland and many attend each year.

Hail to Queen Lucy!

NOW "COLONEL" WELCH.

Hiram U. Welch is now a colonel in the Oregon national guard, assigned to the 18th Infantry, having just received his promotion.

Colonel Welch is so well known here that many will read this with interest and feel like congratulating him.

Mr. Welch, now county assessor, covered this part of the county as deputy assessor under Henry Reed. He has been active in the military affairs of the state for many years, beginning in 1894 as a private in the old militia.

He continued through the grades of corporal and sergeant during the three years which followed and on January 7, 1897, was commissioned a second lieutenant in his outfit, the famous old battery "A." He served in that capacity through the Spanish-American war, was promoted to captain of the battery, and during the Mexican border imbroglio was commissioned a major and put on recruiting duty.

At the beginning of the world war Colonel Welch was a major in the inspector-general's department, but on June 7, 1918, accepted a demotion to the rank of captain in order to get back into the combat branch of service and was commissioned in the field artillery. Two months later, August 9, 1918, he was promoted to a majority, in which capacity he concluded his service in the world war.

May 24, 1919, Colonel Welch was transferred again to the inspector-general's department, in which he remained, until December 15, 1922, when he was commissioned lieutenant-colonel and assigned to the 18th Infantry. His promotion to full colonelcy put him in charge of Oregon's newest infantry regiment and makes him the highest ranking guard officer in the state under General White.

Colonel Welch received his education in Lebanon, Portland and Salem, matriculating from Willamette university. He served as deputy county assessor of Multnomah county from 1900 to 1920 and was elected to the office of assessor in 1920.

The Oregon national guard has never been in so flourishing a condition as today, says Colonel Welch, pointing out the high morale among enlisted men and officers and the entire lack of petty jealousies which would disturb harmony. He attributes its condition primarily to the untiring efforts of the present adjutant-general, backed by loyal guardsmen.

"The national guard is the best training opportunity for the young man of today," declared Colonel Welch. "It offers him an excellent chance to develop, learn self-reliance and basic principles of clean, healthy living."

Cows Must Be Tested.

An effort is being made to have all cows in the county tested for tuberculosis and already nearly a thousand have been tested by the government veterinarian. A fine, healthy condition of the cows is shown by the fact that out of the first 435 cows tested only seven were found to be tubercular.

In view of the fact that the proposed milk ordinance of the city of Gresham will require all cows furnishing milk for the city to be tuberculin tested, County Agent S. B. Hall has announced his desire to cooperate with dairymen in getting their cows tested. If owners will register their cows with Mr. Hall at once, he will arrange a day for all those in the immediate vicinity, which will reduce the cost to 10 cents a head.

The Boy Was Right.

Mother—"Jimmy, you stop pulling baby's toes! You'll pull them out." Jimmy—"No, I won't, mother. They've got nails in them."

TO MARY.

(Dedicated to Mary Hansen) Sweet singer, thy celestial power, Ever moves the straying heart to prayer, While deepening thoughts of worship's hour Lighten the soul's intrusive care.

Divinely sweet the tones that thou flow Harmonious with thy vocal lyre, For thou has felt the joy, I know, That moves to song the heavenly choir.

Because thine own heart is inspired With messages of love divine, Thou knowest what is here required To make the waiting heart a shrine.

'Tis not alone the words, nor yet The voice or manner of the song, For these the mind may soon forget— The soul of music lingers long.

Remember, Mary, thou'rt endowed; High attributes to thee belong. 'Tis thine to dissipate sin's cloud And cheer immortal souls by song.

Then sing the wondrous works of God; Sing cheering songs by day, by night; Lift weary hearts above the cloud To dwell for aye in heavenly light.

H. L. ST. CLAIR. February 14, 1921.

FROM THE SHOULDER.

By Rev. M. A. Matthews, D.D., L.L.D. The world is constantly hurling accusations at the church, but it does not point you to the real robbers. Would a man rob God? No. But a Bolshevik, hypocrite, and heretic would. They are robbing the church every day.

They are sending their agents, their rationalistic and Bolshevistic heretics into the church. Of course, they have to perjure themselves and sing their own souls in order to get in. Then when they enter the church their obligations begin not to the church but to the conspirators against the church.

There is another group of conspirators and robbers who are both in and out of the church. Their method is to take from the church for circular use every dollar that they can possibly extract from the members.

They are constant devising schemes and plans and organizations and methods by which the church member is relieved of his money and is made to contribute organizations, methods, plans, and programs, which are antagonistic to the spiritual work of the church.

Nearly seventy per cent of all the moneys contributed to these outside competing antagonistic and destructive agencies is contributed by the members of the christian church. They are robbing the church member, the church organization, and God in order that they may fill the coffers of the devil and build up the institutions of hell. They are all co-conspirators with the infamous heretics that are today making their attacks upon the church, upon the Bible, and upon Christ.

"Fools rush in," but if they remain fools they generally get kicked out.

The reason so many college graduates don't get anywhere is because, firstly, they ought never to have gone to college, and secondly because wisdom can't be bought by the yard.

Money is likely to be "tight" with the man whose living is loose.

NIGHT ATTACK.

Farmer (pounding on the door of city dude out to work his way back to health): "Hey, come on, pile out, it's time to get up."

City Dude: "What's the matter—what time is it?"

Farmer: "It's 3 a. m. Time to get up and milk the cows."

City Dude: "Heavens! do we have to sneak up on them in the dark?"

Ain't It the Truth.

Blythe—"Well, I see the dirt is flying this morning from the county's road grader."

Smythe—"Yep, and I like it a heap more than some of the mud-throwing I heard out at the political meeting last night."

My! My! My!

Johnson—"Man, you talk like an ignoramus. How long has it been since you went to school?"

Jackson—"Let's see—I ain't never went at all. How long is 'at'?"

We Slept There Once.

Guest—"Is there any water in my room?"

Hotel Boss—"There was—but I had the roof fixed."

The Bank of Gresham pays 5 per cent interest on time deposits.—Adv. NOTICE OF FILING FINAL ACCOUNT No. 21420. In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Multnomah, Department of Probate.

In the Matter of the Estate of Edward R. Wright, Deceased. Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, as administratrix of the estate of Edward R. Wright, deceased, has filed her final account as such administratrix in the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Multnomah, Department of Probate, that Monday, the 9th day of July, 1923, at the hour of 2:30 a. m. of said day and the court room of said court has been appointed as the time and place for the hearing of objections to said final account and the settlement thereof.

New Books at Troutdale Reading Room.

The coolest spot in Troutdale, these warm days, is the new public library reading room. A good book for a hammock vacation is "The Call of the Mountains," by Jeffers, which will appeal to even the most confirmed city dweller and inspire him with a longing for life in the open. It contains one chapter on rambles along the Oregon coast with especially good pictures of it.

Other new books at Troutdale are: "The Golden River," by J. W. Hills and Dianthe Dunbar. These adventurers followed the route in Paraguay by which Cabot in the arly part of the 16th century sought the Eldorado. They sought good sport in fishing and tell of their wanderings in an easy casual way which will be fascinating to devotees of fishing. Travel readers will like the book—it is not written to instruct.

"Here, There and Everywhere," by Hamilton. This is what might be called a very comfortable book. "These pleasantly written reminiscences are sprinkled with memories and anecdotes of people met along the way. The writer seems to have known everybody, and he usually has some intimate story to tell about the people he met."

"Woodrow Wilson as I Know Him" by J. P. Tumulty. The Greensboro Daily News says: "Mr. Tumulty has written a good book. It does not please Mr. Wilson's too ardent haters nor does it please Mr. Wilson's too ardent lovers. The former find too much Tumulty in it, the latter too real a Wilson."

"Wintergreen," by Janet Laing. An agreeable story of village life just after the war, in which the likeable Scotch spinster, Wintergreen, proves conclusively the worth of a good cook and housekeeper.

"Fair Rewards," by Beer. One of the most charming novels of 1922. A story of the theater but with more of an epic touch than most theatrical stories.

It's a fine thing that nobody has tried to prohibit hope. The most interested readers of vacation ads are those that won't be able to take vacations.
