URGENT CALL FOR HELP TO CLEAN UP GROUNDS

FAIR GROUNDS NEXT THURSDAY EVENING, 5 TO 8.

25 to 50 Men and Women Needed to Clean Up Grounds Preparatory to Coming Big Events.

A committee of the Commercial club has visited the fair grounds and auto park and recommends that a call be issued for men with scythes, rakes, etc., and women with brooms, to meet on the grounds Thursday evening and assist in a good old-fashioned working bee for the benefit of the locality to put the grounds in ship shape for Fourth of July celebration, Farmers Field day and county fair. Also to make the park presentable for auto campers who may stop here.

There is, according to the committee, much grass to be cut for which a dozen scythes—SHARP scythes—will be needed. Others will rake and gather and clean and burn the refuse. There are buildings to be swept out and brooms are needed for this work.

A basket lunch will be needed and the women are asked to assist in providing and serving same. Coffee and cream will be furnished.

All who can come as early as 5 o'clock are asked to do so and others come as early as possible. Each family represented is asked to arrange for a basket lunch for its members, and a little to spare for the bachelors, so that none will go hungry.

This will be the annual picnic of the Willing Workers club and those who have pride in their city and its activities are asked to be present.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT TO PORTRAY LEGENDS AND FOUNDING OF STATE

The "Trail of the Setting Sun," a historical pageant of old and new Oregon, promises to be one of the great attractions at the coming Multnomah county fair. It will be given on the evening of the opening day, Tuesday, July 31.

Mrs. Adah Losh Rose, a well known pageant writer and director has been engaged by the fair board to write and direct the production. Mrs. Rose wrote and directed the pageant which was given in Portland in 1919 in which more than 2000 persons participated. She has done pageantry work for a number of years and is extremely enthusiastic over the possibilities of visualizing the many early stories which surround the founding of civilization in the great northwest.

Plans Outlined.
Mrs. Rose was in Gresham yesterday and outlined in part her plans for this great event. She will visit the various localities and secure many of those of all ages who will participate in some of the great movements of the pageant.

The Parent-Teacher associations throughout the county are backing up the effort and these will assist Mrs. Rose in developing her plans. Groups will be formed and these will be trained in their home localities and later all will be brought together for final rehearsals. It is stated many Portland people will take part.

The production will include a thousand or more persons.

Many Children Included.
Hundreds of children and young persons will be needed in the various scenes.

The first scenes, or movements, of the pageant will develop the mythical stories and Indian legends, and will include children as dancers and fairies. Additional scenes will depict the early historical events including the visit of Lewis and Clark and leading up to the building of Portland. Other movements will present in allegorical form the development of Multnomah county and the beauties and prosperity of the state.

The Multnomah county fair, acknowledged to be a close second to the state fair, will furnish an appropriate background for this interesting pageant.

In a few days Mrs. Rose will establish her headquarters in Gresham in order to be on the ground and direct the preparations for the great event.

POPULAR CLOTHING STORE WILL ENLARGE

Announcement is made that Aylsworth & Martin have secured a lease on the part of the Howitt building now occupied by Glenn Davidson and will enlarge their store of clothing and men's furnishings to occupy the entire ground floor of the building. Possession of the south half will be given about August first and the month of August will be spent remodeling the store.

The plan of enlargement is quite extensive and will not only double the floor space enabling the store to greatly enlarge its stocks, but will also make possible more attractive displays and greater convenience in serving customers.

The entrance will be enlarged and the center partition removed. The entire front, each side of the entrance, will be used for display windows. The window space will also be extended 25 feet along the north wall.

In the rearrangement of the store the shoe department will be placed along the south wall the entire length of 60 feet. The rear of the room will be used for the clothing department and will contain about 80 feet of clothing cabinets. A clothing department for boys will be an added feature. A large cabinet will occupy the center of the room and ample show case room will be given to display of furnishings and hats.

The firm declares it to be their purpose to give this locality a very complete stock of clothing, shoes and furnishings, with all modern conveniences of service, at lower than city prices. They will feature many nationally known lines, including Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothing, Woolwear for boys, Cooper underwear, Interwoven hose, Arrow shirts and collars, Packard and Douglass shoes.

The store will remain open during the period of changes and it is expected to have all completed by September first and in readiness for the later summer and early fall trade.

The firm of Aylsworth & Martin is an incorporation, with Edward W. Aylsworth, president; J. R. Martin, vice president and treasurer, and George W. Stapleton, secretary.

GRESHAM YOUNG PEOPLE TAKE MARRIAGE VOWS

A beautifully appointed church wedding was celebrated last Sunday afternoon at the Bethel Baptist church in Gresham, when Miss Gladys Harmon became the bride of Vernie B. Radford, in the ring ceremony, which was read by the Rev. S. F. Pitts. The Rev. D. Q. Barry assisted.

The service was opened by a solo, "Thank God for a Garden," sung by Guy D. Jones, accompanied by Miss Ruth Heinrich of Portland. Miss Doris Zimmerman played the wedding march, the bridal chorus from Lohengrin. The bridal procession was headed by the ministers. Following them was little Ethelene Wymer as flower girl. Next came the bride with her father, Wm. D. Harmon; Vaye Harmon, sister of the bride, as maid of honor; the groom and Erwin Radford, his brother, as best man; the four bridesmaids, Esther Peterson, Emma Johnson, Vivian Hevel and Edith Hiatt.

The bride wore white Canton crepe and a veil and carried a shower bouquet. The maid of honor wore lavender satin and the bridesmaids satin and organdie in pastel shades.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for the couple at the home of Mrs. L. Radford, mother of the groom, where a buffet luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Radford will make their home at Bridal Veil, where he is employed.

RAY STRONG LEADS IN HARMONICA CONTEST

Ray Strong of Gresham won the first prize of $15 in the Oregonian harmonica contest which went out last night from the Oregonian radio station, KGW. There were four contestants in the junior contest. The Oregonian describes his technique as smooth and the effect symphonic. He played "Nellie Gray," "Sweet Adeline" and "Mocking Bird."

Strong will be a member of next year's senior class in the Gresham high school, where he is recognized as an all-round boy, and where he has won popularity. He plays the flute, is a leader in athletics and other student activities and has marked artistic abilities.

H. W. Strong, father of Ray, and Edward, his brother, are planning to compete in the senior harmonica contest of the Oregonian.

Firemen Want Flowers.

Any one having flowers, can spare for the fire department to decorate the fire truck for the parade on the Fourth of July, please notify F. L. Mack, phone 663, and the flowers will be called for.

The stock reducing sale of L. A. Wack & Co., successors to Bishop Bros., which has progressed very satisfactorily during this month, is now drawing to a close, this being the last week.

In advertisements large and small from week to week this firm has presented to the buying public its remarkable offers and has made a good impression. It has been their introduction to the public and they have established a reputation for straightforward businesslike methods, honesty and courtesy.

"We have accomplished our object," says Mr. Wack, senior member of the firm, "and have reduced the stock we found here when we purchased the store and now will add needed lines of new and standard goods. We especially wish to thank the people for their liberal patronage and the confidence they have shown in us. We wish to commend the Outlook for its up-to-date service and cooperation in the business affairs of the locality."

Girl Well Known Here Dies in Portland.

Word has been received of the death last week in Portland of Miss Hazel Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Fisher. She was 24 years of age. Her death was due to tuberculosis. Miss Fisher was a cousin of the late Fred Crane, Jr., who died from the same disease about a year ago. She was bridesmaid at the wedding of Fred Crane and Margaret Schantlin.

SERVICE WINS, SAYS LOCAL BATTERY MAN

Service can claim part of the credit for the victory of the American cars over the foreign entries in the recent great automobile racing classic at Indianapolis Speedway, Decoration Day, claims Sperm McCarter, local Willard dealer.

"Willard service was on hand to see that the Willard storage batteries in the majority of the American cars in the race gave every bit of help to the cars in which they were part of the racing equipment," Mr. McCarter said.

Tommy Milton's H. C. S. special, the winner, was equipped with battery ignition supplied by a Willard battery, as were also the cars of Harry Hartz, Jimmy Murphy and Eddie Hearne, who took second, third and fourth places, respectively.

Frank Elliott and Cliff Durant, who placed sixth and seventh had Willard batteries on their cars. Wade Morton drove in his Duesenberg. Willard equipped for the tenth place.

Last year only 1 car in the race was Willard equipped, that of Jimmy Murphy, the winner. This year out of the ten cars that finished within the money seven carried Willard batteries.

The Willard company, having a keen realization of the importance of service, maintained a fully equipped Willard Service Station at the Indianapolis Speedway for some weeks previous to the race, and on Decoration Day carefully trained men were on hand to see that each driver obtained the utmost from the Willard with which his car was equipped.

"This was indeed a great victory for our service and batteries," says the local dealer.

WANTED, NAME FOR NEW ICE CREAM

The former Pack Products company, now known as the Gresham Ice Cream & Ice company, is fast working into ice cream production on a large scale and is putting on the market one of the finest ice creams to be had. It has been handled in Gresham exclusively by Davidson's Drug store which does a large business in this line and only words of praise are heard from all who have sampled the new product. Many are asking for the Gresham ice cream, and Mr. Fleischer reports that daily new contracts are being signed. One of the principal resorts on the Columbia river highway will serve this excellent ice cream to its patrons.

But the new cream is without a name.

Name Wanted.
Mr. Fleischer, president and manager of the company, has started a contest to secure a name. He offers a prize of $5 to the person suggesting the best name, the selection to be made by the company.

The contest is now open and will close at 6 p. m., Saturday, July 7. It is open to all to suggest as many names as desired. In case of a tie the prize will be divided.

Replies are to be mailed to the company at Gresham, or sealed and handed in at the factory, the Outlook office, or Davidson's Drug store.

This presents an opportunity that many should take advantage of not alone for the worth of the prize but also for the privilege of helping to suggest a name for a local product that may become as familiar and famous as any variety now so generally sold in this part of the state.

MERRILL TRIAL WILL BE IN JUSTICE BROWN'S COURT

A warrant was served yesterday on Fred T. Merrill, owner of the 12-mile house, known as the Plantation Inn, from the court of Justice of the Peace John Brown of Gresham. The complaint charged Merrill with maintaining a public nuisance. It was based on reports of deputy sheriffs that they found a party of drinking men and women in the 12-mile house at 1 a. m. on Friday night. The men were all convicted of drunkenness in district court.

Deputy Sheriff H. Christoffersen swore to the complaint and Deputy District Attorney Mowry ordered the warrant to be issued by Justice Brown. On being notified that the officers were here, Mr. Merrill came over from his road house and submitted to arrest. Bail for him was fixed at $500, which was produced.

It was arranged by Mr. Brown to draw a jury list next Monday and attorneys for the state and the defense will select jurors from this list, probably a week later or at such time as the trial shall be set. Mr. Merrill will be defended by Attorney Barney Goldstein of Portland.

The difficulty of securing conviction in the district court is said to be the reason for bringing this case into the justice court in the community in which the roadhouse exists. Merrill is facing charges of liquor selling in federal court as the result of the raid of the road houses on May 15.

Already three of the roadhouse keepers caught in the sensational raid of May 15 have been tried and acquitted in the state district courts, though their guilt has been admitted in practically all of them. Irregularity of trials and disregard for the facts in the cases have aroused a storm of protest among the supporters of law and order in the county and it is hoped that the trial here will be free from some of the influences which have been brought to bear in the other cases.

The Oregonian in yesterday's issue explains that the federal authorities have abandoned the old system of simply bringing a man to trial for the sale, the manufacture of the possession of liquor. Where two or more persons are involved in a liquor deal, grave conspiracy charges are laid.

Proprietors of commercial establishments who deal in liquor are charged with conducting nuisances. Abatement proceedings have been brought which have closed a number of the more notorious resorts. In case Merrill is convicted in the federal court on July 12, abatement proceedings probably will be brought against his place, United States Attorney Coke has stated.

Police, federal, state and county officers are co-operating in the clean-up campaign. Sheriff Hurlburt ordered his men to turn over the two most important roadhouse cases to government officials for prosecution in the federal courts. The police do likewise. Federal authorities, hampered by a great deal of red tape, often turn over their information to the sheriff or the police.

"We cannot expect to make the country completely dry," said Dr. J. A. Linville, national prohibition director for Oregon, "no law is enforced 100 per cent. But we can keep after the bootleggers and the rum runners so hard that the majority of them will quit. That is just what the four law enforcing agencies in Portland are doing today. We may not be able completely to eradicate all intoxicating liquor, but we can make it mighty scarce. All we need to accomplish that result is the co-operation of the public and the support of public opinion."

Will Continue Nursing.

Mrs. Harriett Timmerman wishes to announce that she will continue nursing under the supervision of Dr. H. H. Hughes and Dr. Geo. Ingils at her home on Fifth street near Roberts avenue, Gresham, and the home will be open to calls day or night. Phone Gresham 1861.
