PSYCHOLOGY AND HEALING.

For a long time the art of healing was associated with fetishism. Then it was discovered various plants had healing properties and a materia medica was gradually developed. Then chemistry was applied to the relief of physical pain and the counter-acting of the poisons resulting from disease.

The suggestion which leads to healing may have its basis in any one of several sources of conviction. One of the most usual and effective is the religious conviction. When this conviction grows out of the acceptance of God's will and is strengthened by prayer, of the individual or others, there is wrought in the mind a powerful suggestion that dominates the thoughts, feelings and emotions and effects changes which are as genuine as those resulting from material aid.

The human race has only begun to touch the borderland of the supernatural, the spiritual, and the possibilities of the human mind are next to those of the infinite mind. The more the human mind touches the infinite the more power men will have over matter and all that pertains to it.

ALL EYES ON TILLAMOOK.

The eyes of Oregon newspaper men and women will be fixed on Tillamook from now on. It was decided at the recent state editorial meeting at Hood River to go next year to Tillamook which some one designates the land of "ocean breeze, big trees and Tillamook cheese."

The Tillamook Headlight refers to the prospect of next year's convention as follows:

"The State Editorial association which met at Hood River in its closing hours voted to hold the next session of the association in Tillamook. By the time they arrive next year the big armory auditorium should be ready to receive them. The coming of the association means that at least 200 newspapermen and the families of the married members will be present sometime in July, 1924. Tillamook has ample chances for the entertainment of such a body of visitors outside of its own resources. The beaches will be a great attraction, which the average editor and his family will appreciate. In addition to the editorial association we are to be host to the Elks grand lodge which meets here sometime in the early summer and a couple thousand people will doubtless be present on that occasion."

Editor Upton H. Gibbs is running in his paper, the Eastern Clackamas News, of Estacada, a series of ghost stories of his own composition. The general heading is "Stories for Hot Weather." Perhaps his theory is that the ghost stories will cause the cold chills to run up and down the reader's back. They are interesting stories, however, with an English setting and show literary ability.

This is the season of season tickets. Get yours in season.

Wonder if Ernie Stratton will go up in the air plane again this fair time?

If you haven't received your copy of the premium list for this year's fair, call up Secretary Puifer at once.

Hey, Mister! Isn't it about time you cut the weeds and grass along the street in front of your place, to say nothing of your front yard? Do it now so the city will look inviting during fair week.

Fighting Gypsy Moth from the Air

Uncle Sam is aiding in the fight being waged against the dreaded Gypsy Moth, which has been doing great damage to crops in New Hampshire. Photo shows army air service balloons anchored 100 feet above ground by an unusual rigging while they spray 25 pounds of powder to the acre every 5 minutes.

SOME OF BEDE'S STORIES.

J. Adam Bede, of Minnesota, father of Elbert Bede of the Cottage Grove Sentinel, is a very entertaining speaker, as he proved in addressing the editors at Hood River. He is a humorist of the first water and between flashes of rare wit regales his hearers.

Our friend, Geo. A. McArthur, of the Millwaukie Review managed to jot down a few of Bede's jokes which most of those who heard him utterly forgot to do. From McArthur's paper we take the following:

An Indian who had got religion called on the editor and paid his subscription, with the statement "I want a receipt." "Why are you so anxious for a receipt?" said the Ed. "When I get to heaven," said Lo, "Mr. St. Peter will want to know if I paid all my debts, and I don't want to have to go all over hell to find you to verify the statement that I have paid your bill."

A candidate called on a farmer and started the conversation by asking, "How's politics this year, old man?" "Rather mixed," said the tiller of the soil. "Mirandy is a democrat, I am a republican, the baby is wet and the cow is dry."

"I believe there should be two great political parties. One in office and one almost in office; so that the minority can watch the majority. I have always belonged to the republican party because I always thought the democrats made the best watchers."

"Everything is becoming so highly bred that the Jersey cow will no longer give milk unless the dairy is lighted with electricity and she is regaled with the music of Gold Seal records on a high class phonograph," he said.

He sighted the case of the boys, who, giving an ice cream party to some girl friends, were in a quandry as to the girls' capacity for ice cream, one of them referred to a long forgotten arithmetic book and found therein the answer to the problem. "One gal equals four quarts."

Internal Revenue Appeals to Be Heard in Portland.

Clyde G. Huntley, collector of internal revenue, advises that at an early date this fall a sub-committee of the bureau of internal revenue of Washington, D. C., will hold a series of hearings in Portland when residents of Oregon and other western states may present appeals from the action of the income tax unit.

"By this arrangement," says Collector Huntley, "the work of hearing and disposing of these appeals from taxpayers will not only be greatly expedited but the interested litigants will be spared the expense and loss of time of either going to Washington in person or employing legal assistance to make the trip to that city where all appeals have heretofore been heard."

Returns and payment of federal miscellaneous occupational taxes must be made on or before July 31, according to Clyde G. Huntley, collector of internal revenue. Capital stock tax returns must also be made at the same time.

Included in the occupational taxes are brokers, proprietors of theaters and concert halls, shows, billiard rooms, etc., and passenger automobiles for hire.

Flity-Flity. The taxi dashed wildly up to the curb and stopped. An old lady opened the door and alighted.

Old Lady—"You know, that's the first taxi I ever rode in."

Driver—"Ya ain't got nothin' on me, lady. It's the first one I ever drove."

Heavy Thinking. Bill—"I wonder if I could get Jack to come over to my party tonight?"

Tom—"I doubt it. I heard he had a case of tonsillitis."

Bill—"Gee, I ain't got nothing but gin."

Literal Luke. She—"What would you call a man who hid behind a woman's skirt?"

He—"Well—in this day and age—I'd say 'magician.'"

SELF-HELP TAUGHT IN NEAR EAST RELIEF

Getting the dollar to do nearly double duty when it is hard enough to persuade it to give one hundred cents worth of work may sound like frenzied finance. But it is the actual accomplishment of American workers of the Near East Relief in the Levant where living costs are constantly striving for new altitude records.

Due to high prices of native products and the difficulties of importing goods into interior stations these workers have found it cheaper and an effective aid to child training to manufacture their own supplies in the orphanages scattered throughout the entire region from Syria to the Caucasus in which the Americans are caring for approximately one hundred and seventeen thousand children.

Not only has this method been found to furnish superior products, according to workers who have been responsible for these activities, but it prepares the children for occupations that will eventually make them self-supporting, such as printing, carpentering, tailoring, dress-making and a dozen other trades.

The same plan is said by these workers to have been followed with considerable success in the administering of general relief. Because it was found that the indiscriminate distributions of money and food tended to make permanent beggars of those that received this form of relief, industrial shops have opened where employment is given to those in need. The products of these shops are either sold or used in caring for the orphans and adult refugees.

Though such methods cannot be adopted in relieving such widespread suffering as now exists in Greece and the islands of the Aegean and Mediterranean seas where nearly two million refugees are gathered and where starvation and disease are reported to be causing deaths by the thousands, they have been found to be practicable in regions where the suffering is not so acute or widespread and have resulted in the saving of a large amount of money, which it has been possible to apply to an extension of necessary relief activities.

BE MASTER OF YOUR JOB.

By Richard Lloyd Jones. No job is so difficult and none so disheartening as that of avoiding work. The idler is the man above all others to be pitied. He who avoids work never lives, for he never comes to know the joy of doing, the contentment that comes from creating, nor the glory of serving. Without work there is no rest.

Every man wants to think that he is worth something. No man can know what he is worth without work. Work is the test. Man's record in this world is the record of his work, not of recreation.

Work is man's noblest expression. All men wish to be noble. All men wish to leave a record. Therefore even they who are idle feign work; they wish, at least, to appear as workers.

Genius is sometimes looked upon as a God-given means of making a record without work. However God-given genius may be, it never accomplishes anything without work. The men of greatest genius have always been amongst the most plodding, hard working and intent—their chiefest genius being their genius for work. It is men of their kind who know that no true work is menial. They who look upon their work as menial are they who wait to invest in that work the patience, persistence, and power which lifts them above it.

Man was not made for work; work was made for man. The man is lost who is servant to his work. The strong man is always master of his job.

Work is an educator, and he who would be educated always seeks work which is above him, to which he must grow rather than work beneath him to which he must descend.

Real rest comes through change of work. We have work to do to gain our bread. We have other work to do for our delight. Both must be done heartily, strenuously, and with a will—else we fail.

The fair board will have a big job on its hands to handle the crowds next week. Let them boss the job but let's offer to help them in every way possible.
