CHILDREN'S CLUBS WILL HAVE FINE FAIR PROGRAMS

A splendid program of events for the boys and girls of the clubs has been arranged by Miss Ethel I. Calkins, county club agent, which will keep these activities before the public every day of the fair. The calf showing contest on Wednesday morning will be unusual, in that the basis of awards will be the condition of the calf, not its type. This gives all a chance to show their ability in handling the animals. It emphasizes showmanship and condition. It is believed that this method will keep the boys on the job throughout the season. This work trains for future efficiency in adult breeders. Multnomah county was the first to enter a separate showing contest two years ago, financed by the breeders' clubs.

The Jersey and Holstein club members show in separate contests, H. P. McCullough, local club leader, has lined up the following attractive prizes among Portland business men: Isaac Staples, stick pin; Sam Weiss, sack of feed; Brownville Woolen Mills, cap; Meier & Frank Company, $2.50 merchandise bond; Olds, Wortman & King, $2.50 merchandise bond; Sandy Kodak Company, $5 pen and pencil set.

Portland Flouring Mills have donated a silver cup for the best club pen of poultry. This is in addition to the premiums offered in the list.

BUSINESS HOUSES IN GRESHAM MAKE CHANGES

Several changes in Gresham business houses have been taking place in recent days and several more are due to come within the next week or two. Guy D. Jones has his stock and fixtures practically all moved into his new location in the C. E. Osburn building and will soon be settled. He will add to his jewelry lines others, including a line of fine china. The new location will be larger and more convenient and will have a fine large window for display.

John Brown, who has occupied rooms in the Regner building, recently purchased by C. W. Altman, has bought the small building on Powell street built last fall by Dr. H. C. Johnson on ground leased from John Metzger, and will move to that location immediately after the close of the fair. Dr. Johnson will occupy a room across the street from his present office, next to Gresham Market.

L. A. Wack & Company have leased the rooms now occupied by John Brown, and will begin their remodeling next week. The partition will be taken out and the whole store rearranged to give space for the enlarged and increased lines of dry goods. This work will be rushed to completion to be ready for the fall showing of goods which are already on the way. The change will add about 20 feet frontage to the big dry goods store and will extend the full depth of the building.

GRESHAM YOUNG MAN KILLED BY TRAIN

Leo L. Anicker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Anicker of Gresham, died on Tuesday afternoon, July 24, following an accident at a grade crossing near Drain in southern Oregon, when the truck which he was driving was struck by a Southern Pacific train and completely demolished. He was hit by the Shasta Limited at 3:28 and was taken to the Mercy hospital at Roseburg, where he died at 9:45, without fully gaining consciousness.

Leo was born at Kinton in Washington county, July 15, 1903. He came with his parents to Gresham four years ago and has been engaged on the farm and in the wood business until last fall, when he went to work in Portland. On account of an accident which laid his father up temporarily, Leo came home recently to assist in the farm work, and only last week Wednesday his parents took him to Drain where he and his brother Victor commenced hauling for a logging company at Drain. He is survived by his parents, four sisters and five brothers, Margaret, Beatrice, Vera and Amy of Gresham, Adolph of Portland, Victor of Drain, John, Woodrow and Lloyd of Gresham.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Congregational church at Beaverton, with interment in Crescent Grove cemetery near that place. A large delegation from the Gresham Grange, in which Leo was an active worker, attended the funeral, headed by M. M. Squire, master of the Grange. They took charge of the services at the cemetery and were assisted by five other granges, all of Washington county. The pall bearers were old schoolmates from Kinton.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our thanks to our many friends who shared in our unexpected grief, in the accident which took from our midst our beloved son and brother; and especial thanks to the granges who took part in the funeral services; also for the many beautiful floral offerings.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Anicker and Family.

FIVE-DAY COUNTY FAIR WILL OPEN AT GRESHAM TUESDAY

The "Great White Way" Will Glisten With Attractions and Buildings Will Bulge With Exhibits. Pageant, Horse Show, Races, Are Features.

All Cities and Country Localities of Multnomah County Are Intensely Interested and Will Give the Fair Hearty Support.

By L. B. BAKETEL.

Promptly at 8 o'clock next Tuesday morning the gates at the Multnomah County Fair grounds will be swung open for the 17th annual fair. Even at this early date nearly everything is in readiness for the auspicious occasion.

The sound of scores of hammers, the grating of numerous saws, the shouting of orders by the builders is an occurrence of every second and all are transforming rough looking, unshapely booths into things of real beauty.

The exhibits, the greatest in point of number ever shown here, will be displayed in a manner to attract and please. Portland and other firms of the county and state are out this year to do business and to show to the general public what they have to offer and the value of the products handled by them. From the exhibit standpoint this is to be the banner year.

Too Much Livestock.

More livestock will be shown than in previous years. The fair board is terribly handicapped by lack of sufficient buildings in which to house the stock offered. More than 200 entries have been turned down because there is no place to put them. As it is, a big tent will have to be used to give shelter to many of the hogs, sheep and goats.

A. C. Ruby has come forward with his string of horses to help boost the fair along. He does this every year and is a permanent fixture. His horses are of the best and he always is a consistent prize winner. He has taken 14 stalls and will have some 24 head to display to lovers of magnificent horse flesh.

Show Horses Here.

James McCleave, the veteran horseman from Victoria, B. C., arrived tonight with 21 horses. These thoroughbreds, numbering some of the best jumpers, drivers and various gaited animals in the world, will be featured of the horse show to be staged by Mr. McCleave every night during the fair in front of the grandstand, with the exception of Tuesday when the show will be given in the afternoon. His daughter, Doris, one of the really famous horsewomen, will be with him. Mr. McCleave has always been a winner at the Pacific International in North Portland and

DAKOTA LAWYER LOCATES IN GRESHAM

Alf O. Nelson, formerly of Dunn Center, N. D., with Mrs. Nelson and three young children, have recently come to Gresham and expect to make this their home. They have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Whetstone, having been formerly residents of nearby localities.

Mr. Nelson is a lawyer by profession and has had many years of extensive practice in Dunn county, North Dakota, and has been active in various lines of development.

The Dunn County Spotlight, in its issue of June 15, on the eve of Mr. Nelson's departure, gives him a very fine recommendation in the following words:

"Alf O. Nelson has resided in Dunn county for the past fourteen years. During that time he has been closely allied with the progress of Dunn county in various phases of its development. Soon after coming to the country received an appointment of United States commissioner, and held that position during the time that a large portion of the homestead entries and final proofs were made. He was also elected states attorney for two terms and served in that capacity with credit to himself and the country.

"In the meantime, he has maintained one of the largest private legal practices in this section of the state, and he has been very successful as a pleader in both district and supreme courts.

"Aside from his law business, Mr. Nelson has dealt considerably in land and was instrumental in bringing a number of settlers from the older sections of the state to Dunn county. In the meantime he farmed on an extensive scale himself.

"Mr. Nelson has ever been an ardent booster for the country. His departure will be regretted by a large number of friends, some of whom differed from him in some respects, but admired him for the ability and energy with which he took hold of any cause he espoused. This paper joins with a large number of people in wishing the Nelson family happiness in their new home and predicting success for Mr. Nelson in the field that will undoubtedly offer a wide field of endeavor to a man of his training and ability."

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson are welcomed to this locality where it is hoped they will find an inviting field for usefulness.

RADIO FANS WILL SEE FILMS IN GRESHAM

Through the cooperation of the Gresham Theater, the General Electric company and Floyd L. Mack, a free show will be given at the Gresham theater, Sunday, July 29th, at 3 p. m., entitled "The Wizardry of Wireless," showing in detail how the electrical currents flow in radio broadcasting and receiving, and how sound waves are changed to electrical waves in radio broadcasting, and changed back to sound waves in receiving.

Of special interest to radio fans, and those building their own sets.

Everyone cordially invited. If there is not room at the first show, it will be run the second time. If sufficient interest is shown in these pictures it is planned to give similar ones frequently during the summer.

Ernest Stratton says in answer to the Outlook's query regarding another airplane trip that any time suckers like Baketel, Squire and Mitchell want to put up the price he will take another sail over Gresham.

TRACK MEET WILL BE A FEATURE OF FAIR SATURDAY

The track meet will be under the direction of John C. Henderson, supervisor of recreation for the park bureau of the city of Portland.
