THE AMERICAN'S CREED.

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. "I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies."

OREGON EXCHANGES EXCELLS.

The August copy of Oregon Exchanges is at hand and its 44 pages teem with articles and items of interest to the editors of Oregon newspapers and associated writers and workers. It is edited by George S. Turnbull and published by the Oregon University School of Journalism in the interest of editors, publishers and printers of the state.

This publication, which has been issued bi-monthly from the University press, was by resolution at the recent state editorial meeting at Hood River adopted as the official organ of the state editorial association. It will be of great benefit to the editors if they will read it thoroughly, digest its meaty matter and help themselves to keep it going strong.

EDITORS PLEDGED.

Two resolutions among those adopted by the newspaper representatives at the recent state editorial convention are of general interest and should be made known to the reading public. One relates to the attitude of the newspapers toward the movements started by selfish would-be reformers which only tend to create political chaos, and the other relates to a little piece of road in the forest reserve on Mt. Hood which if built by the government would make this grand old mountain, one of the scenic wonders of the west, more easily approached by all travelers.

The resolutions follow: An Uncontrolled Press. Whereas: The only safeguard to the perpetuity of a democracy is a well and truthfully informed electorate, and,

Whereas: This information can best be conveyed through the medium of a press that is uncontrolled and unafraid, therefore,

Be It Resolved: That this association urge upon its members that they maintain a fearless and independent attitude upon all public questions, exposing political quackery and fake reformers upon all occasions, regardless of the policy of the business office, whose attitude the press is often so justly accused of reflecting, to the end that American institutions may be maintained and the American republic survive.

Auto Road to Cooper's Spur. Whereas: The finest mountain scenery in the world is to be found in the environs of Mt. Hood, and,

Whereas: These delightful beauties of nature would be known to millions of people in the United States were it

PROVING THE CASE AGAINST DR. ABRAMS AND HIS ERA

A newspaper office often brings queer things to light. One is the ever present tendency of some to want to discredit anything and everything new and strange. Another is the tendency on the part of some to want the newspaper to bear the brunt of criticism while the individual interested keeps in the background. They want to hide behind the newspaper and fire from ambush, so to speak, instead of coming out into the open and letting their attitude be known.

The editor finds on his desk a copy of The Dearborn Independent with the following article marked: "Proving the case against Abrams and ERA," which claims to present facts against the electronic theory of disease diagnosis and vibratory treatment as discovered by Abrams and used by him and his followers.

With the paper comes this strange note:

"Editor Outlook:—Kindly note the marked article. For the sake of the public this should be given publicity through your paper. "A SUBSCRIBER."

The Dearborn Independent is the Ford International Weekly, which claims to be a "Chronicler of the Neglected Truth."

The article referred to is by Robert Morgan who says the "disease is implanted in the mind of the patient and thus 'cure' is effected."

The strange thing about all of this from the newspaper standpoint is that any person interested in the Abram's discovery (if such it is) and method could have laid on our desk literature describing the ERA and favorable to it, including articles in well known magazines by well known investigators, some of them M. D.s, and appended the very same note that we find with the article against ERA from an unknown subscriber. And it would have had exactly the same weight and appeal.

Personally we know nothing about Abrams and ERA. We have read articles both favorable and opposed. All that has appeared in the Outlook with reference to ERA has been unsolicited paid advertising. We are not promoting the new theory and method in any way. Our mind is open with reference to it. We are interested, of course, and would like to see a demonstration of its worth. It must prove itself effective and beneficial or it will die. It may be a wave like Coueism that represents a partial truth at least and leads to a mental quickening which is one of the great things most folks need. One can get that by other and various unusual processes and experiences and get real benefit, more or less lasting.

We are undoubtedly at the dawn of a new era. Not necessarily ERA but that may be a part of it. In every way the human race is being quickened—spiritually, mentally and physically. This is the result largely of electricity on life and its activities. Yet electricity is in its infancy. This is only the beginning of the electric age. If the last thing discovered about electricity (electrons) can be applied to the diagnosis and cure of physical ills, even if it is partly a "cure of the mind," why should it not be welcomed and used?

Is it all a humbug, as some know-it-alls claim? Well, lots of things are established now as truths which were considered at first humbings.

It is the same old process. Cook never got to the north pole. His fraud was soon discovered. Galileo was right, Columbus was right, Franklin was right, Marconi was right. Is Abrams right? We cannot say, but if he is his theory will live and the human race will be benefited. We are not going to gulp it down nor are we going to condemn it. There is apparently good authority for and against, but we would like to see it proved out.

Radium is a recent discovery. It is found to have a curative effect in certain cancerous conditions. What is there about radium that cures? Radium is a mineral that gives out vibrations of light or electric energy of great intensity. The X-ray is the same. We may have a great deal more to learn on this line.

A public free demonstration and lecture on ERA is advertised to take place at the high school gymnasium the coming Friday night.

Three or four samples of blood of persons unknown to Dr. Miller have been taken at his request and he will examine these by the Abrams' method and report on them and all interested will have a chance to check up on his findings. There is no humbug about that and it doesn't cost anything.

possible to reach the base summer snow line by auto, and,

Whereas: A road making such a feat possible would be comparatively inexpensive and bring many people to one of the country's most delightful pieces of scenery, and,

Whereas: Such a road would go through the government forest reserve; therefore,

Be It Resolved: That this Oregon State Editorial Association go on record as urging our senators and representatives in congress to use all possible efforts to induce the federal government to construct such a road from a point on the Mt. Hood Loop road to the base of Cooper's Spur at the earliest possible moment.

NIGHT ATTACK Farmer (pounding on the door of city dude out to work his way back to health): "Hey, come on, pile out, it's time to get up."

City Dude: "Wha's the matter—what time is it?"

Farmer: "It's 3 a. m. Time to get up and milk the cows."

City Dude: "Heavens! do we have to sneak up on them in the dark?"

A Want Ad will sell what you do not need and get what you do need.

Has your dinner lost its savor? Has your greeting lost its cheer? Is your daily stint a burden? Is your laughter half a sneer? There's a medicine to cure you, There's a way to lift your load, With a horse and a saddle, and a mile of open road.

Is your eyeball growing billious? Is your temper getting short? Is this life a blind delusion, Or a grim unlovely sport? There's a world of health and beauty, There's a heap that cannot fail In a day behind the burros On a dusty mountain trail.

Come out, old man, we're going To a land that's free and large, Where the rainless skies are resting On a snowy mountain marge, When we camp in God's own country, You will find yourself again, With a fire and a blanket and the stars upon the plain.

Preacher (at Joe's death bed)—Having made your peace with the world you are not afraid to die I hope, you are quite willing to leave this vale of tears?

Sick Man—Well, if I had the choice, I would rather stay here where I have many friends.
