

HIGH SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 10

Union high school at Gresham will open on Monday, September 10, later than the Portland schools, which open on September 4. Principal Roy E. Cannon has called a meeting of the teachers for Saturday morning, September 8. Many new faces will be seen among the faculty and many of the old ones will be absent. Miss Shirley Swallow has plunged into the matrimonial sea, as has Miss Minnie Schrepel, and Miss Katherine D. Waite has tendered her resignation. Wm. Rutherford and Miss Esther Gardner have gone to the Portland schools. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Evans are in Eugene, where Mr. Evans will study law and Mrs. Evans will teach in the high school. Miss Esther Wheeler will not return.

This means that eight new teachers will be required for the high school this year. Miss Edith Stephenson has been elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Swallow. Miss Stephenson is a graduate of the University of Washington and has had teaching experience in the University of North Dakota. She will handle English, public speaking, if possible to add this new subject, and dramatics.

Miss Margaret Clark Miller, for the past two years principal of the Sandy high school, will teach civics, bookkeeping and history. Miss Miller is a graduate of Willamette University.

Miss Marjorie Machen of Boise, Idaho, is the new teacher of Spanish and mathematics. She is a graduate of the University of Oregon and has had six years experience in teaching. Miss Ulala M. Stratton of Eugene, who will teach foreign languages and history, is a graduate of the University of Oregon. She comes from the Bandon high school, where she has had two years' experience.

E. J. Noffsinger comes from the Newberg high school. He is a graduate of Linfield College. He will direct physical education for boys and be athletic coach and will handle some mathematics or history. He has had two years' experience.

Miss Helen Ankcorn is a graduate of Linfield College and has had no high school teaching experience. She will teach physics, chemistry and biology.

Miss Augusta Hahn, a graduate of Oregon Agricultural College, will head the department of home economics. She has had two years of teaching experience.

Miss Vile Elizabeth Rice, a graduate of Oregon Agricultural College, comes with three years' teaching experience. Her work will be in the commercial department.

H. M. Moreland, also a graduate of Oregon Agricultural College, who came early in last year to take the place of Wm. Averill as head of the department of agriculture, will continue in that position.

Miss Miriam Inglis, after several successful years in high school teaching has been retained in the school as teacher of mathematics. She is a graduate of Coe College, Iowa.

Miss Eve Hutchinson, who was in the school last year, returns to teach English. She is a graduate of the University of Oregon. Miss Hutchinson taught in Baker, Oregon, one year before coming to Gresham.

Miss Dorothy Dickey, a graduate of the University of Oregon, who had charge of the music and other subjects last year, returns for music, including glee and orchestra, some English and physical education for girls.

Miss Norma Lee Peck will have charge of the library. She has had several years' experience and is a graduate of the University of Illinois. Lyle R. Mason, who has been office assistant for the past two years, will enter Behnke-Walker Business College in Portland this fall. He will be succeeded in the school office by Miss Nettie Nelson, who was graduated from the high school in 1922.

Principal Cannon will begin his third year at the head of the school and takes up the work with enthusiasm. He believes that the prospects are good for one of the best years of the school. He will teach penmanship and spelling. He is a graduate of Rochester Normal School and Oregon Agricultural College.

Considerable inquiry has come to Mr. Cannon concerning the opening of school, the opportunity to work for board and room, the courses offered and other things pertaining to the school. The splendid class that graduated in the spring will be missed and their course watched with interest. The incoming freshman class promises to be larger than was anticipated at the time of the spring graduation.

Teachers are writing for information concerning places to room and board and Mr. Cannon would appreciate an interview with any who have accommodations to offer. Mr. Noffsinger, whose address is Mt. Vernon, Washington, will appreciate information from anyone who will furnish him apartments. He brings his wife with him.

The new course of study will be ready next Saturday. The course contains information concerning school, the subjects taught, and a few regulations for the guidance of pupils.

Registration for freshmen and all new students will be at the high school building Friday, September 7, from 8 in the morning to 4:30 in the afternoon. The number of the high school telephone is 1961.

Mr. Cannon invites and urges the parents to accompany the students when registering so that courses may be talked over and determined at the beginning of school. Parents are urged to come to the school at any time and see what we are doing. The daily school work is the thing that counts most.

In discussing some of the problems of education Mr. Cannon said that there will probably be some who will not return to school because they have positions that pay them so well that they do not desire to give them up. To all such he advises careful consideration and suggests that they counsel with those who are older and know what it means to be lacking in a high school education.

"The great public school system is a wonderful institution," says Mr. Cannon. "When it operates as it should each student is given an equal opportunity with every other student. There are some students who cannot be brought to a realization of application sufficient to be given class standing. This is regrettable. It is a condition which I trust will not continue."

Mrs. Martha Fieldhouse returned home last night from Seaside, accompanied by her son Guy.

Miss Evelyn Metzger of the Outlook force is spending a week's vacation at Cannon Beach.

A. L. AUXILIARY NAMES DELEGATES

At an interesting meeting of the Auxiliary to the American Legion held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert Camp. Mrs. John Metzger and Mrs. O. A. Eastman were elected delegates and Mrs. Camp and Mrs. Kate Sunday alternates to the meeting of the state Auxiliary which will be held at Seaside in connection with the Legion convention.

A cordial letter was read from Mrs. Metzger, who is now at her beach cottage at Seaside, urging that a large delegation of the Gresham Auxiliary attend the convention and inviting them to make her home headquarters, and as far as possible, their stopping place.

A letter has been received by Mrs. Camp, secretary of the local Auxiliary, from the director of the Red Cross service of the U. S. Veterans' hospital No. 77 of Portland, in which she expresses appreciation for the cooperation and interest shown by the Gresham Auxiliary, and acknowledges the receipt of two blanket bathrobes and a number of handkerchiefs which have been recently sent from here to the hospital for the use of the patients.

The Gresham Auxiliary now has a list of 50 paid-up members.

A Real Test for President Coolidge

President Calvin Coolidge's test came at the end of his first cabinet meeting when he went out on the White House lawn to face a battalion of veteran newspaper men. He proved he could smile and indulge in snappy chatter. Photo shows him with the newsmen, who stamped him "regular feller."

President's Secretary

Former Congressman C. Bascom Slemph of Virginia, new secretary to President Coolidge. His appointment came as a surprise to political leaders and is said to indicate our new executive's drive for the 1924 nomination.

Coolidge Is Organized for His Administration

By ROBERT FULLER.
(Autocaster Service)

President Coolidge's first month in office ends this week. During that brief time, the nation has witnessed a most unexpected and complete change in the national political situation.

Commencing next Tuesday, September 4th, the real Coolidge administration swings into action. Geo. B. Christian, Secretary to the late President Harding, will be succeeded by President Coolidge's new secretary, Campbell Bascom Slemph of Virginia.

The appointment of Slemph by Coolidge is still a source of astonishment to official Washington. However, it has now been accepted as a virtual announcement by Coolidge that he is out in full force for the republican nomination in 1924.

C. Bascom Slemph of Big Stone Gap, Va., former congressman and republican state chairman since 1905, is known as the Republican Patronage Boss of the South. The appointment of Slemph, the first made by Coolidge, has been termed a magnificent Southern Republican support and delegates to the next G. O. P. convention.

The astonishment at the appointment of Slemph, is in the fact that pages in the Record of the last session of congress, are filled by debate in which Thos. W. Harrison of Virginia, (democrat) charged and backed up his charges by producing signed letters and checks, that Slemph had sold G. O. P. postoffice patronage for sums ranging from $50 to $300. Slemph claimed the money represented only campaign contributions.

When it came to a vote, the republicans ousted Harrison and seated Slemph's man, John Paul, but Harrison had his revenge by being re-elected to the next congress. The last congress was the first time Slemph had failed to return, after succeeding his father at the latter's death in 1907. Slemph dropped out at this last election.

C. Bascom Slemph was born at Turkey Cove, Lee county, Va., September 4, 1870, studied law at the University of Virginia, was once a mathematics instructor, practiced law at Big Stone Gap, Va., was president of the Slemph Coal company and the Hamilton Realty company. Mr. Slemph is a bachelor. He declined offers made by President Harding of a place on the Civil Service Commission, as assistant secretary of commerce and as ambassador to Peru, the White House announcement at his appointment disclosed.

BUSINESS PLACES WILL CLOSE LABOR DAY

The Outlook is authorized to announce that stores and business places of Gresham will be closed all day next Monday, Labor Day.

The nearest celebration will be in Portland and Estacada. In Estacada the celebration will be in recognition of the completion of the highway. An interesting program is being arranged. Senator R. N. Stanfield and Hon. Milton A. Miller will be the speakers.

FAMOUS HOLSTEIN DIES; GREAT LOSS TO OWNER

STANHOPE BELLE JOHANNA.

This famous cow, the champion milk producer of Oregon, which ranked fourth in the United States and sixth in the world, died last week of blood poisoning. She was valued at $10,000. Her owner, H. G. Mullenhoff, carried insurance of $2000 on the animal. She was eight years old and was raised by Mr. Mullenhoff who owned her mother and grandmother, both cows with great production records.

In a test covering 365 days which ended about a month ago Stanhope Belle Johanna's record for milk production was 32,000 pounds and her butter production over 1200 pounds.

Mr. Mullenhoff owns a 5-year-old bull, son of the champion cow, whose progeny is building up a remarkable record for milk and butter production. Besides Mr. Mullenhoff, A. H. Burns and other Holstein breeders are building up their herds from this stock.

How to Get Used to Noises.

"What I like about the neighborhood," insisted the enthusiastic resident of Brooklyn Heights, "is the quiet. No trolleys, no elevated roar, no heavy trucks thundering through our streets, no sound from the subway. Why, I think—"

"Just a minute," objected his friend from across the bridge. "You live so near the harbor that your back door is virtually a dock, and yet you have the nerve to tell me that yours is a quiet neighborhood. What about the tugs and harbor craft that go tooting up and down the bay all night?"

"Well," admitted the Brooklynite, "I do remember hearing a toot or two the first few nights I lived there. But I never hear 'em now."

"Exactly," said the Manhattan man. "Just what I thought. Used to 'em now. That's just the way the elevated and the two-ton trucks affect me now. Any neighborhood's quiet if you live there long enough."—New York Sun.

A Quack Quacks.

A quack cure for the evils of reckless driving is offered by a psychologist, who says the slow, nervous driver who has in his mind or his subconsciousness the vision of a wreck is the one who goes headlong into a crash. "Instead of a vision of the accident and how it happens the driver must have a clear vision of how to drive correctly" in critical situations. Every seventeen-year-old driver of a light delivery truck proceeds with perfect self-confidence, proceeding in many cases without regard to the rights of other drivers, feeling that the impressive displacement of his vehicle in the atmosphere ahead of the driver of a passenger vehicle will warn that driver not to stand up for his rights, has a clear vision of how to drive. He sees himself hogging the road and getting away with it.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

MRS. ANNA F. COREY DIES FROM ACCIDENT

Anna F. Falk was born in Sweden, April 9, 1853. She came to the United States and settled in the Dakotas 54 years ago. She was married to Clarke W. Corey in 1880. Nineteen years ago she came to Oregon with her family and found a new home near Sandy. While in Portland last week Tuesday afternoon she was struck by an automobile which caused her death that evening at St. Vincent's hospital. Two sons, Glenn and Lloyd, of Sandy, and one sister, Mrs. Elisabeth Doyle, of Spokane, Washington, are left to mourn their loss. The husband and two sons, Earl and Clair, preceded her to the brighter shore.

Funeral services were conducted last Friday afternoon by the Rev. H. R. Gebhardt of Gresham at the Fred Koennecke home near Sandy. Interment took place at the Cherryville cemetery.

BURNSIDE BRIDGE IS CLOSED TO AUTOS

The Burnside bridge which was damaged by a boat Sunday morning is closed to vehicular traffic. It is claimed it will be open again in about a week.

The accident was one of the queerest in the history of Portland's waterfront, it is said. The bow of the Vinita struck the paddle box of the Hercules, cutting through it like a knife and shoving it into the stern of the marine workshop, which was owned and operated by the Shaver company. The workshop was pushed about 100 feet ahead through the pilings under the east approach of the bridge and came to rest on the beach. The barge sank in a half hour.

AUTOS BADLY JAMMED IN STREET COLLISION

The autos of P. A. Combs and Geo. Fortner, were badly damaged in a collision which occurred last Friday afternoon at East 41st and Stark streets. The wrecks were towed into Gresham and the work of repair started at once at Sperm McCarter's garage. Neither driver was injured but each got a severe shaking up and a few bruises.

The explanation given by Mr. Combs was that he had turned with his Buick from 41st street onto Stark and was heading east on Stark when struck by Fortner's Buick who was headed west on Stark, the left front wheel of Fortner's car jamming into the rear left of the other car. The damage to both cars was rather severe.

FOUR-SQUARE GOSPEL MEETINGS CONTINUE

The "four-square" gospel meetings were held last Sunday at the home of Fred Blonn and were well attended. The Rev. Mr. Lee of Dallas was the speaker. Meetings will be held tonight and Thursday evening, also at 2:30 on Sunday afternoon, with the Rev. Mr. Crook in charge, and services will be held regularly hereafter on those days. It is probable that a hall will be secured later. The meetings are a continuation of those held by the Rev. Fred Hornshuh. An invitation is extended to all to attend.

VERY UNUSUAL.

We have read of a soldier in war time being saved by having a Testament in his pocket which prevented a bullet from penetrating the man's body. Here is one quite as unusual, if not more so, in the recent news items:

Two boys were riding horseback in eastern Oregon, returning from a hunt. A high powered rifle of one was accidentally discharged. The bullet struck a silver dollar in the pocket of the other boy. It dented the dollar but did not injure the boy. It was the boy's last dollar, it is said, and he traded it for a new one.

My, what a chance that boy missed of keeping in his possession as a memento that dollar which may have saved his life!

GRESHAMITES TAKE AUTOMOBILE TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Miller, Alden and Virginia returned last night from an automobile tour which took them to many points of interest in southern Oregon and northern California, and in which they were away for 18 days. They spent a few days at Glendale in Douglas county, where Mr. Miller was in the banking business for five years before coming to Gresham. From there they went to Grants Pass and to Crater Lake. There they were joined by Dr. W. J. Ott and his party who had made the trip by way of the Columbia river highway, The Dalles and Bend, and who had visited the lakes on the eastern slope of the Cascade range. From there the trip around the rim of the crater was made and Diamond lake was visited and some wonderful fish were caught.

Leaving Crater Lake the party journeyed to Klamath Falls and the lava beds of northern California, then came back to Grants Pass and made the side trip to the Oregon Caves in Josephine county. The journey was then made to Eugene and the Siuslaw and from there home. Dr. Ott's party is expected home today.

Mr. Miller describes this as a wonderful trip and one well worth taking. In the main, roads were good and no serious car trouble was experienced.

LEGION POST MAKES GIFT TO CITY

A rousing meeting of Gresham Post of the American Legion was held Friday night, when delegates and alternates to the American Legion convention to be held at Seaside, September 6, 7 and 8, were elected. Leslie St. Clair and Theo. Johnson will be the delegates and Floyd Metzger and Ernest Brugger, alternates.

The post finance officer was ordered to place $60 in the bank to the credit of the city of Gresham, where it will remain until on or after June 1, 1924, when the whole sum of principal and interest is to be used by the city for the purchase of street decorations. The city has already 12 strings of flags, but they are not enough to decorate the city to the best of advantage. With the addition of the decorations more complete holiday "dress" will be possible. This action on the part of the Legion post was as a measure of thanks to the people and business men of Gresham for their help during the recent Fourth of July celebration. The Post cleared up a good sum from the celebration, and financially is in the best condition it has been in for several years.

HISTORIC GAVEL WILL OPEN A. L. SESSIONS

The knockings from a historic gavel in the hands of George R. Wilbur, Department Commander, Thursday morning, September 6, will officially open the fifth annual convention of the American Legion of Oregon.

Carved from the hull of the famous old gunboat, U. S. S. Beauregard, herself a veteran of the Civil War, the gavel will mark intervals in a state gathering of men and women who fought in a later conflict.

The gavel was painstakingly carved from the wooden hull of the old gunboat which has rotted on the bottom of the Mississippi river for over 60 years, by a Civil War veteran who had two sons in the American army in the World War.

SON OF J. C. WINDEL DIES FROM DROWNING

Oscar Windel of Kalama, Washington, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Windel of Fairview, was drowned on August 19 when he dived into the Columbia river in an attempt to rescue his wife and another woman who had fallen off a log into the water. Windel never rose to the surface again. The women were rescued by fishermen and the body of the dead man was afterwards recovered.

The first intimation which J. C. Windel had of the tragedy was when he read the account of the accident in the morning paper on Monday.

If the scope of the capital punishment law should ever be enlarged perhaps it would be well to make the man who fires a schoolhouse the first extra, opines the Oregonian.

Up to August 15, 35 states have named women to be associate members of the republican national committee. Oregon has named Mrs. E. C. Giltner, of Portland.

The boy who used to punch a hole in his sister's doll to see the sawdust run out, now takes his automobile apart and then sends for the garage man to come and put it together.
