The Hare and The Tortoise

A Hare and Tortoise once entered a race. The Hare, who had much ability and held many speed records—quickly outdistanced the turtle—and in disdain lay down and went to sleep.

The turtle plugged along—never stopping—never changing his mind. With dogged determination he crawled through the dust of the road, swam creeks, wallowed up muddy banks—but stuck to it. Finally he passed the hare softly—for it was asleep—and finished ahead!

In building a savings account for the future remember the discouragements, the slow progress, but the FINAL VICTORY of the turtle.

"The race is not to the swift, but to the steady."
