Official paper of the Town of Gresham. Official paper of the Town of Fairview.

Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

National Highways Association Newspaper Association Member No. 5194.

At the burial of old man detour, staged in various places the past week, the mourners were conspicuous by their absence.

We have heard that some people are objecting to the signs posted conspicuously about town reading, "Think." It is evidently laying upon some too tiresome a task.

The October number of Oregon exchanges is on the editor's desk and has been given the "once-over." It's great. A more careful reading will come later.

The county commissioners at a meeting yesterday rejected all of the bids tendered on the construction of the Burnside and Ross Island bridges. The lowest bid was found to be irregular and unsatisfactory and all others were declared to be too high. New specifications will be prepared and a new call for bids made, it is said.

How Inventions Multiply Wealth. It is almost impossible to estimate how much one inventive brain backed by a genius for organization can add to the wealth of the human race. A Morse, a Franklin, or a Bell add to human riches. Edison's inventive brain is estimated to have added $15,000,000,000 to the world's industrial wealth. The value of efficiency and comforts he has added to the human race is like the total issue of German marks—human intelligence cannot grasp the total expressed in figures.

Boys' and girls' clubs are going to the Pacific International at Portland this year in greater numbers than ever. It is 100 per cent larger than last year, and last year showed a similar gain over the year before. Last year there were 19 judging teams from the clubs. This year there are 27. Last year there were 21 pens of hogs of four each for the feeding contest. This year there are 65 pens of four each. Last year the boys and girls brought 21 fat steers. This year there will be 60 fat steers entered by club members. There are 446 animals entered by the club members this year. One hundred and two are from Washington and Idaho. They will make a great show all by themselves. Added to the grown folks' entries, the exhibition will be tremendous.

MEASURE YOUR GREATNESS. Mere family never made a great man. Thought and deed, courage and conviction, and not pedigree, are the passports to enduring fame. Great men are not supernatural; they are the natural, the true men in whom nature has succeeded. They who fall short of greatness are the imperfect.

The great men are they who both see the right and choose it, and having chosen, pursue it with invincible resolution, resisting the temptations of easier paths. It is they who point out the way and by their example show others. Great men are unique only in that they are uncommon and are conspicuous by their contrast to the common. In the panorama of time the great men loom up like snow-capped peaks above a range of hills. Each in its solitude represents a great spiritual force rather than material force. The great prophets and painters, preachers and poets, musicians and patriots, all stood for, fought for, lived for and died for, ideals.

All great potential powers have come to us unheralded and unknown, for there is nothing more simple than greatness. The greatest men like the greatest truths, are the simplest. The great man is what he is from nature and he arises to his height of fame without reminding us of others. It is only the pretender who calls for our trusts. However far above us the truly great man may be, they always make us feel that they are our brothers. No really great man ever thought himself as great as he really was. No man ever became great by imitation. A great man must give us something new in thought or fact. Great men never lose their child-like heart. They give to the world a great affection and it is this, when they are gone, which the world keeps and holds for them. Because great men possess this passion to serve rather than to be served, to give rather than to get, to do something for the world, we find great acts and great eloquence most commonly going hand in hand. The road to greatness is through loss of self in the thought of all. Copyright, 1923—By Richard Lloyd Jones.

When looking at different sides of a question, don't forget the inside.

THINK! The annual meeting of stockholders of Multnomah county fair will soon be held. What can be done to put the fair on its feet financially. You should investigate, think and act—Adv.

Timely Comments

By Arthur Brisbane.

Who knows what may happen, what generations may be born and die in the fraction of a second? Who knows that this milky way cosmos of ours, compared to which the earth is as big as an atom compared with the earth itself, may not be a mere atom in a bigger cosmos?

The power that holds together the atoms in a glassful of water would, if released, run all the machinery of the United States for an indefinite period.

There's another headache in that thought. A man asleep and drunk complains because thieves took his spectacles, false teeth and money.

That man shouldn't complain of thieves, but of the whiskey that he drank. Whiskey is the champion thief, stealing not only money, but health, reputation, character, and finally life.

There's a plan to simplify the coal problem. Railroads won't like it—no more coal to carry. Middlemen will detest it.

The idea is change the coal into electric current at the mine. Electricity carries itself over the wires, with no bumping of freight cars, no flat wheels, no loading and unloading. Instead of buying coal, charging it into power and heat five hundred or a thousand miles from the mine, skilled labor at the mines would change coal into electricity to be used for heat, light, power, wherever wanted. That will come in time. It ought to come now.

Thanks to Mr. Eastman, of Rochester, and the wide, wide world, this country sees efficient and thorough development of musical talent.

To help a nation in music is to help it intellectually. Music and intellect are sisters. Music arouses the brain, refreshes and stimulates it, as nothing else can do. Music is the only stimulant that has no "next day" of let down and reaction.

Mr. Eastman's school of music in the University of Rochester brings to the city and to the students of music the best musicians of the world, and provides musical genius with a magnificent setting in a beautiful opera house, given to the city by Mr. Eastman and paying financial profit to no one.

Young people from all over the United States win scholarships that give them free teaching and $1,000 a year for living expenses. Thus, one man's success finds expression in a way that benefits an entire nation.

The government has sold the heart of Muscle Shoals plant to a corporation, and that ends Henry Ford's attempt to get the great water power. It ends also the possibility of his carrying out the promise to give the farmers cheap fertilizer and it gives Ford and the farmers permanent possession of a very good complaint—if they ever want to use it in politics.

The Rev. Arthur Wilde, Swedenborgian, says the Garden of Eden was a state of mind. So is everything else, including happiness and misery. Epicurus, deformed, and a slave, was happy. Croesus, rolling in gold, miserable, worried. Nothing is real. All wealth, gold, diamonds, the sun and stars, our own bodies, represent nothing more solid than electrons and orions, made of negative and positive electricity, locked up in atoms that vary in construction, according to the element composed.

The elements are interchangeable. Matter has no existence, mind and its states are the only real things, the real universe. There is no big, no little, no beginning, no end. In fact, it's all quite confusing.

Mussolini decides to sell advertising space on postage stamps. It will not be good publicity. Advertising on street car transfers, tried, is found not worth while. Advertising on postage stamps will be worth even less.

The person putting on the stamp won't look at, much less read, the advertising. Advertising is valuable only when put where people want to see it, when they have leisure to read it. The best advertising is in newspapers. Repetition is reputation.

Carnavon's brother is dead, more food for superstition. The other Carnavon, who dug into the tomb of Tutankhamen, died naturally. Some insect bite produced blood poisoning. The Carnavon brother said, when his brother opened the tomb, "Something dreadful will surely happen to our family." He died naturally, like his brother, from complications following an operation. Still, the superstitious will believe that a Pharaoh, turned to dust reaches out with his curse through thirty-five hundred years.

In the Philippines, General Wood is using the army to fight locusts that eat the crops. That's the kind of war that armies should make, and the only kind that they will make, when the earth becomes civilized.

Government flying machines now are spraying forests to protect trees from pests. In France, flying machines replant denuded mountains. That work will go on when war, as a killing trade, will have been long forgotten.

MY PRAYER OF LIFE.

By MARY SAIKI Dear Life, thou hast been with me for nearly thirty years. The past has had its share of happiness and tears. Thy greatest gift of all, Dear Life, Was just the right to be; To live on God's green earth With power to see.

Let me rejoice when fate her chosen ones In glory has adorned. For what is fate? It is just the will of God performed. Teach me not in self-praise of the soul To find delight.

For if I never had known wrong How then should I know right? Let not my joy be as the glittering Moon on a winter night Fond hope that raises in the heart Yet dies a losing fight.

Nor let my life words be "If only I had known." For oh it is all too late when Life has flown. The past, the present and the future— Time weaves them into one; And I shall have my whole eternity To think of what I've done.

And trusting to God's tender mercy To pardon the things undone While nobler hearts and more skilled hands Will finish what I've begun.
