Musical Activities

THE POWER OF MUSIC.

(From the Merchant of Venice)
JESSICA. I am never merry when I hear sweet music.
LORENZO. The reason is, your spirits are attentive. The reason is, your spirits are attentive. For do but note a wild and wanton herd, or race of youthful and unhandled colts, fetching mad bounds, bellowing and neighing loud, which is the hot condition of their blood; if they but hear perchance a trumpet sound, or any air of music touch their ears, you shall perceive them make a mutual stand. Their savage eyes turn'd to a modest gaze by the sweet power of music; therefore the poet Did feign that Orpheus drew trees, stones, and floods;—though much that senseless brute, since nought so stockish, hard and full of rage, but music for the time doth change his nature. The man that hath no music in himself, nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds, is fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils; the motions of his spirit are dull as night, and his affections dark as Erebus: Let no such man be trusted.

The prices are reasonable and it is hoped a large audience will be present to enjoy this treat and show appreciation of the high school's effort to satisfy a musical need of the community.

Noted Organist Booked Again.

John McClellan, noted organist at the Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City, has entirely recovered from the sickness which necessitated the cancellation of his concert at the auditorium last Friday night, and the date for his concert has been reset for next Friday, November 9.

Mr. McClellan, as organist at the Mormon Tabernacle for 23 years, has established a reputation as one of the country's greatest organists. He is particularly known through his ability to bring out wonderful musical combinations and music shades and tones on an instrument such as that in the auditorium. His concert will be the first on the auditorium pipe organ by an organist of national note in about five years.

Secretary of Labor Davis Says Music Is Important Factor.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, believes in music, according to an interview reported by Alfred T. Marks for the Music Trades.

He believes in music as a part of the scheme of living, as a factor bringing happiness and contentment into our lives, making us better Americans and better citizens.

On his desk in the handsome suite of offices in the Department of Labor building, Washington, D. C., Secretary Davis has a treasured photograph of the Sharon Brass band, in which as a young man he played the clarinet. "It was a great band," he said, "and those were happy days, days I should never forget."

The writer asked Secretary Davis whether, in his opinion the time had not come when our public school curriculums throughout the country, in all our graded and high schools and other institutions of learning, should embrace music as a regular study, and be taught just as mathematics, reading and writing and other studies are taught, so that when a pupil graduates he or she has a good knowledge of music and a fair acquaintance with musical fundamentals, as well as some degree of skill in producing music on one or more instruments.

Secretary Davis said: "I most heartily endorse the idea that there should be a musical instrument in every school room in the country. It is my firm belief that music develops one spiritually as well as mentally. I look back with a great deal of joy when I tooted a clarinet in the town band."

"Say for me," said Secretary Davis, "that no education can really be considered complete without musical training."

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rogers and family spent Sunday at their former home at Tualatin.

Ourey Hisey spent Sunday with his parents at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage. He left last night for Los Angeles to attend the meeting of colleges of the Pacific coast, and expects to be away from his studies at Willamette University for about a week. Mr. Hisey is manager of the Collegian.

George Sunday, of Hood River, formerly of Gresham, is here visiting his son Melvin. Mr. Sunday has recently returned from an extended trip east and a visit to California.

Cotton prices are strong. October cotton passed 39 on Wednesday, December went above 29 yesterday. Manufacturers would do well to buy their raw supplies now. Cotton will be higher—a good thing for the South and the North, as well.
